Joseph Ryan.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Charges that the Committee for Industrial Organization is tied up with the Roosevelt administration on one hand and the communist party of America on the other were made today by Joseph Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Testifying in connection with the senate commerce committee's investigation of maritime labor violence, Ryan said the National Maritime union, a C. I. O. affiliate, shared headquarters with the communist party in New York at 126 11th street. He told of meeting John L. Lewis, C. I. O. dictator, at a conference arranged by Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the maritime commission, and said Lewis boasted that his success in New York was due to his control of the police department.

Boasts of Administration Ties.

"I got that through the administration," he quoted Lewis as saying.

Ryan accused Mrs. Elinor M. Herrick, New York regional director of the National Labor Relations board, of using her official powers to wreck the A. F. of L. maritime and water front unions "with the ultimate objective of becoming secretary of labor under John L. Lewis."

"And she is Mayor F. H. La Guardia's adviser on labor policies," Ryan said. "La Guardia himself said that in 1933."

After hearing Ryan's testimony, the commerce committee unanimously reported favorably a resolution introduced yesterday by Chairman Royal S. Copeland [D., N. Y.] calling for an appropriation of $50,000 for an investigation by a special senate committee of subversive influences in the merchant marine.

Inquiry Backed by Garner.

The resolution now goes to the committee on audit and control of the senate's contingent fund. It is supported actively by Vice President John N. Garner and is expected to be acted upon favorably by the audit and control committee, which is headed by Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.].

Senator Copeland supported Ryan's testimony concerning the joint headquarters of the National Maritime union and the communist party by reading a membership form given to the committee in secret session by a New York policeman, whose testimony has not been made public. The card listed Frederick Meyers, Thomas Ray, and Roy Hudson as an executive committee.

Ray Another C. I. O. Link.

Ryan said these men constituted the executive committee of the communist party and that Ray also was secretary of the Central Maritime Council of the C. I. O. He testified that Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime union, was a member of the communist party and was put on the pay roll at $45 a week by Earl Browder, secretary of the party's central committee, in 1936, when he and other outlaw members of the International Seamen's union, an af-

WPA WORKERS LOOK AHEAD—TO CAREERS IN WPA

The WPA Worker

The Tribune reporter who lived for a time in relief shelters and described what he saw has lately been spending his time with WPA workers. Herewith are his experiences and observations.

BY CLIFFORD BLACKBURN.

Seventy-five thousand Chicagoans are on the pay roll of WPA projects. Add 12,000 similarly employed in the country towns of Cook county, in Lake, Du Page, Will, and Kane counties—and WPA is furnishing a livelihood for 87,000 persons in the Chicago area.

Some members of this vast army have been employed by the Works Progress administration for three, even four years. Investigation by a Tribune reporter who spent several days in friendly association with the workers on 25 projects tends to show that many of them regard WPA as a permanent institution, that they are making careers of it. Their mental energies [there is much intelligence among them] are devoted not to plans for private employment, but to the alleviation of their individual lots within the framework of paternalism.

Workers and Loafers Mixed.

This thinking is manifested in two ways. The more ambitious men strive to find ways to greater income, hence more comfort, while on the rolls. The more lackadaisical seek methods of skimping work, of doing as little as possible. On every project you will find both kinds. The earnest, hard working group gets things done; the other sort malingers, holds flags, waves lanterns, gives the taxpayer the typical picture of the shovel leaner.

We are accustomed to think of the WPA worker as one who is keeping body and soul together with $55 a month. The concept is incomplete. The rewards in the organization are not evenly distributed. The man at the base of the pyramid is the $55 a month recipient. Contrast his lot with that of Mr. A., superintendent, at $125 a month. On the side A. has a private business. Often he is secretary of a political organization in a country town or city ward. He owns and rides in a shiny new automobile.

Some Draw Union Rates.

Then there are skilled laborers on many jobs. These include cement finishers, electricians, and lathers. The common laborer must work for 50 cents an hour; the skilled men draw union rates of pay. They are limited to $85 a month, but they have to work only seven to ten days a month to reach this limit.

Others in the upper levels of earning power are subforemen and foremen, $65 and $85 a month; truck drivers, $85; timekeepers, $85 to $94; material clerks and skilled labor foremen at $94 to $108; assistant superintendents and superintendents at $125 to $150.

The Tribune reporter found that there were men on every job who rode to duty in automobiles. Usually these vehicles were decrepit and outdated, although the superintendents and timekeepers drove good ones.

By personal combination some

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A hurricane hit the California coast today, after two weeks of stormy weather, causing four deaths and widespread damage to property and communication lines.

The 35 million dollar Golden Gate bridge, largest single suspension span in the world, bent 12½ feet out of line under the force of the wind, which reached 76 miles an hour in some places and 70 miles at the Gate. The bridge, built to sway harmlessly 18 feet, was not damaged.

Enormous waves swamped a coast guard lifeboat at drill off San Francisco and Guardsman Fritz Flukinger, 47 years old, drowned as he and six others were hurled into the sea. A chicken house collapsed in the wind at Stockton and killed F. Erick Bellquist, 65 years old.

At Ceres, Stanislaus county, Mrs. Margaret Tingle, 49, who was helping her husband, Earle, place supports to keep a garage from blowing away, was crushed to death. At Sacramento William Brome, 78, was struck by a falling tree and killed.

A CHIMP AWAITS 2D BIRTHDAY WITH MIXED EMOTIONS

There was a pensive look on the face of little Adam yesterday as he scampered about his cage in the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield. Adam was probably wondering if his mother, Sally, is going to repeat the mean trick she played him last year.

For today is the second birthday for Adam, the only chimpanzee ever born in Chicago, and the second one born in this country to live beyond one year.

As a surprise last year on his first birthday, Robert Bean, assistant director, brought in a chocolate cake with one candle. But Sally snatched the delicacy and shoved her young son aside, tossing him a banana to peel.

Uses His Mother-in-Law as Speeding Alibi; Freed

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The speeder's alibi of James Kight, 38 years old, a Bronx clerk, astonished spectators—but it worked. "My mother-in-law was sick and I was speeding to take her home," Kight told the court. "I love my mother-in-law very, very much." The mother-in-law stepped forward. "That's right. I love my son-in-law, too." "Well," said the magistrate, "if any one can have that much consideration for a mother-in-law he is certainly entitled to a suspended sentence. Next case!"

Bei Mir Bist Du Phooey! Sings Joseph

A six months' marriage; separation; then four months in alimony row at the county jail. Mr. Joseph Platt was pretty bitter about the situation—so bitter, in fact, that yesterday his belligerence threatened to disrupt his own orthodox Jewish divorce ceremony.

There was a time, in 1934, when Mr. Platt might have sung "Bei Mir Bist Du Schön" ["To Me You Are Grand"] to his wife, Norma, if he had known the song. But early in 1935, Mrs. Platt, who lives at 3032 Ainslie street, filed suit for divorce, charging desertion.

Jailed for Owing $500.

Unpaid temporary alimony at the rate of $5 a week began piling up. A year ago Mr. Platt, who is 36 years old, served a week in jail. Last Sept. 29 he went to alimony row again, for owing $500.

But yesterday, in the court of Judge Michael Feinberg, Mrs. Platt's lawyer, Raymond Lowitz, said she would forgive, forget, and waive alimony if Platt agreed to both a civil and a Jewish divorce. Platt's attorney, A. S. Frankenstein, said his client would agree.

Accordingly, Judge Feinberg signed the civil decree. Mr. Platt glared at his wife and mumbled to himself as Bailif Carl J. Tufo escorted him to a vacant courtroom for the Jewish ceremony. A council of two rabbis and two scribes prepared to hear testimony in accordance with the Mosaic law. At this point Mr. Platt balked. One divorce in a day was enough, he said.

Mumble, Rumble, Grumble.

The attorneys argued for an hour. Mr. Platt, with grumbling reluctance, eventually consented to go ahead. All went well until the time when the ceremony required 45 minutes of silence. By that time Mr. Platt's low monotone of sulphurous rumination was becoming distinctly audible.

Into the breach stepped Bailif Tufo. Clearing the room of the others, he placed Mr. Platt in a corner, and stood guard. The Platt rumblings ceased. For 45 minutes there was silence—then divorce.

Stalking angrily out of the courtroom, Mr. Platt cast one word at the ex-Mrs. Platt. "Phooey!" he said.

It Costs $25 in Chicago to Kick Policemen's Shins

Judge Eugene J. Holland in South State Street court fined Edward Calzaretta, 23 years old, 3714 South Wells street, $25 and costs yesterday for kicking a policeman in the shins.

LADY GOLFER USES 16 BALLS FOR A SNAPPY 37 ON A PAR 3 HOLE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Grace Lerow of the Parkway hotel, Chicago, set some kind of record today by playing sixteen balls into a creek on one hole in the George M. Morgan golf tournament at the Miami Country club.

Mrs. Lerow's tee shot on the 175 yard eleventh, a par three, was short and she hit her second shot into the water. Fifteen more balls followed before she made the green and got down in three putts for a 37.

With a 52 on the first nine, she had 133 gross and 106 net and was far from last.

The event is a three-day medal play handicap. Mrs. Joseph Bydolek of Buffalo, N. Y., was the opening day leader today with 82 gross and an eight stroke handicap.

EVANSTON POLICE TEST RELIEFERS AND GET RESULTS

"So many bums are coming in here for shelter," said Lieut. Carl Ekman to his assembled assistants in the Evanston police station yesterday, "that I suspect we may now and then harbor a criminal. We will begin fingerprinting all our guests."

First to apply for shelter after the speech were Paul Anderson, of North Wilkesboro, N. C., and Robert Nance, colored, of Sparta, Ill., both 22 years old. Comparison of their prints showed that both had served time in prisons.

"Lock them up," ordered the lieutenant, "until we find out if they are wanted for crime. My theory was right."

Billie's Not Yet 3, but in a Weigh He's 82 Pounds

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Billie won't be 3 years old until Feb. 19, but he carries a lot of weight in the Vogel family. He weighs 82 pounds. His father, Ford R. Vogel, a garage employé, is only 68 pounds heavier. Billie's mother, who outweighs her son by only 28 pounds, can hardly lift him. Billie weighed 8 pounds 10½ ounces when he was born.

Cadets Study in Bathtubs for a Very Good Reason!

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Noises as of a burglar's stealthy prowling aroused cadets in a dormitory at the Harvard Military school. They leaped from their beds ready to do battle. But the intruder, a furry little animal with a white stripe, was ready too. The cadets studied today while soaking in bathtubs. All the bed clothing in the dormitory had to be sent to the cleaners.

1 Slain, 3 Shot; Guard Against Reprisal War

Samuel Costello.

State's attorney's police hoped last night to wring the story of a gangland shooting in Chicago Heights yesterday, in which one man was killed and three were wounded, from two men who fought off the underworld executioners and lived to tell the tale.

The witnesses were so important in the opinion of the police that they were locked up for the night in the county jail, to be questioned at length this morning. Both escaped unscathed.

They were Luigo Onofrio, 28 years old, of 44 West Hickory street, Chicago Heights, said by Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police to have been the bodyguard of Samuel Costello, the man slain, and Chris Giordono, 43 years old, of 226 East 22d street, Chicago Heights, who despite the insistence of police that he is an important figure in the case identified himself only as a porter in the bakery where the shooting occurred.

Seek to Prevent Gang War.

State's Attorney Courtney himself was directing the investigation. He was determined to prevent the shooting from developing into a new gangland war. He was intent, too, upon determining if the illicit alcohol racket, slot machine trafic, or some other underworld enterprise was behind the attack.

Courtney was particularly interested in Onofrio and Giordono because both men said they could identify the killers, with whom they fought at close quarters. Two of the killers are believed to have been wounded.

The killer squad of three, disguised as hunters, invaded the bakery at 2205 Butler street in the suburb at noon yesterday in a manner reminiscent of the celebrated St. Valentine's day massacre, which occurred nine years ago next Monday.

Routs Friends of Victims.

Belief that the shooting might be the beginning of a new gang war was strengthened when eighteen friends of the wounded men gathered, grim and silent, to guard them last night in St. James' hospital. Kelly said he believed some of them were preparing against a new attack by the killers. To prevent further bloodshed he routed the men and established strong police guards at the hospital.

Assassination of Costello was presumed to be the main objective of the killers, for they called for him when they entered and fired nine slugs into his abdomen. Costello, who was 43 years old, lived at 1412 Schilling avenue, Chicago Heights. He was a brother of Charles Costello, long an outstanding figure in the turbulent affairs of Chicago Heights.

Samuel Costello was wearing one of the diamond studded belt buckles

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SARAGOSSA, Spain, Feb. 9.—The present military development of Spain's civil war, now in its nineteenth month, indicates that, barring an unforeseen addition to the strength of either side, the war is likely to continue for another couple of years.

Military operations, as illustrated in recent weeks, take the form of an offensive with limited objectives aimed at ironing out salients. But they fail to develop into a general smashing advance over a long line.

In lower Aragon, north of Teruel in eastern Spain, Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander in chief, has just won the biggest success since the battle at Brunete, near Madrid, last summer. The question is: Can he follow through?

Make Dent in Loyalist Lines.

Early Saturday morning about 6,000 rebel troops went over the top along a 50 kilometer [31 mile] line east of Monreal and after four days of fighting they have made what appears to be a dent of about 25 kilometers [about 15 miles] in the loyalist lines.

They have relieved the loyalist pressure on the road from Saragossa to Teruel, dislodging the loyalist forces from strong positions in the Sierra Palomera range and driving forward till they are well astride the Alfambra river and have pushed to points beyond.

Whether this success can be continued with a forward sweeping move which will be able to drive down the road from Montalban to Alcaniz, the events of the next few weeks will tell.

Abandons Teruel Drive.

Gen. Franco's offensive indicates that he has, for the moment at least, discontinued attempts to drive the loyalists out of Teruel and has switched the struggle to more favorable ground farther north where his success also relieves the loyalist pressure on Saragossa, which now is about 10 miles from the lines but where life goes on normally.

Bloody combats have been raging also this week at points along the 900 miles of winding front which stretches from the Pyrenees down to the Mediterranean near Malaga.

Heavy cannonading and fighting is raging around Granada and also farther to the west on the Andalusian front where the loyalist forces are trying to recapture the Santa Barbara lead mines in the sector northwest of Cordoba. The rebels took the mines ten days ago.

10,000 Casualties in Battle.

The rebels claim that the loyalists lost 10,000 men in the last four days of fighting north of Teruel. Franco's losses were not disclosed. The rebels also captured much material, including guns and tanks. In these operations, in the drive across the Alfambra, cavalry has been used extensively by Franco, which explains the rapidity of the advances.

There has been heavy employment of aviation also. The area which Franco has taken in his drive north of Teruel is estimated at 840 square kilometers [about 325 square miles].

Sixty thousand troops were used by Franco in the offensive, as compared with about the same number employed last summer against Brunete.

It seems likely that the rebels aim at Montalban and the road to Alcanis. Should they attain this latter town, by being able to make a follow through blow, the menace to the loyalists would be great. The road to Lerida would then be open. The next few days are likely to show whether Franco has enough fresh troops to continue his operations.

Whole Front Is Mountainous.

The ground over which the rebels are advancing, however, is mountainous and in this sector, running north from Teruel, skirting Saragossa on the east and up to Huesca, is unlike some of the other sectors farther south. Trenches are continuous and fortifications are formidable on both sides. Around Belchite, covering Saragossa, the rebels' positions are very strong, consisting of semi-permanent fortifications of casemates for artillery and interlacing trenches and dugouts.

The loyalist defenses opposite appear just as formidable with deep dugout shelters for artillery and infantry, advanced artillery observation posts, and a strongly built first line trench with second and third supporting lines.

A modern battle in this Spanish war usually begins in the old way, as during the world war, that is, with preparatory artillery bombardment and then successive waves of infantry advance. Sometimes, however, a battle begins with a surprise attack from the air, and Gen. Franco was able to effect a certain amount of surprise in the taking of the Sierra Palomera.

Strafe Trenches in Waves.

When the surprise air attack method is used big bombers flying six by six or twelve by twelve swoop down, dropping their destruction on the enemy's trenches, and even if heavy casualties are not caused the demoralizing effect is great. After the aerial bombardment massed tanks advancing in echelons of ten loom over the horizon like huge prehistoric beasts. The tank advance usually is preceded by an artillery barrage.

The tanks fire two inch shells and twin machine guns simultaneously. Only seasoned troops can face massed tanks. Tank men have probably the worst job in the war. They are cramped in a tiny space with machinery all about, and look through periscopes. The temperature is hot, the noise is hideous and the air foul with fumes. While the tank is a formidable weapon, a very effective anti-tank gun has been developed in this war also, and the man in the tank is in more peril, if anything, than the man in the trench.

War Reaches Behind Lines.

The outcome of the war probably will depend as much on what happens behind the lines as at the front, and on whether one side or another can develop a knockout punch. Many men and much material are required to man a 900 mile front. Besides that many guns are required for garrisoning rear positions and towns.

Franco still has a big edge in the war despite the increasing loyalist resistance, as shown in the taking of Teruel. His position is far sounder strategically than that of the Barcelona government. Even if he still needs more material and men, he has a rich rural country behind him at any rate and plenty of food supplies. The loyalists have not. In some respects this is a war between the towns and the country of Spain—between industrial areas and rural areas.

Total of 1,500,000 Under Arms.

The two sides now have an estimated 750,000 men each under arms. This figure is a factor in European politics and is eyed uneasily by those nations which are not intervening. Spain's position in event of a general European conflict would weigh heavily in the balance of European armies. Spain would be in a position similar to that of the United States after its civil war, when it told Maximilian to get out of Mexico.

The rebels have as yet mobilized only their man power up to 28 years of age. At the beginning of the war Franco had about 140,000 trained regular troops. These were increased to something around 300,000 by elements of the Phalangists [Fascists] and Requetes [monarchists]. Italians and Germans number perhaps 75,000. The rebels admit only 30,000 Italians and Germans. The balance is made up of recruits and Moors.

Franco's losses have been 200,000 men during the months the civil war has been raging. It began July 17, 1936. These, of course, have been made up by additional recruiting. Out of this total force of 750,000 probably 450,000 are available as combat troops.

Both Lack Equipment.

The loyalists, on the other hand, have troops which only recently have been submitting to discipline. They have mobilized all the man power between the ages of 20 and 28. Their forces are estimated here at about 700,000 plus about 50,000 foreigners.

Experts agree that lack of equipment on both sides makes this war more deadly for the troops, who have to carry out operations at a risk they would not have to take if adequately protected by artillery and other defenses.

What every one in rebel Spain is waiting for is a big military success on sweeping lines, and all eyes now are turned on the Aragon sector to see whether what has been taking place there is a signal for the start of it.

Strike in New Direction.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], Feb. 9. —(AP)—A sudden northward drive today carried Spanish government troops through foothills southwest of Teruel toward the rebel stronghold of Alabarracin.

The offensive, launched against a long quiet rebel pocket west of the strategic feeder highway between Teruel and Saragossa, forced a temporary cessation of fighting in the area east of the road where rebels in four days had driven back their foe.

Dispatches from Barcelona reported the new push, between Valdecuenca and Bezas, carried the attackers almost to the base of the Universales mountains. Albarracin lies across these mountains.

Seek to Appease Italy.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was believed tonight to have decided upon a new course to obtain withdrawal of foreign volunteers in Spain and make friends with Italy in one diplomatic sweep.

It was reported that Eden, undeterred by the previous setbacks in his nonintervention and Italian peace moves, had decided to shelve discussion of Spanish belligerency rights temporarily in order to make progress on other angles of the problem. One diplomatic source said the percentage of volunteers to be withdrawn before belligerency rights are granted was not included in the discussions at present.

The British and French, diplomatic quarters said, now are aiming to convince Premier Mussolini that a government victory would not mean bolshevism in Spain. The argument is that Spanish communists are not likely to control the Socialist administration of Dr. Juan Negrin. Thus, these quarters stated, Mussolini will have an opportunity to withdraw the Black Shirt "volunteers" and yet tell the Italian people he fulfilled his aim in saving Spain from bolshevism.

JAP ARMY FIGHTS BANDIT HORDES IN NORTH CHINA

Marauding Gangs Prey on Farmers.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 10 [Thursday].—(AP)—A grave state of anarchy and lawlessness today was reported straining authority of the Japanese in North China.

Dispatches from Tientsin said that after the Japanese evicted Chinese officials in captured North China provinces these areas relapsed into banditry and civic disorder.

It was authoritatively reported conditions had become intolerable for peasants who had not fled from their homes during the Japanese invasion and that marauding bands were preying on the countryside.

Japanese troops were said to be mopping up bandits and alleged communist guerilla bands between Tientsin and Paoting. The bandits and irregulars are said to total 180,000.

Japs Drive from Eight Points.

Sharply conflicting reports of success came from the central China battle zone, where Japanese and Chinese armies have been fighting for weeks for the vital railroad network and rich agricultural provinces.

The Japanese said eight armies—five driving down from the Shantung province region along a battle line roughly 275 miles long and three fighting northward from the Hwai river front—were steadily closing in on the "corridor" along the east to west Lunghai railroad.

Japanese reports of gains were disputed by Chinese, who declared their own troops had prevented the Japanese from advancing along the 100 mile Hwai river front and were successfully resisting the armies pushing toward the Lunghai railway and the strategic junction city of Suchow from the north.

Corridor 170 Miles Wide.

There were approximately 400,000 Chinese troops strung along the two parallel war fronts, which are approximately 170 miles apart and extend from the Yellow sea far inland to the Peking-Hankow railway.

On the southern front, one Japanese column was trying to advance directly north from Pengpu, where the north to south Tientsin-Pukow [Nanking] railway crosses the Hwai river. On the west flank, another column was driving northwest from Hwaiyuan toward Kweiteh. The third southern column was pushing northeast from Linhwaikwan on the east flank toward Wuho.

Japanese announced today that "more than ten Japanese soldiers have been court-martialed and punished for breaches of discipline" at Nanking, where disorderly conditions had brought protests from the United States government.

DEALER ACCUSED OF REMOVING JAP LABEL FROM RUG

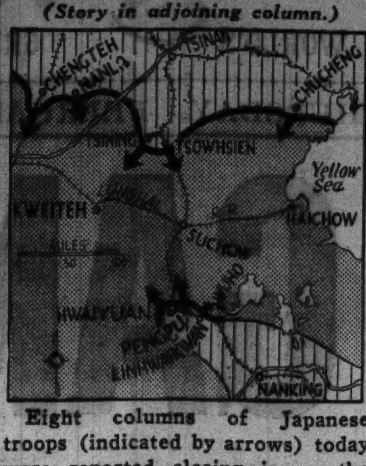
A warant charging violation of the import laws was issued yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes for the arrest of Manas M. Torcom, a rug dealer at 4808 Sheridan road.

Assistant District Attorney David Neuman, who filed the criminal information, said Torcom is accused of removing a "made in Japan" label from a small rug which he sold to a customer. Customs agents said such violations have been frequent in this and other districts, but that this is the first prosecution in this area.

Conviction carries a possible maximum penalty of a year in the county jail or a fine of $5,000, or both.

Drive on Corridor

(Story in adjoining column.)



Eight columns of Japanese troops (indicated by arrows) today were reported closing in on the corridor in which 400,000 Chinese troops are defending the Lunghai railroad. Two drives are aimed at Suchow, the principal defense point, four are aimed at Kweiteh in an effort to cut off the corridor from the interior of China. Two other drives seek to flank Suchow on the east.

MUNICH PUZZLED BY PROPAGANDA AIMED AT ITALY

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Citizens of Munich were mystified today by anti-Italian propaganda they found in their mail boxes, declaring the Italian Tyrol a pure German country.

The propaganda ostensibly solicited members of the Nazi-backed Association of Germans Abroad, but it seemed doubtful it appeared with official consent. Readers wondered what effect the strong anti-Italian language of the leaflets might have on the Rome-Berlin axis.

"Remember again the southern Tyrol is a pure German country—it is a piece of the best German soil," it said. "The south Tyrolese is a German and belongs to the German people just like you and I—he is our countryman. Don't let yourselves be deluded by the Italian eyewash."

[The south Tyrol was ceded to Italy by Austria in a post-war treaty settlement.]

U. S. SEEKS WORD OF AMERICAN IN BARCELONA JAIL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The state department telegraphed today to the American consul in Barcelona asking him to inquire as to the welfare of Cliff Haley of Tacoma, Wash. The department said it acted after being told that Haley was under arrest by Spanish loyalists for trying to leave Spain.

The boy's father, a candy manufacturer of Tacoma, feared the boy might be shot. Young Haley, who was a volunteer machine gunner in the Spanish loyalist forces, had tried to get on a tanker at Barcelona in hopes of getting to Port Arthur, Tex. Barcelona police, however, arrested him. When the tanker got to Port Arthur the crew sent word to Haley's father.

At the state department it was said that there was little that this government could do under the circumstances. It was pointed out that Americans fighting in the Spanish forces had all been warned that they were doing so at their own risk. There was no definite information here that young Haley was actually to be shot.

Planes Used by Loyalists RussianCopies of U.S.Make

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Airplanes of the Martin bomber type, of which seven were reported by Spanish rebels to have been shot down yesterday, were copies made in Russia, J. T. Hartson of the Glenn L. Martin company said today. Hartson, executive vice president, said there are no Martin built bombers in Spain, but that "dozens" of duplicates have been built by Russians from a model purchased at the Martin plant.

RUSS SCIENTISTS' ICE FLOE DRIFTS NEAR GREENLAND

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Radio communications reëstablished with four Russian scientists marooned on a small polar ice floe tonight revealed they were drifting southwest nearing the east coast of Greenland. The campers, whose radio messages had been unheard for 36 hours because of magnetic storms, were cheered by improving weather conditions.

The icebreaker Murmanets, hurrying to rescue the scientists, reported its position as still more than 250 miles from the drifting campers.

A dispatch from Oslo, Norway, said a message from the scientists had been picked up saying they had drifted within clear sight of the Greenland coast. Advices from two other ice breakers rushing to their rescue, and from a radio station at Migg Bay, Greeland, about 60 miles from the drifting floe, said the wind had subsided and the temperature had dropped sharply.

JAP NAVY PLANS TOLD BY U. S. AID, PAPER REPORTS

Full Details Given British, Says News Sheet.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Capt. Royal E. Ingersoll, head of the United States navy's war plans division, brought with him to London nothing less than full plans of the Japanese warship building program on a recent mystery visit to London, according to a story published in The Week.

Capt. Ingersoll slipped into this country as "Mr. Smith," conferred several days with admiralty officials, and slipped out before news of his presence leaked out.

A Melodramatic Job.

The secrecy was melodramatic because he was doing a melodramatic job, the article said.

[Capt. Ingersoll's trip to London came to public notice last Friday during a congressional hearing in Washington, D. C., on a proposed $800,000,000 naval expansion program. Representative Ralph E. Church [R., Ill.] asked Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, whether any reports had come to him from Capt. Ingersoll's conversations in London.

"I will make no statement in public in reply to that question," the admiral answered, "because it involves vital information regarding the defense of our country."

The admiral said he would speak frankly on the question in an executive session. His answer created the impression that an Anglo-American naval understanding exists.]

Prompts Demand on Japs.

It was the plans Ingersoll showed to the admiralty which prompted the sudden revival of interest in Japan's naval intentions and caused Britain as well as the United States to ask Tokio please to state its building plans, the news story indicated.

[The United States, Great Britain, and France asked Japan to state whether it is building battleships in excess of 35,000 tons.]

The news sheet's story is that an American agent succeeded about the end of last November in stealing and copying the plans in Tokio.

When the British were reluctant to admit that the Japanese probably are building big ships, Ingersoll was sent to give proof.

What alarmed the British most was said to be the plans for many cruisers, which seemed to indicate that Britannia would not rule the waves or even be able to keep her shipping routes open in case of war.

SECRETARY HULL DENIES PROMISE OF BRITISH HELP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The world is suffering from a case of international jitters, Secretary of State Hull asserted today. He attributed the ailment to the fact that everybody in every country is trying to talk at the same time on international matters and hasn't the slightest idea of what is being discussed.

The secretary made his diagnosis when he was asked to comment on a statement made by Prof. Gilbert Murray in London that the British government has assured the United States of support in the event this country becomes involved in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Hull said he had heard of no such assurances from Great Britain or any other country. He said there is not the slightest vestige of truth in reports that such an agreement or understanding exists between the United States and Great Britain.

French to Open Air Line to Buenos Aires Soon

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The department of commerce has been advised that the first passenger air service from Paris to South America will be started this summer. A weekly service from Paris to Buenos Aires, a total of 9,000 miles, will be accomplished in long hops with intermediary stops, reaching the South American city in four days. The flights will be made in 15 ton seaplanes, with eight seats for passengers, and with a cruising speed of 200 miles an hour.

Describes Operation

MRS. ELLA DEGELLMAN.

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Dr. James T. Padgett, 65 years old, a gynecologist, whose wife accused him of evincing too much interest in other women after he had undergone a rejuvenation operation in Vienna, told about his operation in Manhattan Supreme court.

"In no way was it a so-called monkey gland operation," the specialist insisted. That was what Mrs. Ida L. Padgett had called it, testifying the previous day in her suit for separation.

The operation, Dr. Padgett said, was merely a "hormone operation generally accepted by physicians and surgeons." He added that if his manner was "silly, juvenile, and asinine" toward women, as Mrs. Padgett charged, he was not aware of it. He also denied he had been unduly attentive to his wife's pretty maid, or that he had ever insisted on treating Mrs. Ella Degellman or Mrs. May Fowler without the presence of a nurse.

SOVIETS DEMAND RUMANIAN HUNT FOR MISSING AID

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Russia tonight sent the Rumanian government an emphatic protest over the disappearance of Jodor Budenko, soviet chargé d'affaires at Bucharest, asserting that he was a victim of a Fascist "political crime." Budenko was last seen Sunday night when he left the Russian legation. His housekeeper said the diplomat did not enter his residence that night.

The soviet note, sent to the legation in Bucharest for delivery to the Rumanian foreign office, demanded that the government take effective action to find and punish those responsible for Budenko's disappearance.

The first story to be published in Russia about the affair was carried today by Tass [official Russian news agency].

FRANCE SPEEDS TO CUT FASCIST ARMAMENT LEAD

Plans 2 New Battleships and More Planes.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Following the lead of Great Britain and the United States, France is putting her national defense through a much needed house cleaning and is determined to wipe out the head start the Fascist powers gained on her on the sea and in the air.

As a first step the government will ask authorization to lay down immediately two new 35,000 ton battleships and will bend every effort to whittle down the dangerous delay which has developed in the construction of the battleships Richelieu and Jean Bart, respectively thirteen and eleven months behind the program.

Committee Hears Daladier.

This was the gist of statements made by Edouard Daladier, minister of defense, and William Bertrand, minister of navy, before the national defense committee of the chamber of deputies this afternoon. Daladier's declarations were couched in much the same language as that of the recent statements made by Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of operations of the United States navy, before a congressional naval hearing.

It was revealed that while the land forces are above criticism, the naval program is lagging so badly that France soon would be in a position of inferiority in the Mediterranean, with its whole aviation frankly and hopelessly outclassed by that of Italy and Germany.

Daladier said France has prototypes of new fighting planes as fast and good in every way as her rivals', but through bad organization and planning still is pottering around trying to improve first class models instead of getting down to mass-production. Daladier cited this chaotic condition as imperative justification for coördination of the three national defense departments under the minister of war.

Bitter Pill for Diehards.

This measure has been a bitter pill for the diehards in the navy and air force to swallow, and the two disgruntled services have interested certain politicians in defending their interests.

Daladier's appearance in the chamber largely was a maneuver to nip a political plot aimed at undoing the work of unification he has commenced, and experts believe he has succeeded. This vital reform already has increased France's military strength more than a couple of new divisions, in the opinion of foreign military experts.

Daladier did not announce a huge appropriation for a new armaments. The ambitious program for naval construction and the improvement or creation of naval bases in the Mediterranean will be financed by relatively small annual appropriations for the reason that France lacks technicians and workmen, and all the money in the world cannot make up for that lack.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLINN, Estonia, Feb. 9.—New casualties in the feud between frontier guards of Estonia and Russia on Peipus lake were reported today by soviet Russian authorities, who telephoned that two Estonian guards and their driver were killed by Russians when they penetrated Russian territory. The Estonians left Salatskivi yesterday morning and disappeared.

Because of clear weather and the clearly marked frontier across the ice of Europe's largest lake, the Estonians say it was impossible that they should cross the border. It was believed they were attacked by a party of Russians using an aerosled armed with a machine gun, as revenge for the shooting of two soviet guards on Jan. 19 by Estonians who intercepted them on the Estonian side attempting to kidnap a group of twelve fishermen.

A mixed commission of investigation agreed that the guards were shot in Estonian territory, but the Russians accused the Estonians of having moved birch sapling markers stuck in the ice. The feeling against Russia is high in Estonia. The local soviet representation is being guarded by police to prevent demonstrations.

26 HIGH ARMY OFFICERS TO BE RETIRED IN 1938

Turnover Is Largest in Peacetime History.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The largest turnover in peace time history among general officers of the army will take place during 1938. No fewer than twenty-six brigadier and major generals already have been slated for retirement and others may be eliminated for physical reasons over which only the examining doctors have control.

Ten of the officers who will retire are major generals. The twenty-six also include Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who left the service Jan. 1, and Brig. Gen. Louis H. Nuttman, who retired Jan. 31.

Younger Men to Move In.

This leaves nine top rank officers to go. When it is realized that there are only twenty-one permanent major generals allowed to the army, emphasis is lent to the effect of the gradual turnover during the year as younger men move into the positions now held by older men.

During the last three years the average age of general officers has been reduced from 61 to 56 years. Next year it may be reduced to about 54 years, it was said.

Twelve top officers are not sufficient to man established jobs calling for officers of that rank, it was pointed out. There are nine corps areas, three territorial departments, and the office of deputy chief of staf, all requiring a major general in charge.

Another Vacancy Expected.

A twenty-seventh vacancy may occur soon, it was reported. Brig. Gen. Gerald C. Brant, commanding the east wing of the general headquarters air force, is expected to return to his permanent rank of colonel and be assigned to command of the new air corps technical school at Denver. His is only a temporary rank, but his new assignment will create a vacancy, temporarily, for another air corps officer.

The reason for the unusual number of retirements is explained by the fact the majority of those who will leave the service this year were promoted during the world war and reach the statutory age about the same time

Long List of Colonels.

Three of the major generals will not retire for age, but they will relinquish their high rank and control of branches. Thus, they could revert to their permanent rank. It is the custom, however, for a chief of a branch to retire with the higher rank.

Successors to those who retire will be chosen from the long list of colonels. There is no indication of haste in selecting them. It has been the practice to announce such promotions far in advance.

LAWYER PLANS AID TO CAPONE IF HELD INSANE

Condition Unchanged in Alcatraz Hospital.

An application for a writ of habeas corpus, seeking the removal of Alphonse Capone from Alcatraz prison, will be filed in the event that medical men find the one time gang chief is really insane. This was announced yesterday in New York by Attorney Abraham Teitelbaum, who recently requested the Supreme court of the United States to remit Capone's additional punishment of a year in the Cook county jail.

Teitelbaum said he knew nothing about his client's condition, but was considering an air trip to San Francisco to investigate.

Deny Strait-Jacket Report.

Meanwhile the department of justice in Washington, minimizing the seriousness of the prohibition gangster's illness, said there was little change in his condition and that he was still under observation in the prison hosptial. W. T. Hammack, acting director of the federal prison bureau, denied that the noted outlaw was being kept in a strait-jacket, as reported in west coast newspapers.

"Warden Johnston has assured me that Capone is not under anything like physical restraint," he said. "He is being watched by the prison doctor, a consultant psychiatrist and another physician."

Hammack indicated that no decision had been reached on whether to hold Capone on "the Rock," as the isolated Alcatraz institution is known to the inmates, or to send him to the federal hospital for delinquents at Springfield, Mo., where there are ample facilities for the treatment of mental diseases.

Brother Awaits Report.

Ralph Capone, brother of the gang chieftain, made additional efforts yesterday to learn from the prison bureau the exact extent of his illness, but was told a full report could not be given until next Monday.

"They said, and I believe it's right," said Ralph, "that reports of Al's illness are exaggerated. How could he go to pieces all at once? Our brothers saw him Feb. 1 and mother and his wife visited him in Alcatraz in the middle of January. He was fine then. I think he's just got some nervous trouble. He's been in there a long time now."

Many Chicago physicians doubted that Capone has paresis, of which syphilis is the forerunner. They were inclined to believed he has manic depressive insanity; that he has gone "stir crazy." The gangster was kept in the Cook county jail from October, 1931, to May, 1932, but there are no records available to show that he ever underwent a physical examination, although one is required for every prisoner.

Health Record Missing.

Warden Frank Sain, who was not in charge of the jail when Capone was a prisoner, said the gangster's health record is missing. The examinations are customarily made by physicians from the board of health and include tests for venereal disease. A copy of their report is kept also in the files of the board. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, the board's president, said last night that these files are confidential and cannot be made public.

Capone went to the Atlanta federal penitentiary in May, 1932, and was later sent to Alcatraz. With time off for good behavior, he would be eligible for freedom on Jan. 19, 1939. His original sentence for violating the income tax laws was ten years. He still has the jail sentence awaiting him, as well as a fine of $20,000.

Scene of Chicago Heights Shooting

Arrow points to bakery in which Samuel Costello was shot to death and three others wounded yesterday by three gangland executioners who were dressed as hunters. Police said the shooting may have resulted from rivalry among illicit alcohol cookers. The assassins fled in an auto from which the license plates had been removed.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Nick Costello (left), brother of the slain man, was wounded in the battle. Chris Giordana (right), who said he was a porter in the bakery, was present when the shooting occurred. Police held him as "an important figure in the case."

$50,000 LOOT TAKEN IN RAID ON MIAMI CLUB

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9.[—Special.]—Three robbers took more than $50,000 worth of jewelry and cash in a raid today on the fashionable Arena bar on Biscayne boulevard.

Revolvers in hand and shouting threats, the unmasked trio invaded the all night resort as the shifts were changing this morning. They sent eight employés and one customer upstairs. There they made them lie on the floor and covered them with coats and tablecloths.

While one robber stood guard over the men, the other two fell to work with crowbars on twenty safe deposit boxes where the owners and a number of their friends and customers kept their valuables.

Henry Palmer, proprietor of the resort, said all his receipts from the place were taken and he didn't know how much jewelry.

SLOT MACHINE WRECKER CITED BY PROSECUTOR

Edwardsville, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Disregarding a December ruling of Attorney General Otto Kerner holding that slot machines are illegal in Illinois and therefore are not considered property under the law, Lester Geers, Madison county prosecutor, today entered the crusade of Mrs. Irene Kite of Alton, who uses an ax on them.

Geers in an information filed in County court charges Mrs. Kite with malicious destruction of property because she smashed two slot machines in Louis Vanzo's tavern near the county courthouse.

Wounded when Costello was shot were:

NICK COSTELLO, 32, a third Costello brother living with Samuel, shot in the side.

JOSEPH DI GIOVANNI, 40, of 1552 Edgewood avenue, Chicago Heights, brother of the bakery owner, Samuel Di Giovanni, shot in the leg.

MALO BAGAGLI, 40, of 245 East 24th street, Chicago Heights, shot in the leg.

Both the wounded men and the two taken into custody as witnesses insisted that the motive of the attack was a mystery, although Kelly and Sergt. Ernest Sloey said they were convinced the victims knew the reason for the attack.

Take Plates Off Car.

It was a few minutes after noon when the three gangsters were observed by two women of the neighborhood in a dark 1937 Ford sedan at 21st and Butler streets, a block from the bakery. The men halted, removed the license plates from the car, and drove on to the bakery.

Two of them wore hunters' coats and one a sweater. All wore hunters' caps and high laced boots.

As they stepped into the bakery one of them called out, "Hello, Sammie!" He held out his hand to Costello. It held a .45 calibre automatic pistol.

Three Comrades Fall.

The killer opened fire and Costello fell. The other men also began firing with automatic pistols. Costello's comrades came running from a back room with guns, but three of them fell before the invaders fled.

The two unwounded men summoned an ambulance and sent their comrades to the hospital.

When Lieut. Henry Andel and his men from the Homewood station of the county highway police arrived they found that the traces of battle had been removed from the bakery with the exception of 18 empty cartridges. The guns which the men had used to defend themselves had mysteriously vanished.

The wounded men insisted that they had no other interests than the bakery. So did Onofrio and Giordono.

The shooting recalled the bloody gangland history of Chicago Heights in the prohibition era, when the community of 23,000 was under Capone domination.

When repeal of prohibition ended the fabulous profits of the illicit liquor racket, the gangsters turned to slot machines and other gambling operations.

Gives Up Race Track to Save Stockholders.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The political war of hate waged by Gov. Robert E. Quinn, which rocked the state and brought out the National Guard to bolster his side, was climaxed tonight with the abdication of his archenemy.

Walter E. O'Hara, whom the governor had sworn he would crush, resigned as managing director of the Narragansett race track. The plant, one of the richest in the east, provided the main battleground for the bitter feud.

Police Surround Clubhouse.

Even as O'Hara retired in defeat, his political foe gave a last blunt hint of the force he controls. A cordon of state police was thrown about the clubhouse of the Narragansett Racing association where O'Hara's resignation was announced at a meeting of stockholders. It was a reminder of the governor's iron handed tactics in calling out the National Guard last October.

Gov. Quinn declared publicly at that time he would drive O'Hara out of Rhode Island and tonight he and his cohorts were celebrating the accomplishment of their project.

The feud arose over a struggle for domination of the state Democratic machine, both the principals being leaders of factions in the party. The governor first tried to have the state racing commission eliminate O'Hara, but the Supreme court quashed that body's order. Unable to rule the courts, Quinn turned to his soldiers and placed them at the track.

Libel Charges Filed.

Then he had O'Hara arrested on a criminal libel charge for allegedly calling him a liar and a dictator. He also sued the track head for $500,000 for civil libel. O'Hara retaliated with a libel suit for the same amount against the governor.

But O'Hara lost heavily in the fight. He counted among his losses Narragansett track, which he had built and developed, the Araho [O'Hara spelled backward] stable of expensive horses, and a newspaper, the Providence Star-Tribune, which was placed in receivership and was later purchased by its competitor, the Providence Journal company.

Terms of the settlement under which O'Hara stepped out of Narragansett included the payment of $25,000 to him for his release of a three year contract with a $50,000 a year salary and $25,000 expense account. The racing association also handed over to him an insurance policy for an unnamed amount.

Family's Stock Pledged.

The $25,000 settlement, it is said, is subject to a federal income tax lien. A substantial part of the 49,000 shares of Narragansett stock [value in excess of $200,000] held by O'Hara and members of his family is also reported to be pledged against the heavy debts incurred in the battle with the governor. This stock is expected to be liquidated by an eastern syndicate of bankers and brokers.

Among the interested parties who attended the stockholders' meeting this afternoon was Morgan Belmont, son of the late August Belmont and head of the New York investment banking firm of Belmont & Co. This concern was one of the original underwriters of the Narragansett stock flotation.

The governor's forces, augmented by stockholders who are interested in seeing dividends paid out by Narragansett, had on hand sufficient proxies to oust O'Hara by a vote if necessary.

In Court

Attorney Mary Belle Spencer, who reared her daughters to do as they please, adopted a conciliatory manner in the county highway police court in Homewood yesterday when she faced Melvin Draben, 20 years old, of 35 McEldowney place, Chicago Heights, suitor of her daughter Victoria, 16 years old. She told Justice of the Peace William Jacobs she didn't want to prosecute Draben for disorderly conduct after all. Early Sunday morning after he brought her daughter home from a dance she had him arrested. The Spencers reside near Chicago Heights.

Mrs. Spencer included the court, the state prosecutor, and Draben in her fulsome praise. Draben had a wonderful bringing up and the nicest manners any one could ask, she said.

"This isn't a mutual admiration society," said Judge Jacobs when Mrs. Spencer caught her breath after ten minutes of oratory. "Do you have anything to say, young man?"

Draben said he was willing to drop his charges of assault and battery against Mrs. Spencer, which grew out of an alleged attack with hammer and milk bottle, if she was willing not to appear against him. Assistant State's Attorney Henry Zadek asked for a week's continuance. A hearing was set for Feb. 16.

SPEED DEMANDED IN NAZIFICATION OF GERMAN ARMY

Party Radicals Fear Unrest Among Officers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Nazi radicals, suspicious that unrest will continue within the ranks of the army officers corps, are demanding the proclamation and introduction of new measures which they believe further will speed up the Nazification of the German army.

The program suggested for the army by the most ardent followers of the Nazi faith includes introduction of the Nazi salute into the army on a wider scale than has been adopted so far, an increased campaign for the political education of army men, gradual elimination of chaplains, selection of cadets among students of the Nazi training bodies, and stricter examination to test the political reliability of officers of the imperial forces who still are serving.

Picked Troops Guard Arsenals.

Usually well informed quarters reported Germany's munition depots no longer were guarded by ordinary troops, but by S. S. [guard troops] regiments. These are picked troops, corresponding to what under another régime would be imperial guard regiments.

The new campaign of radical Nazis, about which the officers have learned, has increased the nervousness in the army ranks.

Three generals, whose names were withheld, were reported today to have offered their resignations in protest against the Nazification of the army. The reported action gave rise to the questions whether there are many discontented higher officers in the army, and, if so, what they can do beyond handing in their resignations.

Opposition Believed Throttled.

Observers familiar with Hitler's tactics pointed out that all necessary precautions against effective opposition were taken before Hitler embarked on his army and cabinet shakeups last week.

In last Friday's upheaval, Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg was removed as war minister, Gen. Werner von Fritsch was deposed as chief of staf, and thirteen army and air force generals were retired as Hitler assumed direct command of the armed forces.

Nazis Blamed for Violence.

VIENNA, Austria, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Austrian Nazis were blamed today for a wave of petty violence which broke out shortly after Adolf Hitler took control of the German army last week.

Racket Girl Cries

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Hope Dare, fiery tempered, red haired sweetheart of J. Richard [Dixie] Davis who was arrested with him last week as a fugitive from New York justice, was ordered to get out of Philadelphia today. As she left she hurled a handbag at a newspaper photographer and a bottle of spirits of ammonia at a reporter.

Hope, former New York show girl, was with Davis, alleged head of the New York policy racket and a fugitive when he was arrested in a Philadelphia hideout. She was released from bail today by Magistrate Nathan A. Beitel.

"Philadelphia doesn't want you," he said. "New York doesn't want you. Now, go on; get out of here."

She turned to go but became hysterical and started throwing things when photographers began to set off flash lamps. Davis meanwhile, is awaiting arrival of extradition papers.

TRIAL OF U-BOAT PASTOR DELAYED FOR NEW LAWYER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The trial of the Rev. Martin Niemoeller was postponed today because, it was announced, "a lawyer appointed by the court to defend him must first get acquainted with all the material."

Dr. Niemoeller, leader of the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] movement which opposes Nazi domination of church affairs, went to trial on Monday after having been in jail since last July. Yesterday it was learned that he discharged his three lawyers when they refused to make new demands, as he wished, that the public be admitted to the trial. Previously the court had ruled that the trial would be held in camera.

The pastor, a submarine commander in the world war, is charged with "violating the law against insidious attacks on the government," the misuse of the pulpit for political purposes, and inciting the public to disobedience."

NORTH IRELAND VOTERS REFUSE DE VALERA UNION

Concede Lord Craigavon Victory at Polls.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Viscount Craigavon, North Ireland premier, will continue his 17 year old rule in Northern Ireland. This was conceded tonight as results of today's elections came in. Despite opponents' hopes, there was no chance to defeat the Unionist government, reports from Belfast said.

[The term "Unionist" in Northern Ireland politics refers to the ages-old issue of union with Great Britain, not the comparatively new issue of union between the Protestant North and Catholic South of Ireland. Lord Craigavon's Unionists and lesser Unionist parties insist on retention of the ties with Britain and therefore strongly oppose amalgamation with Ireland.]

Disorders Mark Election.

Disorders marked the election, which was called after inauguration in the former Irish Free State [now Eire or Ireland] of a constitution which envisioned union with Northern Ireland.

Republicans and Nationalists clashed in Belfast late tonight, and as a result five persons were sent to hospitals. Scores of windows were smashed with stones before police cleared the mobs away with baton charges. Several other incidents occurred during the day and two arrests were made.

British, Dublin Agree.

Lord Craigavon regarded the election as a referendum on Irish partition, but a Dublin source indicated the British are nearer Dublin's viewpoint on the united Ireland question than Craigavon likes to admit. It was learned reliably that an agreement had been reached on all points except partition between Dublin and London.

Twenty-one seats in the new Ulster parliament already were filled by unopposed returns. Included were fourteen Unionists, six Nationalists, and one Labor representative. Sixty-four candidates, nearly half of whom were Unionists, contested the remaining thirty-one vacancies today.

4 BOYS CAUGHT IN STOLEN CAR.

Four Chicago youths, all 14 years old, were picked up by Kokomo, Ind., police yesterday when found sleeping in a stolen automobile. They are Henry Wilch, 1652 Orchard street; Wallace and Warren Schuler, twin brothers of 1641 Irving Park boulevard, and Thomas Myers, 843 Leland avenue.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR FOUND GUILTY OF EMBEZZLING $549

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A District court jury today found Lieut. Gov. Walter H. Jurgensen of Nebraska guilty of embezzling $549 from Chester C. Kaderli, Potter, Neb., depot agent.

Defense counsel said Jurgensen would file a motion for a new trial. The case was placed in the hands of the jury yesterday afternoon.

County Attorney Max Towle charged the Nebraska official with defrauding Kaderli of $916 in savings and loan stock through an agent, Jules Johnson, now in the penitentiary serving a term for embezzlement. Jurgensen, who took the stand in his own behalf, charged the prosecution was inspired by political opponents.

8 BILLION ROAD PLAN APPROVED BY ROOSEVELT

Project Calls for Network of Toll Highways.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—An 8 billion dollar transcontinental superhighway project, rivaling Pharaoh's pyramids as a long time medium of work relief for the unemployed and of priming the business pump, was formally launched today with President Roosevelt's blessing.

Senator Robert J. Bulkley [D., O.], who conceived the plan, introduced in the senate a bill providing for construction by the federal government of 10 great toll roads spanning the country—three running east and west and 7 north and south.

Toll Charges Planned.

The cost of constructing and maintaining this gigantic gridiron of express highways for through transit of automobiles, buses, trucks, and other commercial vehicles would be liquidated, according to the terms of the bill, from "reasonable toll charges" and from sale or lease of tracts of a strip of land not exceeding 550 feet in width on each side of each highway. From such exceedingly desirable business locations along these busy arteries of trafic so great a revenue would be obtained, it is conceived, that the cost of the project would be liquidated within 60 years.

The project, however, still is in the visionary stage. Routes and their selection would not be decided until public hearings on the bill. Hearings probably would decide whether land would be condemned or purchased.

President Roosevelt approved the scheme because of the provision for self liquidation of cost, assuring the treasury of reimbursement for the funds advanced.

See Aid to Business.

The bill states that it is "to provide for financing certain self-liquidating public works, to provide additional facilities for the national defense, to aid in the relief of unemployment, to stimulate business recovery and to promote the public safety."

The administration is preparing to rush the bill through congress with a view to hastening the stimulation of the capital goods industries, from which a multitude of materials for the project would be obtained. As a means of checking the current business recession with its increasing volume of unemployment the scheme to administration leaders looks like a life saver.

The Bulkley superhighways are not to be confused with elevated highways. They are to be laid out on the ground level in a right of way at least 300 feet in width, each highway to contain from 4 to 12 paved lanes depending upon volume of trafic.

Separate Trucks and Autos.

In constructing each highway, the Bulkley bill provides, "appropriate provision shall be made for neutral strips wherever necessary to separate vehicles traveling in one direction from those traveling in the opposite direction, for the separation of buses and other passenger carrying vehicles from trucks and other commercial vehicles . . . for the elimination of curves wherever practicable, for the elimination of all level grade crossings and the construction of an overpass or underpass at each point of intersection of such highway with any other highway or line of communication."

Senator Bulkley estimated the cost at from $300,000 to $400,000 per mile for a total of about 20,000 miles.

He estimated that interest and amortization at 2 per cent on the bonds, plus the cost of maintenance, policing, and administration, would cost about 220 million dollars annually. If 10 per cent of the gas burned by motor cars in this country in 1937 were consumed on the new highway system, the return would be about 245 million dollars annually, he said.

Mileage Tolls Proposed.

The tolls employed for estimating purposes were 25 and 50 cents on passenger and freight vehicles, respectively, plus 1½ mills a passenger mile on passenger vehicles and 4 mills a ton mile on freight vehicles. Freight and passenger vehicles would operate on separate pavements.

On the basis of this type of toll it was stated that the toll from Washington to New York, 225 miles, for four passengers would be 40 cents each and for a two ton truck $2.30.

The roads would be built by a United States highway corporation capitalized at not more than 100 million dollars, the entire amount of stock being subscribed for by the secretary of the treasury. The corporation would be authorized to issue bonds up to a maximum of 8 billion dollars, maturing within sixty years and bearing interest at not more than 3 per cent.

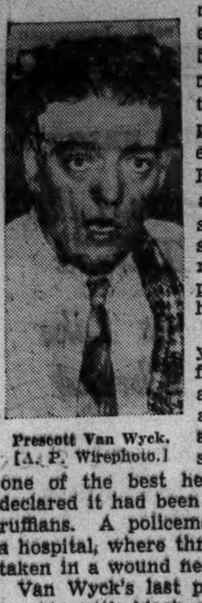
PRESCOTT VAN WYCK, OF THE N.Y. VAN WYCKS, GETS ANOTHER SHINER



Prescott Van Wyck.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Prescott Van Wyck, who is a grandnephew of Greater New York's first mayor and occasionally mentions this to people, got a black eye early today. He also lost his automobile—seems some person had gone and moved it from the place where he had parked it.

Van Wyck, 38 years old, was found wandering about in a daze at 3 a. m. He already had the shiner, said to be one of the best he ever had, and declared it had been inflicted by two ruffians. A policeman took him to a hospital, where three stitches were taken in a wound near his eye.

Van Wyck's last publicly recorded trouble with black eyes occurred in October, 1936, when he allegedly dealt a couple to tempestuous Lolita Cordoba, the Mexican rhumba girl. Three months later she married him.

WPA WORKERS LOOK AHEAD—TO CAREERS IN WPA

workers find it possible to live very comfortably. On one job a father and married son are employed. The father receives $85 a month for truck driving and the son $55 for laboring. The father lives with the son and his wife on the combined income of $140.

Two middle aged bachelors, brothers, reside together in Cicero and find life quite pleasant with a united income of $110 a month. The reporter also talked with an unmarried worker who makes his home on the northwest side with his widowed sister. She draws $11.37 every two weeks from the relief organization and he, of course, gets his $27.50 twice a month.

Many with Outside Incomes.

One man has a grown daughter at work in private industry; another's wife works under her maiden name. The women add their earnings to the WPA payments. It was the opinion of the reporter that fully half the workers have sources that bring their spending power to much more than $55 monthly.

Some do additional work. They are only required to be on the WPA jobs 55 hours in two weeks, and as the schedule is usually worked out in seven days, they have five full week days in each period for outside activities.

It was not unusual to find a merchant selling his fellow workers blades, cough syrup, soap, or an occasional pint of liquor. More than a few admitted they were house to house canvassers or distributors of bills in their spare time. The usual answer to the question: How one lives on $55 a month, was, "We don't."

Clothed for Cold Weather.

All the men this reporter saw at work were warmly clothed. Whether the weather is too inclement for project operations is left to the superintendent. Then men must report regularly on all workdays, however. Those who show up on days that are held to be too bad for working are given credit for one hour and have an opportunity to make up the full day later. Those who do not report don't get the hour and are not permitted to make up the lost time. This is important. Often the men are not permitted to work out their full 55 hours in a two week period and are paid only for the actual time put in. Those who have complied with all the rules can make up the missed work in a later period.

"Gold bricking" is prevalent on many projects. It is rare on others —the will to work and the efficiency of the foremen are governing factors. Under a careful boss the worker must be extremely wary in reporting himself sick. If he does it too often he receives a pink slip that means a termination of his employment. A serious matter this; the worker must go back on direct relief and be certified again before he can qualify as a WPA worker.

How Health Rules Work.

When honestly enforced the WPA rules as regard sickness result in justice. If a man is absent from the job and a physician will say he was too ill to work, he is allowed to make up the extra time when he has recovered. If, while on the job, he complains of being unable to carry on, he is sent to a doctor. The man draws pay for the time of his visit and the physician get his fee from the government.

Normally the light jobs, such as tool clerk, water boy, and flagman, are filled by men who have some slight physical handicap. The one-armed or the one-legged often get these places. But men who claim to be injured on the job [a strained back is a common excuse, and one hard to disprove] are also certified to light duty and thus the roll of flag wavers increases.

Taverns Get Some Trade.

Depending for the most part on the foreman, discipline on the job generally is fairly good. Some of the men drink, but furtively; openly passing bottles about is frowned on. Those working on the outskirts of jobs often will walk across the street to a tavern to have drinks.

But they won't drink if they think their jobs are in danger. The work, the WPA worker holds, is better than it looks. It is true that on direct relief a man with a large family can get as much money, sometimes more, and medical attention free. But the WPA man would rather have his job. His creditors, knowing his status, do not press him for his bills—and there's always a prospect of a better place in the organization.

In summary, the WPA is not an unpleasant haven. The competition on the job is not keen, the hours are short, the employer considerate, and the work easy. Being on the job for any length of time, however, seems to destroy the will for any other career. Few, even among the $55 men, would consider a job in private industry at $80 a month. THE TRIBUNE reporter made the offer to dozens who declined.

WPA SAXOPHONIST IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL IN WOMAN'S GIN KILLING

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The death yesterday in an uptown apartment of Mrs. Harriet Brown Nielson, one-time American diving champion and member of an aristocratic California family, was a result of homicidal assault, the medical examiner reported today.

William King Loftus, 45 years old, a WPA saxophone player, who was Mrs. Nielson's companion on a gin drinking bout Monday night, has been charged with her death and held without bail for hearing Monday.

When Loftus awoke yesterday morning and found the nude body of his companion on the floor beside the bed, he called police and told them Mrs. Nielson had splintered a gin bottle in his face and that he had struck her across the mouth. The autopsy report charged that Mrs. Nielson died of a hemorrhage of the liver, "caused by the direct application of force, such as a kick, punch, or jumping on the body."

TRUCK DRIVER REPORTS ROBBERY.

Carl Rizzuto, 2919 Sheffield avenue, truck driver for a beverage company, reported to police yesterday that he had been robbed of $25 by a gunman who forced him to drive to Wilmette.

BUFFALO OFFICIAL CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF DEFRAUDING CITY

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A special Supreme court jury after a three day trial tonight convicted Councilman George R. Reilly of fraudulently obtaining city pay under an assumed name. Reilly was the first of 16 persons indicted in a city affairs investigation to be tried.

Reilly admitted from the witness chair that he had signed the name "James Malone" to a WPA job application and had received the pay. He asserted, however, that he signed the application for a friend, who didn't "write so well."

The money, he said, was all turned over to the friend, although he admitted that neither worked for it.

Twin Sisters, Each with 6 Sons, 80 Years Old Today

Dixon, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Susan Curran and Mrs. Margaret Buckley, twins, will celebrate their 80th birthdays tomorrow. Each has six sons, several grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

SPRING IS OVER! WINTER BACK IN CHICAGO TODAY

Chicago, after a week of springlike temperatures, is to have a return of winter weather today. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said that a low of 15 to 20 degrees would be touched early today. Yesterday's high was 55 degrees, one degree below the all-time record for the date, set in 1886.

The warmth and the recent heavy rains have created flood conditions in some parts of Lake county. Thirty summer homes along the channel connecting Nippersink lake and Pistakee bay were partially under water yesterday. A few residents of the upper Fox river valley have left their homes.

HE SEES WHO BUYS WHAT TOBACCO

Like so many other independent experts, Bill Whitley, Tobacco Auctioneer of Henderson, N. C., smokes Luckies

WILLIAM D. (BILL) WHITLEY sold over 15 million pounds of tobacco last year. It's easy to see that he's an expert who knows tobacco.

So it's important to you when he says..."At 14 different markets in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, I've seen Luckies buy the best tobacco. I figure it's good tobacco that makes a good smoke. So my own cigarette is Lucky Strike!

"I've noticed, too, that independent buyers, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer, smoke Luckies more than any other brand."

Mr. Whitley is correct. For sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together. Remember: The men who know tobacco best smoke Luckies 2 to 1.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO?

When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Toasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. HOUSE ADOPTS FARM DICTATOR BILL, 263 TO 135

Vote Forced by Gag Rule and Sent to Senate.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—A bill setting up a vast system for controlling production and marketing of corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, and rice was passed by the house today and sent to the senate. The record vote was 263 to 135.

Recorded for the measure were 243 Democrats, 14 Republicans, 1 Progressive, and 5 Farmer-Laborites. Voting the negative were 54 Democrats, 74 Republicans, and 7 Progressives.

A few final protests were heard before the house voted on the bill, which was drafted by a conference of senators and representatives after the two houses had approved different measures at last year's special session. These objections were directed against the gag rule which leaders imposed on the members, restricting debate to four hours, and permitting no amendments or points of order to be drafted.

Republican Finds Comfort.

Representative Dewey Short [R., Mo.] told the house there was one crumb of comfort for his party in the bill.

"Every one voting for this measure will be demanding its repeal in two years," he said. "It is going to do more to destroy the Democratic party and bring the Republicans back into power than anything else. That's the only comforting thing in this whole sad mess."

Criticism was not confined to the Republicans. Representative Harry B. Coffee [D., Neb.] called the bill "ill-advised, unsound, and impractical."

To the senate, where the battle now shifts, the national grange today sent an appeal to disapprove the bill.

"Under this legislation, as we see it, the farmer is asked to sell his birthright for a mess of federal pottage that he does not get," the letter read.

"If this legislation is to be enacted it should be stripped of its compulsory features. It should be redrafted or amended in conformity with American principles and traditions."

How It's Control Works.

The bill provides that when prices on the five controled commodities fall below parity, loans shall be made to farmers. "Parity" is determined by taking a period of years in which the farmers were prosperous and determining a price for the farmers' products which will permit him to buy as many goods with the return from his products as he was able to buy in these prosperous years. Parity prices change from month to month.

The loans are not mandatory, the bill provides, unless the farmers vote in favor of marketing control. Marketing control goes into effect when overproduction of crops becomes a fact. Overproduction in the case of corn means a crop exceeding 2 billion, 795 million bushels; in the case of wheat, when there is a crop exceeding 945 million bushels.

After marketing control is established, a farmer may sell his crop only up to the quota allotted him. The excess crop must be stored under seal on his farm or in a storehouse and is to be touched only when a bad crop year occurs. This is the ever-normal granary scheme of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace.

Penalties are provided in the bill to enforce its provisions. In the case of corn, for example, a farmer marketing corn in excess of his quota is to be fined 15 cents for each bushel sold in excess of the quota. The bill makes the buyer responsible for determining that he is not buying "illegal" corn.

The estimated annual cost of operating the measure is $650,000,000.

Robert Ambrose, 32 years old, of 65 Maple street, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith on charges of assault and battery. On Jan. 23 Ambrose called the Avondale Nurses' registry at 4825 Montrose avenue for a nurse. Dorothy Jackson was sent, but returned saying Ambrose had made indecent proposals. It was found that Mrs. Helen Scott had responded to a similar call a week before with the same result. Ambrose said he was drunk and didn't know anything about it.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO BOOST RELIEF BY 250 MILLION

Writing Special Message to Go to House.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight worked on a special message to congress urging the immediate appropriation of an additional 250 million dollars to meet relief needs caused by the present depression.

The message will be sent to the house tomorrow or Friday, it was said. Action was taken in the house today to remove the restriction on extra appropriations which was tacked on the relief fund last year as an economy gesture.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported to be encountering embarrassment in phrasing the special message. Not only will the new appropriation throw the budget more out of kilter but it will emphasize the plight of industry and the fact that hundreds of thousands have lost their jobs in the last few months.

Plan to Retain 2,000,000.

The new appropriation is designed to keep on the Works Progress administration rolls about 2,000,000 men. If more money is not provided, congress was told today by Representative John J. Cochran [D., Mo.], 20 per cent or 400,000 of these men must be removed from the rolls on March 1.

The WPA was given a billion and a half dollars last year to carry on operations until the end of next June. The business recession, beginning last fall, was blamed by WPA officials for unexpected expenditures which have necessitated the appeal for an added quarter billion.

The President made his decision to ask for the new appropriation after a conference today with congressional leaders and acting WPA Administrator Aubrey Williams. Present were Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, Chairmen Carter Glass and Edward T. Taylor of the senate and house appropriations committees, respectively.

Detroit Conditions Cited.

Williams was reported to have told Mr. Roosevelt that the extra fund was needed primarily because of unexpected unemployment in Detroit and other large cities where the automobile industry predominates.

Needs for the fiscal year beginning July 1 also may be discussed in the message, it was learned. In his budget message Jan. 5 the President made a specific request for one billion 138 millions for relief in the 1939 fiscal year, but that figure may have to be revised because of bad business conditions, it was said.

Representative Cochran introduced a bill providing for the repeal of the provision in the current relief appropriation act which limited appropriations to one billion 500 million dollars.

Face WPA Reduction.

"Unless this provision is repealed so that we may vote more money," Cochran told the house, "I have official information that starting with March 1, the WPA would be required to reduce its load not less than 20 per cent and that further reductions would follow every fifteen days.

"At the time this provision was adopted, no one anticipated the present unemployment situation throughout the United States. It has been necessary to increase the load during the last few months to such an extent that the expenditures have gone far beyond the amount expected by the WPA for this period.

"We are faced with a situation, especially in the large cities, that will require the government to carry the present load until at least the middle of April. This cannot be done and comply with the provision in the appropriation act without virtually discontinuing the WPA work entirely during the months of May and June. It therefore becomes necessary to repeal this provision which will of course mean that there will be a deficiency appropriation required to meet the expenses to carry on the WPA work up to July 1.

"If the government were to separate 20 per cent of those now on WPA by March 1, it would throw on the local relief authorities hundreds of thousands of deserving citizens who would have no way to provide for themselves and families."

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The rapid infiltration of left wing elements into the second term administration of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia continued today.

At a secret session the mayor swore in as director of radio communications at WNYC—the administration's unit for air propaganda—Morris S. Novik, described as a labor liberal.

At the same time it was discovered that Borough President Stanley M. Isaacs of Manhattan will have two ardent left wing advisers, Simon W. Gerson, an out and out communist, as first assistant, and Gilbert Goodkind, a member of the American Labor party, also known for his radical views.

MRS. ORTON MATCHES MR. X. WITH MISSES R. AND S. IN COURT FIGHT

Accused by her estranged husband of intimacies with a Mr. X., Mrs. Marie M. Orton, a grandmother, yesterday charged that he had carried on affairs with a Miss R., a Miss S., and other unnamed women. Mrs. Orton, who is 61 years old and lives at 5204 Greenwood avenue, made her new accusations in an amended bill for separate maintenance filed with Judge Philip J. Finnegan. Her husband, Philo A. Orton, president of the Orton Crane and Shovel company, has a cross bill for divorce pending.

Mrs. Orton alleged that the affair with Miss R. lasted from 1927 or 1928 until 1931 or 1932, and said she could reveal the name of the person. She said the intimacy with Miss S. began in April, 1931, and was still going on when she filed suit last Dec. 2. Her husband kept an apartment for Miss S., took her to parties, lavished gifts on her and paid her tuition at school, the bill sets out.

Orton filed his cross bill after his wife's original action, which charged desertion. It set out that she met Mr. X. in Florida, brought him to their home, and learned to drink, swear, and smoke from him. The Ortons have three grown sons.

TWO SHAKEDOWN CHARGES VOTED ON GILLMEISTER

True bills charging confidence games were returned yesterday by the grand jury against William F. Gillmeister, a former state senator. He was held in $5,000 bonds on each of two charges.

Gillmeister is accused of having sought to collect money from former policemen to get them reinstated. One of them, Fred Parker of 814 Aldine street, said Gillmeister told him he had been commissioned by Mayor Kelly to deal with the former policemen to aid the mayor's Christmas fund.

Mayor Kelly testified last week that the story was ridiculous.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

GREEN DRAGONS OF UNTRUTH

By CALEB

ONLY a few generations ago it was a common thing for unscrupulous individuals to ruin their enemies by charging them with witchcraft.

It is not uncommon for political campaigns in this modern day to use somewhat similar tactics, for fantastic tales are often whispered around to discredit candidates.

Sometimes in business, unscrupulous people set tales going intended to be embarrassing or harmful.

This morning we would like to slay two green dragons of untruth which seem to pop up and down over this broad land now and again, usually about a leading store in each city.

THE first is that ownership has secretly been transferred to some foreign or sinister group.

Marshall Field and Company has not been bought by "outsiders," either during the last year or in any preceding year.

No other company or store, no group of people other than our own old owners and the present active management, has any distinguishable stake in our business or any voice in its operation or control.

The Scotch and New England complexion of our directorate and of our management has never changed since the early days of this business. The control of both our preferred stock and our common stock rests in the hands of the estates and families of our founder, former executives of this company and their families, and the present management. Five other groups, such as investment trusts, own a very small per cent of our stock among them. There are no other large blocks in any hands.

THE second is that a store has resorted to the equivalent of bribery—giving a woman a fur coat or other present to allay her anger after having offended her.

This is an old department store story. We have heard it in several parts of the country. But we know of no instance of its ever having been true. It is not true—it has never been true—in connection with Marshall Field and Company.

MOSCOW SEIZES 3½ BILLIONS OF CHURCH HOLDINGS

Russian Paper Admits Extinction Campaign.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 9.—Properties valued at 7 billion 150 million gold rubles [approximately $3,575,000,000] have been confiscated from Christian churches in Russia since bolshevism opened its war of extinction against religion twenty years ago, the Moscow Izvestia said today. It is the first bolshevik publication to give detailed figures on the result of the expropriation of Christian churches in Russia.

In addition, 1,700,000 acres of land have been nationalized, including 1,112 asylums, homes and schools; 436 dairy farms; 620 stock farms; 704 hotels and inns maintained by monks and nuns for pilgrims, and 277 hospitals.

Wipe Out Charity Groups.

During the past twenty years, reported Izvestia, 76 monasteries and convents were liquidated, which operated an additional 349 hospitals, 197 schools, 168 poorhouses, 48 sanatoriums and many other similar charitable institutions.

Before the world war, the paper continued, Russia harbored more than 100,000 congregations. Today less than 30,000 remain.

Admit Revival Indications.

Despite the persecution of church and religious leaders, and in some cases the extermination of congregations, Izvestia admitted that recently many indications have been noticed of a religious revival in Russia. It urged the Bezboshniki [Godless] Militant Atheist society intensify its campaign to wipe out religion.

The GPU [secret police] were urged to expose and arrest many thousands of wandering tinkers, peddlers, and other artisans who travel afoot through the countryside conducting religious services on collectivized farms and even penetrating factories to preach to workers.

Hoover Sails for Belgium; to Be Feted for War Work

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Former President Herbert Hoover sailed today on the liner Washington of the United States lines for a reception to be given him by the Belgian government in commemoration of his war relief work. Still occupying a semi-official status, he bore a diplomatic passport which he showed reporters to refute reports that he had asked for one and been refused.

This is his first trip to Europe since 1919, when he completed his Belgian relief work. He said he expected to spend ten days abroad.

SLAYER OF WIDOW SENTENCED TO DIE BY THREE JUDGES

Norristown, Pa., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Wendell Forrest Bowers was condemned today to die for the murder of Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, a widow, 38 years old, last Dec. 13. Presiding Judge Harold G. Knight read the verdict and sentence reached by three judges in a secret conference last night. The case was put in their hands by Bowers' surprise plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder as the trial opened Monday.

WOMAN BLASTS CHIVALRY POSE OF THE DEACON

Fred [The Deacon] Buckminster, who claims he never defrauded a woman in his long career as a confidence man, was identified yesterday by Miss Agnes Harter, 45 years old, 6544 Newgard avenue, as one of the men who swindled her out of $32,000 in 1932. Three years ago Miss Harter identified Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil as the other man in the swindle.

Miss Harter said she advanced the money to Weil, who posed as "Dr. Ludlow Frederic, German mining expert," and Buckminster to promote the sale of her copper mine near Missoula, Mont. Buckminster, who is 72 years old, will be arraigned in Felony court today on a charge of operating a confidence game. Weil jumped his bond in 1934 and is still missing.

Confesses Setting Blaze in Which 3 Persons Died

New York, Feb. 10 [Thursday].—(AP)—Deputy Fire Marshal Martin Scott early today announced that John Wade, 26 years old, had confessed setting a fire in which three persons were killed last New Year's morning and about fifty other blazes in the Greenpoint and Williamsburg sections of Brooklyn. Scott said the youth confessed he became an incendiarist after his mother, a brother, and a sister perished in a fire on Sept. 25, 1935. He denied starting that fire. The marshal quoted Wade as saying he started many fires in unoccupied baby carriages in hallways of Brooklyn apartments.

CHARGES CIO TIES COMMUNISTS TO ADMINISTRATION

Labor Chief Offers Proof at Senate Inquiry.

Communists Finance Meeting.

After the outlaw members had called the sitdown strikes in the winter of 1936-1937 in an effort to break the A. F. of L. agreements, Ryan said, Harry Bridges, communist C. I. O. leader on the west coast, came east to help form the rival National Maritime union.

"He addressed a meeting at Madison Square Garden which was paid for out of the treasury of the communist party," Ryan said.

Ryan testified, as previous witnesses had done, that the national labor relations board intervened after the A. F. of L. union had defeated the outlaw strike and called an election to determine whether the seamen wished to be represented by the A. F. of L. or the C. I. O.

Brands Conduct Unfair.

"Mrs. Herrick," he said, "came down to the docks and was met by Curran. 'Where are my boys?' she asked him. Curran went with her and they found the boys. We contend that the representatives of a government board that is supposed to be impartial should not walk down the docks and talk about 'my boys.' That is bound to influence the vote of the men."

After the elections had been conducted, the A. F. of L. agreements had been destroyed and the National Maritime union had been installed on most of the shipping lines, Ryan said the labor relations board turned its attention to the longshoremen on the gulf coast.

"We were having trouble down there in 1935 and I appealed to Mr. Madden, chairman of the labor board," Ryan said. "He told me the board couldn't do a thing because it had no jurisdiction. We went on negotiating with the ship lines and threatened to call out our longshoremen on the east coast and the west coast unless they would come to an agreement on the gulf coast.

Secretary Perkins Takes a Hand.

"I met Mme. Perkins [Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins] in the lobby of the Biltmore hotel in New York and she urged me not to do that. 'You have got agreements on the east coast and the west coast,' she said. 'Do you want to lose those? That's what will happen if you call them out just to help the men on the gulf coast.'

"I told Mme. Perkins I wasn't that kind of labor leader." [Meaning he would not sell out the men on the gulf coast to hold the contracts on the east and west coasts.]

"After we got an agreement on the gulf ports, the National Labor Relations board sent its regional director down there to make an investigation, just because Bridges asked for it. Now they're trying to wreck our agreement. Edwin S. Smith, one of the members of the labor relations board, told Bridges that just as soon as he got enough pledge cards, the board would order elections."

Picket Nonconnected Strikes.

Ryan said members of the National Maritime union on the New York water front were called off their jobs to do picketing and "goon squad service" in other lines of work. He repeatedly used the term "goon," the name of a creature with feathered arms and legs in a comic strip. But in the world of labor strife they are strong arm men beating up their own men in the guise of enemies to start trouble.

"A newspaper man—a friend of mine—who belongs to the American Newspaper guild, told me they were using Curran's men to picket the Brooklyn Daily Eagle," Ryan said.

"Curran told Mrs. Herrick that I was using 'goon squads' and she immediately protested to the police. Squads of policemen came down to the water front and then Curran's gang formed their own 'goon squads,' armed with baseball bats, to beat up their own men so they could accuse the International Longshoremen.

Ship Masters Helpless.

Senator Copeland, commenting on Ryan's testimony, said:

"There isn't a master on a ship today who dares to assert himself as a master. He knows that he has to face a committee of union delegates and that when he gets back ashore these spineless ship owners will take him off if he has any trouble with the seamen."

Ryan expressed opposition to the pending marine bill, recommended by the maritime commission, to extend the scope of the existing railway mediation board to the maritime industry. Senator Copeland explained to Ryan that it provided for the mediation of labor disputes.

"We don't feel that we could trust any commission appointed by the President if he gets his information from Mme. Perkins," Ryan said.

CRIME TOUR SLAYER, SENTENCED TO CHAIR, CHAINED IN HIS CELL

Tucker Prison Farm, Ark., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Despondent over his impending execution Lester Brockelhurst, 23 years old, Galesburg, Ill., crime tourist, was chained to the floor of his cell in the deathhouse here today.

Prison Superintendent Al Reed said he ordered Brockelhurst placed in leg irons after he failed in one suicide attempt. Reed said the prisoner became desperate a week ago when Gov. Carl E. Bailey fixed March 4 as the date for his electrocution for the hitch-hike slaying of Victor A. Gates, Little Rock landowner.

Bernice Felton, 19 years old, Rockford, Ill., companion of the condemned youth on an eighteen state tour that culminated with the Gates slaying, today won a nine months' extension of time before her schceduled trial at Little Rock on federal charges of transporting a stolen automobile across a state line.

Open Trial of Promoters in Gold Stock Fraud Case

Trial of two men charged with violating the Illinois securities act by defrauding 430 persons of $85,000 through the sale of fraudulent gold mining stock, opened yesterday before a jury and Judge Albert Isley in the County court. Six witnesses told of purchasing stock in the West Coast Minerals Company, Ltd. The defendants are William L. Dickelman, 3827 Wilton avenue, and Scott R. Weinland, 1451 East 71st place. A third defendant, Dr. Jesse W. Ritter, 16 North Wabash avenue, a dentist, was dismissed on motion of the state.

PETER FAHRNEY PAINTED AS RICH YOUNG MAN OF 6

Lawyers Draw in Some Town, Country Estates.

Peter Fahrney was portrayed yesterday in Superior court as a fortunate young man who has an annual income of $15,000 at the age of 6, an Astor street town house, and estates in the south and in Wisconsin.

This view of little Peter was offered in contrast to a previous picture that the members of his family are arrayed against him in an attempt to cut down his possible share in the $3,500,000 patent medicine fortune left by his great-grandfather, Dr. Peter Fahrney.

After arguments were completed by the last of four attorneys involved in the complicated litigation, Judge Grover C. Niemeyer said he would make his decision this morning.

The Point at Issue.

The point at issue is whether Peter should share as a grandson of Dr. Fahrney or as a great-grandson. After his mother, Merry Fahrney, got her first divorce in 1933, her father, the late Emery Fahrney, and his wife, now Mrs. Theodore Hardeen Jr., adopted Peter.

If Peter is considered a great-grandson he will share only as an eventual heir through Merry. If he is considered a grandchild Peter will share equally with Merry and her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Saemann, who has been declared incompetent.

Every one but Peter's attorney and guardian ad litum, Maclay Hoyne, things he should be considered only as a great-grandchild.

Offers Comforting Facts.

"It should relieve Mr. Hoyne, if he doesn't know it already," said Attorney J. Fred Reeve, representing Mrs. Hardeen and Mrs. Saemann, "to know that Peter is a beneficiary under a $1,000,000 trust created by his adopted father before he died.

"Peter's income is about $12,000 a year. He also has a $3,000 income from a $50,000 trust set up for him alone in Mr. Fahrney's will. He has a lovely Astor street home [Mrs. Hardeen's], a southern home [Mrs. Hardeen's], and a Wisconsin estate [Mrs. Hardeen's], with beautiful trees and trout streams.

Sees Reason for Envy.

"One can't help envying little Peter. I deplore the misconception that Mrs. Hardeen is opposing Peter. Whether rightly or wrongly she believes there is enough income piling up for Peter from his trusts."

Attorneys Floyd E. Thompson and Frank Cantwell, representing Peter's own mother, who obtained her third divorce recently, agreed with Attorney Reeve that Peter should not share as a grandchild. Attorney J. L. Vette, who drew Dr. Fahrney's will in 1904, represents the trustees who brought suit to construe the will.

Sanitary Sewer Proposed for Part of Lake Forest

The board of local improvements of Lake Forest has notified thirty-one property owners in the southeast section of the suburb that a three mile sanitary sewer may be constructed if they will bear all except $10,000 of the $140,000 cost. There are many large estates in the section. All now have septic tanks.

GAS FLOWS AGAIN IN STERLING AREA AS FLOOD ABATES

River Begins Fall After Reaching Record.

Sterling, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Gas service which flood waters had cut off from 25,000 residents of a part of Sterling and six nearby towns was restored tonight as the overflow from the swollen Rock river receded.

For twenty-four hours gas users in the east end of Sterling and in Dixon, Oregon, Mount Morris, Polo, Morrison, and Rock Falls had been deprived of their supply. Lines were reopened after mud left by the flood was cleaned from compressors in the Illinois Northern Utility company's plant.

Flooded Factories Shut.

Some 5,000 workers in factories that use gas in their operations were thrown out of employment during the day. Six flooded factories were still closed. Householders who used gas for heating were in distress and cooking was a problem while the service was off. Several restaurants served only cold lunches.

After surging to the highest level in history here the river stage dropped nearly three feet in twenty-four hours. An ice gorge between Sterling and Erie still held firm, but an upriver gorge between here and Dixon was breaking.

Rail Trestle Sandbagged.

Supports of a railroad trestle across the river between Sterling and Dixon were sandbagged to protect it from the terrific ice pressure. An approach to a bridge that connected the route between Geneseo and Hillsdale was destroyed and an ice jam menaced the bridge.

COURT APPROVAL OF CITY TAX LEVY WILL BE SOUGHT

An application for confirmation of the $72,705,480 city tax levy for 1938 will be filed in the County court today. Assistant Corporation Counsel Otho S. Fasig said he and Assistant State's Attorney Marshall V. Kearney will file the suit under the preadjudication act passed last year by the general assembly.

The deadline for filing objections to the levy will be March 9, Fasig said. The Illinois Supreme court is now considering a suit to test the constitutionality of the new law, which is designed to insure that all taxpayers will benefit from objections sustained by the court.

MEDILL SCHOOL REORGANIZED ON FIVE YEAR BASIS

N. U. Names Olson Dean of Journalism.

A reorganization of the Medill school of journalism at Northwestern university, making it the first institution of its kind in the country to be placed on a professional basis similar to schools of law and medicine, was approved yesterday by the university board of trustees.

Under the new plan, which will go into effect this fall, the journalism course will be lengthened from four to five years and education in the social sciences will be emphasized as a background for the specialized studies in editorial and advertising work. The regulations will enable the journalism faculty to select as students only those applicants who hold special promise of success in these professions.

Olson Becomes Dean.

The reorganization also includes the establishment of the Medill school as a separate branch of the university, removing it from the school of commerce. Prof. Kenneth E. Olson, present director of the journalism department, will now hold the rank of dean.

Students in the school will spend their first three years in general background courses in the liberal arts colleges and their last two years in the special courses in journalism. The master of science degree in journalism will be awarded at the end of the fifth year. Eligible students will receive degrees in liberal arts or commerce at the end of the fourth year, but will not be listed as Medill school graduates unless they complete the fifth year.

Program in Four Sequences.

Dean Olson said the new program is organized in four sequences: [1] News sequence, for students who will enter reportorial and editorial work; [2] newspaper business sequence, for students planning to enter advertising, circulation, or business departments of newspapers; [3] magazine and trade publication sequence, for those planning to write for, or to manage, such publications, and [4] teachers' sequence, for those who will teach a combination of English and journalism.

"If schools of journalism have any justification for existence," Dean Olson said in speaking of the outline of study, "it is to provide the kind of educational background that a newspaper man needs, plus just enough of technical and professional courses to make graduates immediately useful to their employers."

School Established in 1921.

The Medill school was established in 1921, being named after Joseph Medill, founder of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, at the suggestion of Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university. The school has graduated 580 students in its 17 years and now has an enrollment of 137, with a faculty of 15 members.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SIDELIGHT ON THE FARM PROBLEM.

Strictly speaking, of course, there is no farm problem in the sense that all farmers are confronted with precisely the same set of difficulties. Some farmers own their land and others are renters. Some farms are too big for a single family to operate and others are too small. There is an enormous diversity in crops, soils, and climates, and these differences are reflected in varying degrees of skill, education, and creature comforts possessed and desired by farmers.

But there is at least one difficulty which is common to the vast majority of farmers, regardless of what they grow or where they grow it. The common factor is remoteness from the ultimate consumer of their products. A few farmers, producing eggs, fruit, nuts, etc., deal directly with the consumer, but the vast majority of farmers do not and, in the nature of things, cannot.

The manufacturer of cotton cloth reaches his final customer through a number of intermediaries, to be sure, but is in relatively intimate contact with his market. He keeps close watch on style trends and other evidences of the consumer's tastes and requirements. The manufacturer never forgets the ultimate consumer; the farmer seldom is obliged to think of him. The farmer delivers his cotton to the gin and there the matter ends so far as he is concerned.

The same thing is true, though in varying degree, with most farm products. It is for that reason that it has been relatively easy for agitators to inflame the farmer against his immediate customers. The farmer, being relatively unmindful of the ultimate consumer, is easily persuaded when prices are low that Wall street, La Salle street, or some other vaguely defined group of conspirators is at work.

In consequence of these demagogic appeals and the governmental action that resulted from them, the farmer's difficulties have actually been increased. Restriction of the markets and punitive taxes on trading in farm products have contributed importantly to the difficulty of marketing a crop. The time was when the purchaser of farm commodities had a relatively easy task in selling abroad what was not needed at home. Stupid and unscrupulous politicians have allowed much of the foreign market to be lost and have impeded the free flow of products into the domestic market. As usually happens when paternalism is introduced into such economic relations, both producer and consumer have suffered. The producer gets less than he otherwise would, the consumer finds prices higher, and the only beneficiary is the burocracy.

In spite of interferences, some closing of the gap between the farmer and the consumer has been observable in recent years. Processors have made a fair start in the use of advertising to sell branded goods of all kinds and thus increase the demand for farm products. Retailers have coöperated. This kind of promotion has frequently been frowned upon by the theorists in Washington, but it has gone ahead in spite of obstacles to the considerable advantage of the farmers. The recent conference in Chicago under the auspices of the Institute of Meat Packers was valuable in emphasizing the proper way to increase farm income—by widening the market, not by decreasing the output.

In a different direction the farmers have not fared so well. An important agency in the sale of food products is the public restaurant. Many of these institutions are now selling entertainment as their principal item and food as a by-product. Many restaurant managers regard their rôle as purveyors of entertainment as more important than their rôle as purveyors of food. Gastronomy and entertainment are in competition, but the food has to be sold at a price which will pay for the theatricals, thus often discouraging consumption. If the farmers were closer to their market they would realize the value to them of stimulating an interest in the art of cooking.

THE MIDWEST FORGOTTEN.

Within the last few years Albany has been clamoring for recognition as an Atlantic seaboard port. Promoters claim definite advantages over Manhattan and Boston because of its inland location at the eastern end of the New York state barge waterways, more familiarly known as the Erie canal. There is one drawback that places this new seaport in the same category as Montreal and Quebec. Ice has always closed the Hudson river to ship navigation during the winter months.

During the present winter a determined effort has been made to show that this handicap can be overcome. The British ship Manchester Spinner, with the assistance of a coastal ice-breaker, battled its way up the river during the last week in January to clear from Albany's elevators on Feb. 1 with a load of corn. Long stretches of the Hudson were free of ice, but there were barriers at West Point and at other places where the crusher's assistance was necessary.

Similar obstructions delay the opening of navigation on the Great Lakes for long periods during the spring of each year. Long after our inland seas are completely clear the ice bridges at the Soo, the strait of Mackinac, the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, and the eastern end of Lake Erie make through navigation impossible. As there is little intralake transportation except on Lake Erie, navigation is obliged to mark time because of the existence of a few miles of the same type of ice packs as the government crusher found at West Point.

Last year various shipping companies combined to employ the railroad car ferry Chief Wawatam to clear the strait of Mackinac, but the operation was hazardous because the vessel was not built for that purpose. Nobody can deny that if the government has money to spend on ice-breakers the interstate business of the Great Lakes should have first call—certainly before a project to assist Albany in competing with New York. That is beside the point, however. The midwest is "back country."

AN ACCEPTABLE PLATFORM.

The resolutions adopted by the conference of little business men in Washington were subjected to much official blue penciling and rewriting before they were presented at the White House. The vigorous language of the delegates was watered down and the recommendations were in part twisted out of their original meaning.

But when the censors had finished their job of alteration and omission the platform still was highly creditable to the delegates. The burocrats had not dared eliminate the essential thought in the minds of the great majority of the conferees: that the current wave of unemployment and poor business results directly from unsound policies instituted in Washington.

It is a good platform as it stands and, with very few changes, will be acceptable to the nation as a guide to congress and the President. The planks calling for the repeal of the undivided profits tax, for an end of government ventures into business, for a balancing of the budget by curtailing wasteful expenditures, for an end to governmental experimentation, to pick a few items at random, express views which are shared by almost all responsible citizens.

Administration leaders seem to have expected the conference to concentrate upon demands for a hand-out from the government, comparable to the subsidies granted to other economic interests. The hope was largely disappointed and quite naturally so. Every business man, whether he heads a giant corporation or runs a shoe repair shop, knows that as a group business men, using the term in its broadest sense, must provide all the money that is paid in wages and taxes; furnish all the credit, private and public; buy all the securities. If business is not allowed to function successfully everything else must collapse.

The little business men adopted resolutions which drove that thought home. Establish, or rather, reëstablish an atmosphere friendly to honest enterprise and the recession will yield. Fail to do so and the decline is bound to deepen. The overwhelming majority of competent citizens accepts that thesis and wants it adopted.

CHRISTIANITY AND DEMOCRACY.

Alfred Landon reminded his fellow Methodists at the United Methodist council last week that "Christianity has a great stake in the preservation of democracy." What has happened or is happening to the church in the reaction against democracy in Europe ought to make that clear, but there is a certain irony in the fact that the political and economic sympathies of many clergymen in the Methodist and other communions are far from conducive to the preservation of democracy. This is one of the striking results of that effort, indorsed apparently by Mr. Landon, "to think in practical, everyday terms." But we think that if our radical preachers would abandon their political activities in favor of their religious function the preservation of both Christianity and democracy would be better served and we should have fewer ruined men drinking denatured alcohol in the refuges. The "organization of economic justice," which the council announced as one of its goals, we are old fashioned enough to believe is more likely to be furthered by clergymen who devote themselves to their pastoral duties and to the inspiration of their flocks to right conduct rather than by preachers who become partisans of political or economic programs. No machinery will produce economic justice. Justice of any kind comes from the human conscience and it is the enlightenment and inspiration of the conscience which is the special charge of the church and its servants.

THE FIRST AMENDMENT.

No more plain and conspicuous demonstration has been given the country in recent years of the importance of free speech and free press than the appointment of Stanley Reed to the Supreme court. There can be no reasonable doubt that the outburst of indignation throughout the country against the selection of Senator Black prevented another appointment of similar motive and irresponsibility. That protest was led by a free press. Thanks to it we now have a judge whose opinion, we may confidently expect, will be founded upon what he sincerely believes to be the law and the facts. There will never be this confidence in the opinions of Justice Black. If circumstances call for further appointments to the court and they should be made with the same lack of regard for the prestige and responsibilities of the court as the Black appointment, the highest tribunal of the republic must suffer a fatal blow and with it the republic itself.

Editorial of the Day

TAIL WAGS THE DOG.

[Pulaski (Ill.) Enterprise.]

The story of the tail that wags the dog told at the Jackson day dinner, now quite famous, brought many smiles. It is true in business and, for the specific benefit of those who follow leadership in political parties, it is true of them.

A group of 100 leading Democrats, dominated by President Roosevelt, wags the entire Democratic party of millions of men. What that inner council says goes. It wags the party. The same was true of the Republican party. We call them bosses and leaders in politics and in business they are the presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, and treasurers.

We laugh when it is told that about 4 per cent of the stockholders in utilities control them. No doubt that it is true. We know of concerns, such as banks, where the directors, not owning 20 per cent of the stock, control the bank. We have even seen a non-owner of stock hold proxies of 50 per cent of owners on an institution whose total assets did not miss a half million very much.

Those things prevail. They prevail in churches. In nearly every church a group of five or six families, perhaps ten in some, really control the church and decide who the minister shall be, if a call is to be made, or the roof is to be patched. We know of one church where ten members practically wag a church of 300.

The tail wags the dog, if you wish to put it that way, or the leader dominates the business, politics, and the church. It is funny to tell, but it is true. And if those who manage, control, and lead are called "tails," what then shall the eminent speaker say of himself when he is one of the persons who "wag" his political party very vigorously?

GETTING WARMER.

"In Monday's Line Mrs. Firebaugh wrote that when she saw the John Bunyan tankard the professor in England is trying to locate, it was in the possession of Miss Mary Callahan. A year or two ago Miss Callahan died in Portland, Ore., leaving her home with its furnishings and a wonderful collection of interesting things collected during her travels to the family of my husband's brother. We are writing today to see if the tankard could be among these or if they have any knowledge of its whereabouts.

NOSTALGIA.

Here, in my little home town. Down the street
They walk more slowly, sighing as they greet
Each other; telling tales so often told;
Deploring modern ways; all unconsoled
And out of step with Life; all in retreat
Down sunset paths; all bowing to defeat
Who once were so invincible and bold.

I watch, and think of one small college town
I used to know, where Youth perpetual
Forever marches bravely up and down
Streets hedged with evergreens; where, every fall,
Life is renewed, with dreams and warm desires,

THE HIGHER LEARNING IN LIBERIA.

A native of Liberia, a country which apparently has no university, wrote a visiting bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church his suggestions for one, which the University of Chicago magazine picks up from the Harvard Alumni Bulletin:

"Dear Bishop Kroll,

"I heard that you are in Liberia, would you mind if I would suggest these things . . . Now I think the Episcopal Church of Liberia should start the first university of Liberia. Let it be small but of higher learning. . . . Now let this University be up to date. Have University clubs have the men's Glee club to sing like University Glee Clubs of U. S. A. Now have different clubs, fraternities. I've designed the fraternity Hall, let it be a square shaped modern concrete building. Now have a young college boy trio to sing all the popular songs let them dress collegiate with polo shirts and different college clothes. Have the boys cheer for the different games. Have baseball and all sports. Now let the collegiates have their parties. Now let the main building be a modernistic 3 story square building of concrete. . . . Now have a large concrete swimming pool. Now a beautiful assembly hall and a theater to have plays. Teach acting and dramatics. Teach them how to run business. Now teach playing jazz music. Have a beautiful modernistic chapel. . . .

"Let the athletics wear beautiful colorful uniforms with athletics shorts. Let them have sweaters have words saying U. L., means University of Liberia. Have a wonderful basketball team, golf, and boxers. Even train and send boxers to America to fight. These things will make Liberia well known. Start this University things soon. . . . The people of Liberia should walk fast and be in a rush constantly especially in the business section. . . .

WINTER WARNINGS.

THE colder season of the year demands greater alertness on the part of many. Even in the south, damp days with a bit of chill in the air may take away enough heat from the body to predispose one to infections somewhere within the body.

Ice and snow add materially to the hazards of travel, while slippery walks, pavements, and steps are responsible for many broken bones. Strangely enough the back steps are far more dangerous than those which face the street. The reason seems to be that we use more decorum in emerging at the front. Then, too, it may be that we are not quite as careful in cleaning the walk and the stoop in the rear of the house.

"A stitch in time saves nine." While you may never lose your footing on an ice covered surface, it is far wiser to observe some simple precautions. Sand will help; likewise coarse salt. If you would be really fancy, purchase a few pounds of commerical calcium chloride and sprinkle it on glassy steps.

I do not know why it is that some individuals will persist in retaining within the home every atom of warm air. We desire comfort above all things, hence many will bank up the foundation with earth, batten down the windows so that none can be opened, even crowding the cracks full of cotton or tow. The old custom is mentioned in Bliss Perry's delightfully chatty autobiography. He relates that in the fall all the boys helped calk the window sash with cotton so that no breath of fresh air could enter between November and May. The chances are, however, that while this routine is still preserved in some places, it is far less harmful than might be supposed. There are probably leaks enough so that the air is renewed despite the sealing process.

But the heating problem requires some thought. Dozens of conflagrations will follow every big drop in the temperature, because furnaces and stoves are pushed to the limit. Many of us can remember that when we built a roaring fire in the old kitchen stove the pipe would become red hot. No portion of the household machinery needs more attention than the furnace. Not only must the flues be open and clear to prevent the backward flow of carbon monoxide, but we must make certain that no combustible material is in the proximity of a spark, a clinker, or an overheated flue.

The fashion of starting fires with kerosene or gasoline has claimed hundreds of lives. Nevertheless, warnings against that unsafe practice must be repeated over and over again, because a new generation is ever appearing upon the scene. Only the other day the newspaper recorded two deaths from this cause—both occurring in one of our western states.

Overheated rooms, poorly ventilated with dry air, favor the spread of colds, nasal irritation, etc. There is a pernicious habit in which certain persons will persist—namely, sitting in a warm room bundled up as though prepared to face the blasts of Boreas. "No, I won't take off my coat; I am going to stay only a minute." The visit may be prolonged to an hour and when the over-clothed person encounters the outdoor air a sense of chill may be felt because of the perspiring skin.

I can't understand what fun some people get out of spreading colds to others. One of my business friends—the head of a large brokerage office—told me that three or four weeks ago his manager—a key man in the organization—felt that he was so essential to the business he could not afford to remain at home and care for his cold properly. He reported for work, barked and wheezed his way through the day, and was in contact with almost every member of the force. Ten days later one-third of the group were at home with respiratory infections. Before the episode ended all but six had lost from two to nine days each.

WATER DOESN'T HARM HAIR.

B. I. writes: Is it harmful to use water every day to keep the hair in place?

REPLY.

Water will not injure the hair, inasmuch as it evaporates rather quickly. If you are afflicted with a dry scalp, why not use an oily preparation? This will serve the purpose and at the same time protect the cuticle.

ROOM TEMPERATURE.

R. T. writes: What temperature is correct for the sleeping room during the winter?

REPLY.

From 60 to 65 degrees F. is satisfactory. If bed clothing is adequate a lower temperature may be tolerated. The room should be well ventilated.

NOT RECOMMENDED.

H. O. writes: What is your opinion about giving kerosene oil to children for chest colds?

REPLY.

It is not recommended.

MIGHT REPEAT TEST.

S. T. writes: My children, 10 and 13 years old, had the Schick test seven years ago.

Should they have another?

REPLY.

After so long a lapse of time it would be well for them to be tested again.

AGAINST SCARLET FEVER.

S. S. writes: At what age should scarlet fever inoculations be given?

REPLY.

They may be given by the time the child reaches the age of 1 year or shortly thereafter.

FOR DRYING PRUNES.

M. U. B. writes: Why are prunes treated with sulphur?

If prunes are soaked over night is some of the value lost?

REPLY.

Sulphur dioxide is used frequently in the curing process. No food value is lost by soaking the fruit in cold water.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile.—Bolivia, speaking through its military junta, has warned South America its patience has been exhausted by the procrastination of the Chaco peace conference, which threatens to last longer than the Chaco war itself. The warning was followed by publication of the Bolivian defense budget of 86,700,000 pesos. The pre-Chaco war average was 20,000,000 pesos. Although the lower dollar value of the currency unit accounted for much of the increase, neighboring and mediating powers were alarmed by the Bolivian attitude, fearing a renewal of hostilities with Paraguay.

Fresh acquisitions by the Paraguayans also were reported. One arms shipment was said to be worth $200,000.

The stiffer Bolivian front developed after an agreement with Argentina whereby oil in eastern Bolivia will be piped out through Argentina, with the rail systems of the two countries linked via the La Quiaca-Villazon route.

Argentine diplomacy was believed to have made off with the most valuable bone on the Chaco peace table while contestants and mediators wrangled over the settlement. President German Busch of Bolivia, an army colonel, who is but 35 years old, admitted publicly that the Chaco war need never have been fought if previous governments of his country had sought "oil friendship" with Argentina.

Bolivia now will rely on Argentina to hasten a peace settlement in Bolivia's favor. The Bolivians are annoyed because Paraguay has hung on to the boundary established by the armistice. It overlooks the rich oil fields. Despite all protests to the contrary, therefore, oil appears to have been the decisive factor in the beginning, conduct, and armistice regulations of the South American jungle war.

The Argentine-Bolivian agreement gives Bolivia an Atlantic outlet for its oil, free of duty, but also reserves for Argentina the right to buy and sell all Bolivian fuel it may require for its own use. Economically and strategically the republic of the River Plate will gain enormously by the agreement.

Brazilian temper has not been improved by this Argentine scoop, though Bolivia is trying to make amends in restoring "continental equilibrium" by granting concessions to Brazil on its northeastern frontier.

An agreement has been reached between Brazil and Bolivia to build a rail connection to Corumba from Santa Cruz so that Brazilians can participate also in the envied oil wealth.

Brazilian diplomacy always has opposed any Argentine sponsored rail connection with Santa Cruz, but realizes that, so far, geographical conditions have favored the southern republic in the contest to dominate the Bolivian oil business. Incidentally, Argentine diplomacy did not become acquisitively active until Bolivia had dispossessed the Standard Oil company, which did practically all the pioneering and development in the eastern fields.

The Bolivians confiscated the wells on the allegation that Standard Oil secretly piped oil under the Bermejo river frontier to Argentina. The Bolivia state monopoly took over the business, though a diplomatic and legal fight continues.

ESTATE DISTRIBUTION.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Feb. 17, 1937, my sister died in New York state. Her will is probated. In her will she said: "I give and bequeath the sum of $1,000 to my brother" [myself]. The rest of her estate she left in a trust fund and named the executor. Part of the will reads: "After paying therefrom all lawful expenses and charges, to apply the income thereof to the support, care, and maintenance of my brother during his lifetime—to apply for his support so much of the principal thereof each year which, together with the income of that year, will make a total of $700 a year." Am I not entitled to $1,700 on or before Feb. 17, 1938? P. A.

Ordinarily there is no distribution until the period for filing claims has expired and the estate has been closed. At this time the estate will come into the hands of the trustee. The reference to income implies that the first payment would be a year later. We could advise to better advantage if the entire wording were before us.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

EXECUTORSHIP.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—When a younger son has been made executor of an estate of a deceased parent [who met sudden death] and whose position of executor has been [1] instructed by surviving parent, who suffered severe head injuries in same accident and positive evidence is shown whereby elder son's name has been omitted in [2] filing rights to heirship to the clerk of the Probate court, but due to presence of wife of said eldest son [3] correction of same was made at said time and duly sworn to by surviving parent, [4] what course do you advise in further protecting said son's rights?

5. We have every reason to assume that further complication will arise, especially in view of the fact that surviving parent is very poorly and not as mentally alert as one should be in matters of such nature. Due to the fact that executor [6] changed lawyers twice during a space of four months and that [7] no conference was held at any time which would bring together all of the children, not even the surviving parent, [8] what can the heirs, excluding executor, do to protect themselves? 9. Is it possible for one of the heirs to retain his own counsel against any further danger of collusion and fraud? W. F.

1. This wording does not seem to make sense in its context.
2. Rights are not "filed." If what you mean is that the proof of heirship is erroneous we suggest that you talk with the clerk of the court about a possibility of correction.
3. If the correction has been made it is not clear why you are writing to us.
4. See 3.
5. If you feel this way about it, then it might be worth while for your peace of mind to employ an attorney.
6. We are not in a position to say that this was not justified by the facts.
7. He is under no legal obligation to confer with the others.
8. Unless additional showing can be made that the executor is incompetent or dishonest it does not seem likely that any change can be made, but the heirs can employ attorneys to watch the procedure, if they so desire.

MORE MACHINE GUN HISTORY.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The letter on machine guns which was published today in this column does not present a complete picture.

On April 12, 1916, an American force was defeated by Mexicans at Parral, and a troop of American cavalry was annihilated at Carrizal on June 21, 1916, because the Mexicans had machine guns and the Americans had none.

Machine guns were introduced in the American army in the summer of 1916 by the 1st Illinois cavalry. The late Ogden Armour guaranteed the cost and Charles G. Dawes began his work as purchasing agent for the army by raising the money for these guns.

They were Lewis guns, being made by the thousands in American factories for England, and the permission of the British ambassador was necessary for their purchase for American troops.

When the American army went to France it bought French machine guns and French Chauchat automatics of one caliber. The outmoded Springfield rifles were of still another caliber, so that because of the inefficiency of the American ordnance department two different calibers of small arms ammunition had to be provided, in addition to pistol ammunition.

The Chauchat, like the American Browning automatic which was made in small quantities from 1918, could not be held on the target as the heavy machine guns and the light Lewis machine guns could be. Its only value, therefore, was that it sounded like a machine gun and tended to intimidate the enemy but could not hurt him. 122 F. A.

UNEDUCATED FEET.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—The letter in today's TRIBUNE, entitled "Uneducated Feet," I take it, was written by a woman; it refers only to "ignorant, ill bred or ill mannered males." The author complains about the manner in which these males place their feet while riding on the "L," street cars and buses, so that "the rest of us have to wipe their dirty shoes on our clothes."

As one who rides buses, street cars, elevated trains and suburban steam trains daily, I find that the women are the worse offenders in this respect and I never board a public conveyance that I don't pay particular attention to this. I have noticed that nine out of every ten women, immediately upon taking a seat, throw one leg up over the other one, with the crossed leg sticking out in front of them. I have noticed, too, that on a crowded vehicle, when it becomes necessary for other passengers to stand in front of them and cling to straps, these cross-leggers will seldom change their positions.

Very few men cross their legs—the reason probably being that they hesitate to muss the crease in their trousers. I am patiently waiting for the day when all women will adopt trousers and thus eliminate this cross-leg menace.

LEARNING TO FLY.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—If the big moguls who put on the air show want the public to become air-minded and buy airplanes, why don't they teach us how to fly the darned things? They make a grand spectacle of the show, impressing one with scientific miracles instead of demonstrating how easily and safely the modern small airplane can be operated.

Flying instruction in the Chicago area should be more easily obtained and more reasonably priced. To get a private pilot's license, federal law requires eight hours dual instruction and thirty-five hours solo time. In this vicinity it costs an average of $6 per hour [with or without an instructor] to fly a $1,500 plane, the smallest available, making it necessary to spend about $250 before the prospective buyer can make use of his purchase. Where would the automotive industry be with such a handicap? This rate could easily be reduced if the problem were approached in a businesslike manner. But inventors are rarely good business men. Aviation is not convincing the average man that the airplane is either desirable or practicable, and it needs new men in its ranks to capitalize on opportunities already at hand.

HAPPY ENDING.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—I wish to thank the lady who gave the little colored girl carfare and directed her home on Saturday; also the street car conductor. She was left on the street car. She got off at 93d and Cottage Grove about 2 o'clock and got lost from a group of children.

PIANO LESSONS IN SCHOOL.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—I read the letter from A. S. complaining about the piano lessons in the public schools. Is A. S. a disgruntled teacher who hasn't enough private piano pupils, or a mother whose darling didn't make the grade in school?

Chicago taxpayers pay only the salary of one woman, an assistant supervisor in the music department.

The class piano teachers do not receive any salary. They are paid directly by the parents. The only thing the teachers receive from the board is the permission to teach in the schools. Class piano is not compulsory.

If A. S. would go down to one of the class piano recitals that are held in Kimball hall yearly, where several hundred children play most artistically, she could not again say that the interest in music was killed forever.

Class instruction enabled many children to study piano during the depression whose parents could not possibly afford to pay more than 25 cents. Would you deprive the children of that opportunity?

Many of the class piano teachers have their bachelor and master of music degrees, and are as fully equipped to teach successfully as any teacher in any branch of the Chicago schools, so the children are taught as expertly in the first steps as they are in the first grade in school.

Let me straighten out another point. Unless the mother coöperates with the teacher and sees that the child practices at home, it doesn't make any difference whether one pays 25 cents or $10 for the lesson, the child makes no progress.

DO YOU, BY ANY CHANCE, SELL 'EM?

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Perhaps the gentleman who recently decried in this column the use of pile fabrics in today's automobile might be interested in pertinent information about these materials with which he is undoubtedly unfamiliar.

The writer has definitly experienced in other localities the painful results of sudden stops by lether upholstered taxicabs. Many a time has he been ejected from the rear seat or sidewiped from the port to the starboard in a cab. But we Chicagoans can praise Allah that our cabs are upholstered in pile fabrics which mesh with our clothing and hold us comfortably in place. This very fact in itself improves posture and obviates slumping in the seat. Consequently a constant alertness to road hazards.

Always have I specified a pile material in my cars for it's easy on the clothes—no danger of a shine on the pants which only too readily results from the constant movement and friction caused by flat fabrics rubbing against each other. Then there's the cleaning angle. Just using the vacuum or rubbing with soap and water works wonders.

And I almost forgot to mention my experiences on cross country treks in the summer. My posterior on a torrid day does not feel as if it's been on the griddle.

CENSORSHIP.

Gary, Ind., Feb. 5.—Many thanks to you for the most interesting articles by Walter Trohan on the meeting of small business men at Washington this week. Particularly are we grateful that Mr. Trohan has given us the recommendations as "revised" by the Roper committee. Apparently the administration can't take it straight from the shoulder. What are they afraid of?

The little business men did a good job and gave us a good platform upon which to build reëmployment. It was written with a punch that was lost in the revision.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Can people who receive old age pension checks be reported for misusing the money? I know several who do. Their checks come hurriedly over to the tavern to treat the boys. G.O.P. COMPLETES STATE SLATE; 2 ADDED BY HORNER

Cook County Republicans Fill Allotted Posts.

BY PARKE BROWN.

State slate making advanced another step yesterday in the Republican camp and in the Horner Democratic organization. In each instance two candidates were picked for the April primaries.

Joyful over the harmony achieved in the slate making at Urbana on Monday and Tuesday, a subcommittee of the Cook county Republican central committee met at the Hotel La Salle and chose Frederick A. Virkus for congressman at large and George Lambur Jr. for clerk of the state Supreme court.

The Urbana conference left these two places to Cook county. Action of the subcommittee completed the regular G. O. P. slate, headed by State Representative Richard J. Lyons for senator. The report now only awaits adoption by the county committee next Monday.

Hails End of Factionalism.

Representative Lyons, who came from his home in Libertyville to visit the Chicago headquarters, was given a cordial reception by the slatemakers at their session yesterday. Briefly he expressed his appreciation for the welcome.

"We recognize," he said, "that the action by the Urbana conference means the end of factionalism and sectionalism in our party in Illinois. Factionalism and sectionalism now go into the discard to be replaced by good old fashioned Republicanism.

"As I said at Urbana, you may look forward now to an active, statewide campaign. On every street corner in every hamlet in the state, wherever it is possible to carry my campaign, I'll carry it to the people. This primary campaign is going to be a call to arms for America and American principles of government."

Virkus, whose running mate for congressman at large is State Senator Simon Lantz of Congerville, is a book publisher. He was the Republican nominee for congress in the 6th district in 1936. Chairman Edward F. Moore called him into the committee room and notified him formally of his selection.

Relative of Deneen Leader.

Lambur, an insurance agent, is a son-in-law of James A. Kearns, veteran Deneen leader who has been alderman, clerk of the Municipal court, and city treasurer. He was introduced and promised that his record would reflect credit on the Republican party as well as on himself.

The steering committee of the Horner organization met at Springfield at the call of F. Lynden Smith, director of public works, and named two candidates for congressman at large. They are Prof T. V. Smith of the University of Chicago, now state senator from the 5th district, and Thomas O'Hern, a Peoria attorney. The committee failed to act on the one place remaining open on the Horner ticket, that of superintendent of public instruction. The office is now held by John A. Wieland of Calumet City, who is seeking renomination with the indorsement of the Cook county central committee.

Place to Cook County Man.

In their selection of candidates for congressman at large the Horner leaders turned down one of the downstate incumbents, Lewis M. Long of Sandwich, who is to be included in the Cook county state slate when it is adopted, probably next week. There was comment that Long's place was assigned to a Cook county man, Senator Smith, since O'Hern, the other man slated, is considered to be running for the seat now held by a fellow Peorian, E. V. Champion, who is not seeking renomination.

Although a newcomer to statewide politics, Attorney O'Hern is a brother of Charles V. O'Hern, chairman of the Peoria county central committee and a member of the state central committee. His wife is chairman of the Peoria Women's Democratic organization.

Those placed on the Horner slate at a downstate conference last week were Congressman Scott W. Lucas for United States senator, Speaker Louie E. Lewis for state treasurer, and Adam Bloch for renomination for clerk of the Supreme court.

PRESIDENT NAMES A. A. BERLE JR. FOR ASSISTANT TO HULL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Adolf A. Berle Jr. of New York, long an administration adviser, to be an assistant secretary of state.

A. A. Berle Jr.

Berle would replace Hugh Wilson, who has been named ambassador to Germany. He is expected to serve as an executive assistant to Secretary Cordell Hull on trade and fiscal matters, and coördinate departmental activities.

The New Yorker now is professor of corporation law at Columbia university. During the early days of the Roosevelt administration, when he was listed as one of the "brain trusters," Berle was special counsel for the Reconstruction Finance corporation. In 1933 he was financial adviser of the American embassy in Cuba and in 1936 worked with Secretary Hull on details of the Pan-American conference at Buenos Aires.

FINAL ARGUMENT BEGUN IN TRIAL OF PAUL WRIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The state limited itself to a demand for conviction of murder in some degree today as arguments were begun in the trial of Paul A. Wright for the slaying of his wife, Evelyn, and his friend, John Kimmel, at the Wright home before dawn on Nov. 9.

J. Miller Leavy, assistant prosecutor, contended the airport executive, who is 38 years old, planned their deaths. He made no mention of any more drastic verdict than second degree murder with manslaughter as an alternative.

Jerry Giesler opened Wright's part of the scheduled two days of argument by calling him a puppet of fate—wholly without motive before he came upon the scene which he said shocked him into temporary unconsciousness. Wright testified he found his wife and Kimmel in an embrace.

The case may go to the jury late tomorrow or Friday morning.

AIR LINE RECEIVES PERMISSION TO RESUME SERVICE

Immediate resumption of passenger service by Northwest Airlines was authorized in Washington yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper. The air line was barred from carrying passengers last Saturday in any of its ships.

The company's largest ships, Lockheed Zephyrs, were grounded on Jan. 12, two days after one of them crashed near Bozeman, Mont. Ten persons were killed in the crash.

Smaller ships, known as Lockheed Electras, had continued to carry passengers until last Saturday. They will resume passenger service immediately and the larger ships will be placed in service as rapidly as structural changes can be made and tested.

SELFISH MOTIVES CHARGED TO FOES OF DIVERSION BILL

Wish to Cripple Lakes to Gulf Route, Say Backers.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Witnesses before the house rivers and harbors committee today accused lake states of having an ulterior motive in working against the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway.

"The suspicion is being created that there is a conflict between the Mississippi valley navigation interests and the Great Lakes navigation interests, and that the attempt is being made to cripple the freight movement along the Mississippi valley route," John D. Klorer of New Orleans said in indorsing the proposal to divert Lake Michigan water.

Waterway Without Water.

Klorer, chief of the New Orleans levee board, said if the Parsons bill were not passed permitting diversion of an annual average of 5,000 cubic feet of water a second through the Illinois-Mississippi waterway system the lakes-to-the-gulf navigation system would be without a water supply source.

Diversion would be limited by Supreme court decree, effective Dec. 31 next, to 1,500 second feet.

Klorer was one of four New Orleans advocates of the Parsons bill. All asserted it was important to the entire Mississippi river valley from the standpoint of cheap transportation rates and navigation.

"Mississippi river commerce has been facilitated by the diversion of certain waters from Lake Michigan without causing any injury or damage to those abutting the shores of that lake or to those using the water of that lake," he said.

Map Fight on Diversion.

MYSTERIOUS LETTER ENTERS INQUIRY INTO SLAYING OF MINISTER

St. Simons Island, Ga., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Testimony that a mysterious letter was found under the front door of the rectory of Dr. Charles H. Lee the night before he was killed by a sniper was reported at a coroner's inquest behind closed doors today. An informed source said a maid in the clergyman's residence testified she found an unpostmarked letter and handed it to Mrs. Lee.

The coroner's jury planned to obtain the letter in the hope it might shed light on the identity of the assassin who fired two bullets into the rectory Saturday night, one of which killed Dr. Lee, 71 years old, rector of Christ Episcopal church.

Chairman R. A. Gould of the Glynn county commission said the secret hearing was ordered in the belief witnesses would be less reluctant to tell what—if anything—they know about the shooting.

HEARING IS TODAY ON PLAN TO MOVE AIRPORT TRACKS

After a tour of the Chicago airport yesterday members of the city council aviation committee said they were ready for a public hearing today on the proposal to relocate the tracks of the Chicago Western and Indiana railroad which bisect land available for airport expansion, to the north boundary of the tract.

Bryan Hartnett [12th], chairman, said he plans to ask the transportation committee to request that the Chicago Surface Lines remove their trolley wires on Cicero avenue and install buses. As Mayor Kelly has suggested, Ald. Hartnett said this would increase the effective use of the east-west runway by 520 feet.

JUDGE CANCELS HUSBAND'S AD, BOUGHT FOR WIFE

It was very embarrassing indeed, Mrs. Lillian Gerstein said yesterday, when a number of young men began writing her letters and coming around to her house at 3535 Palmer street.

They were answering a newspaper advertisment over her name which said that a young woman desired to place some suitable young man in business. Mrs. Gerstein, who is 30 years old, suspected her husband, Harold, placed the ad to annoy her.

Under cross-examination by her attorney, Irving Greenfield, Gerstein admitted he had. Judge Philip J. Finnegan warned him to stop it. His wife is suing for separate maintenance. Gerstein paid an alimony arrearage of $20 for her and their baby, Gloria.

AUTO KILLER OF 2 IS ARRAIGNED ON MURDER CHARGES

Bond Is Set at $17,500; Wins Continuance.

James Vallera, whose automobile killed two persons and injured three others Sunday night, yesterday won a continuance until March 4 when arraigned in Felony court before Judge Oscar Caplan. He is held on two charges of murder and three of assault with intent to kill.

The delay was granted to await the outcome of the inquest, which opened Monday and was continued indefinitly until the injured persons can testify.

Ignores State Demand.

Judge Caplan set bond of $5,000 in each murder charge and $2,500 in each assault count for a total of $17,500, although the state had demanded $20,000 in each murder charge.

Policemen testified that Vallera admitted he had several drinks shortly before his car plunged into a group waiting for a street car at 35th street and Western avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Doran of 2450 West 60th street were those killed.

Stephen Serafin, 4907 South Keeler avenue, died yesterday in County hospital of injuries incurred last Monday when he walked against an automobile at 47th street and Archer avenue. The car was driven by Michael Babiarz, 4643 Komensky avenue.

Wyatt Jackson, colored, 5717 Sheridan road, died in County hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by an automobile in front of 5129 Indiana avenue.

Hit by Truck, Dies.

Homer Robinson, colored, 3400 South Wabash avenue, died yesterday of injuries incurred Feb. 5 when he was struck by a delivery truck in State at 34th street. Heinie Moore, 4213 Calumet avenue, also colored, was driving the car.

William Crisson, 420 North Artesian avenue, died late Tuesday night after he was struck at Hubbard street and Western avenue on Jan. 21 by an automobile driven by Donald Winston, 1738 Wallen avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 125 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 104 were killed in Chicago, where 1,912 were injured in the same period.

Claude M. Baker Favored Over Howard by Printers

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Indorsements of Claude M. Baker as candidate for president of the International Typographical union today gave him a long lead over Charles P. Howard, incumbent and secretary of the C. I. O. Unofficial returns received at international headquarters here gave Baker, supporter of continued affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, indorsement of 158 locals, compared with thirty-six for Howard. Baker is vice president of the union. His home is in San Francisco. To get a place on the ticket for the national election in May a candidate must have indorsement of 50 of 860 locals.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Two New Turkeys

February 9, 1938.

THE arrival of two Bourbon Red gobblers from Indiana upset the quiet lives of the flocks in the barnyard at the Wheaton farm yesterday afternoon. Within a few minutes after the crate carrying the Hoosier toms was unloaded there was pandemonium.

While the two aristocrats surveyed their new home and posed for pictures, the other turkeys, guineas, chickens, and Muscovy ducks began quietly craning their necks to get a look at the newcomers. Between camera shots the Bourbon Reds emitted only a few muffled sounds, but they were loud enough to bring answers from all parts of the orchard, poultry yard and sheep pens.

When the photographer finished his work the new toms filled the air with a series of gobbles that brought calls from almost every turkey and guinea on the place. Lazy muscovy ducks put in a few quacks. Hens fluttered about and added their cackles to the music. Even the ewes and the lambs joined the chorus.

Old Pieface Stirs.

Old Pieface, the flockmaster's riding horse, stirred from his afternoon nap long enough to snort a disapproval of the noise. But his snorts started the gobbling and quacking all over again.

There was more than music in this barnyard drama. The rôle of a jealous villain was played by the wild gobbler that has been at the farm for two years. Just to show the two strange gobblers that he still was boss, this old tom, who has fought in many a feud in the Mississippi swamps, hopped up on the coop and crowded both birds off, and then struck a strutting pose, inviting the photographer to shoot.

Later when the three gobblers and the 15 hen turkeys were touring the poultry yard, one of the red gobblers accepted the Mississippi warrior's challenge and knocked him over a couple of times. A few minor scraps followed, but today the three gobblers were strutting peaceably together.

Brought from Indiana.

The new gobblers were bought from Mrs. John S. Capper of Green Acres farm, Star City, Ind. One of them weighed 27½ pounds and the other 29½ pounds when they reached the farm. They cost $10 each, or a total of $21.78, including express charges. The birds were hatched last April, and were selected from a flock of several hundred raised on the Capper farm.

The gobblers will be mated to the nine Bourbon Red and six Bronze hens kept for breeding purposes at the Wheaton farm this year. The Capper turkeys are distinctly marked. When the big birds strut their wings hang from their sides like great Bourbon Red capes bordered with white feathers.

The method followed in producing these plump breasted, short legged birds in the Capper farm's flock, one of the finest in the middle west, will be reviewed in this column later.

Usher for Nursing Council

Miss Joan Ford, one of the most sought after of amateur mannequins, wore this delectable dancing frock in one of the many fashion shows in which she took part this season. On Monday she is to assist at the Central Council for Nursing Education luncheon, not by modeling clothes, but by ushering, along with the Misses Eleanore Thompson, Carlotta Lagorio, Lucia Dixon, Joan Dixon, Mary Jane Elfborg, Nancy O'Neill and Jean Kellogg. The luncheon will be given at 12:30 o'clock in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

Jean C. Adams Has Stern Faith in Modernism

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Paintings by Jean Crawford Adams are on view in the Cordon club gallery, Fine Arts building. Miss Adams is a resolute modernist and she rarely lets her ability get ahead of her determination.

An infrequent charming picture, such as the "White Flower," shows how delightful her painting could be were she to take liberties with the morose cult of modern art more often. Meanwhile some of her modern compositions exude a remarkable vitality and force, felt strongly, for instance, in "Mother Earth" and "North Carolina Landscape."

The water colors have been so loosely washed in that it is difficult to be sure where picture ends and paper begins. Somehow we think an artist owes his public better than just a lick and a promise. The "Red Tray" goes to the other extreme, with a paint crowded canvas, but is the tray meant to be stranded on the top of a green flood? To the inquisitive eye it bobs like a gull on the surface of a choppy sea.

An exhibition of beautifully hand wrought glass is opening tomorrow in gallery G-5 of the Art institute.

All of the pieces have been designed by the American sculptor, Sidney Waugh, or by architects in the Steuben design atelier, under the direction of John M. Gates.

These pieces of glass rank well with the finest glass made in any century or any country. They are lovely in design and flawless in execution. The transparency of the glass is remarkable; so, too, is its beauty of line.

Chicago Girls Will Attend Cornell Prom

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE annual midwinter parties at eastern universities and colleges provide a gay respite following examinations and preceding a stretch of hard work that leads into the Easter holidays. Not only do the young women away at boarding school or college welcome invitations to "proms" or winter carnivals, but debutantes and post-debutantes who are spending the winter at home likewise are delighted to have a whirl in the east at college house parties.

To Cornell university at Ithaca, N. Y., this week-end will go a number of Chicago girls to take part in the festivities connected with Junior week, a traditional three-day period between terms, regarded as the highlight of Cornell's social season. The excitement will start today with an ice carnival on Beebe lake with Vera Hruba, Czechoslovakian ice skating champion, as guest star. The parties will last over Saturday.

The main event is the 56th annual Junior prom, to be held tomorrow night in the huge Drill hall, with two orchestras to play—and music will be broadcast from midnight to 12:30, so parents and alumni may share in the fun. The hall will be decorated à la South Sea Islands. A musical show, "Hells Bells," and innumerable smaller dances and tea dances will fill every waking hour [there will be few sleeping ones] for the students and their feminine guests.

Chicagoans to Enjoy Cornell's Gay Week-end.

Among the belles of the ball from Chicagoland will be Miss Tita Johnson, Miss Margot Webbe, Miss Patricia Gerould, Miss Patricia Austin, Miss Lucy McCoy, Miss Barbara Tennant, Miss Helen Talbot, Miss Esther and Miss Elizabeth Buchen, and Miss Cynthia Putnam.

Miss Johnson and Miss Austin are subdebutantes. The former, who will be introduced to society by her mother, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, next fall, is studying at Briarcliff Junior college. Her escort at the Cornell parties will be Van Cleve Booth of Elmira, who sings with the Cornell Glee club, and who was here with the club during the Christmas holidays. Pretty Miss Johnson will go to the Yale house parties next week-end with Walter Barries, whose home is in Stuttgart, Germany, and who transferred from the university in Munich to Yale for his junior year.

Miss Austin, daughter of the Edwin C. Austins, attends the Emma Willard school in Troy, N. Y. She will be the guest at Cornell of Charles B. Soule of Wilmette.

Miss Tennant, who is a student at the Finch school, will be the guest of Robert Nicol of Evanston. Miss Esther Buchen will go from Bryn Mawr to Ithaca to be the guest of Thomas Coleman of Madison, Wis., at the Chi Psi house. Her sister, who is at home in Winnetka this year, and Miss Talbot, who also lives in Winnetka, will be guests at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house. William H. North of Cleveland will be Elizabeth Buchen's escort, and Miss Talbot will be the guest of a Winnetka neighbor, Thomas M. Ware.

Miss Webbe, who attends Smith college, will be the guest of James Rutledge of Highland Park. Another Highland Park student, Malcolm Vail, has invited a Boston girl, Miss Marjorie MacDonald, to attend the parties.

Earle B. Vickery Jr. of Hinsdale is escorting an out-of-town girl, too—Miss Elizabeth Wilhelm of Sandusky, O. Miss Wilhelm and Miss McCoy, who lives in Evanston, are students at Wells college. The latter will be the guest of Charles M. Blunt of Longmeadow, Mass., also at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house.

Miss Gerould, who lives in Kenilworth, will be escorted by Maynard

Looking at Hollywood

Observation Post

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 9.—Ordered ham and eggs from Sammy, my favorite waiter, at Santa Anita. . . . "How do you want them?" he said, absentmindedly, "win or place?" . . . At the Brown Derby several million dollars in talent at the same table: The Irving Berlins, the Fred Astaires, the Doug Fairbanks, and Howard Dietz. . . .

Shirley Ross sings a hit.

You'll rave over Bob Hope and Shirley Ross warbling "Thanks for the Memory" in Paramount's "Big Broadcast," torch magic. . . . Jimmy Grainger, New Republic president, bet $100 on the nose on Air Chute, which which paid off more than $28 for a $2 ticket. . . . But Jimmy aged $1,400 worth while they were developing the photo finish. . . .

Recommended: The Fanchon and Marco chorus line doing their Buccaneer number on the Los Angeles Paramount stage. . . . Best chorus work I've seen since the Radio City Rockette line.

You can marvel at studio stupidity . . . Dorothy Lamour, for instance has been built up to star rating. . . . In "Big Broadcast," instead of protecting a valuable star property, they give her a part so small that it is practically invisible. . . . Kirsten Flagsted, in the same flicker, is badly presented, but scores a solid sock. . . . W. C. Fields can do no wrong so far as I'm concerned, but censor boards will delete that "S. B." reference. . . . Martha Raye, in this one, displays the legs which were given four stars in this space not many weeks ago.

Renee Torres and her husband, who were about to split, won't. . . . On Sunset, George Raft reading the headlines about Al Capone's mental crackup at Alcatraz. . . . Prisoners call it "stir crazy."

Myrna Loy, trim in a brown and white sports jacket. . . . Guy Kibbee, turning gray at the temples. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Grantland Rice and their daughter, Florence. . . . Joe Mankiewicz with Rose Stradner. . . . Dave Epstein, who may be named to the California boxing commission. . . . Robert Taylor signing autographs at the M.-G.-M. broadcast.

Local boulevards jammed with out of town cars. . . . A former Broadway columnist gets a funny thrill when he sees the New York license plates on cars. . . . The world fair reference beneath the license numbers is very effective. . . . First time in years that I haven't had New York license No. CC-23. . . . Wonder who's got it this year? . . . Michigan, Montana, Colorado, and Illinois licenses predominate. . . . Phil Baker passing Eddie Cantor's antique shop, a dreamy look on his face. . . . He always looks dreamy.

Jeanette MacDonald window shopping. . . . Dixie Dunbar skids past in a yellow car. . . . Pandro Berman and Cliff Reid elated over the Hepburn picture, as a result of the last sneak preview. . . . Songwriter Lew Pollack, sitting with Bill Dover, cuts loose with his shrill giggle and people dive for cover. . . . Nearest thing to Switzerland scenery is near the Pasadena "suicide bridge" . . . So many people dove off that the city built a 20 foot protecting fence. . . . It's on the way back from Santa Anita . . . maybe there's a connection.

Cary Grant and Harry Cohn walking along, heads buried in conversation. . . . Idlers watching the workmen fashioning the new N. B. C. building near Vine. . . . Visitors inspecting the footprints of the stars in the Grauman Chinese theater forecourt. . . . Picture which played there recently was so bad that even the footprints walked away, but came back when the bill changed.

Frank Capra, much shorter than I thought he would be from his photos. . . . Akim Tamiroff, not recognized by fans out of his makeup. . . . More auto parks here than in any other city in the country. . . . Parking charges range from 10 cents to half a dollar. . . . Joan Crawford clambering into her car in Beverly, revealing a flash of silken hosiery.

Elderly chap wooing Nancy Carroll is a Republic Pictures exec. . . . She will make a picture for them. . . . Eddy Duchin and Sonny Werblin playing on the miniature golf course at the Ambassador. . . . And both very bad. . . . W. C. Fields' "Big Broadcast" burlesque on filling station attendants will arouse chuckles from motorists. . . . Lovely Beryl Wallace, Earl Carroll's honey, in slacks on Hollywood boulevard. . . . Tom Gallery, sports promoter, who will stage a ski meet in Los Angeles on the 27th, with tons of imported snow. . . . Frances Langford and Jon Hall strolling, hand-in-hand.

Every Shopper Styles Her Own New Suede Hat

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some of the newest suede hats to be seen with tweeds, wools and slim street outfits are the clever fix-it-yourself numbers, somewhat misnamed "presto change." Such a label doesn't do them justice, for the results are something to behold.

Since the craze for supple colored suede took the town, every one has wanted a topper of this material. To date the hats have been rather expensive, so these new lids will cause shopping excitement.

Priced around three dollars you can take your pick of at least seven flattering colors that include two shades of red, a corn flower blue, white, pink and a stunning gold tone as well as the pet color of fashion—copper.

On the shelf they look like a pile of flat stocking caps, decapitated half way down the length of the tapering end. On the head, they can be twisted, puffed and folded to suit the face line—high, low or medium, a different way each time you wear them. Lined with a blending colored silk, they slip on with ease and stay in position.

These are toppers for spring suits, for ensembles of topcoat and suit, they can be matched to suede jackets, worn over pleated plaid skirts, and they can be used for sweater outfits and knitted clothes.

As a good traveling companion, in or out of trunks or suitcases, these suede hats are excellent buys. They fold flat, take the smallest cranny as a packing space and emerge triumphant at the end of the longest trek ready for headline service with all kinds of color and dash.

If you've yerned for an extra suede hat without permanently wrecking your budget, see these "presto changes."

Good Morning!

The manner in which the principal entertainers are introduced, the intelligent insinuation of song and dance numbers into story sequences, the QUIETNESS of band music, and, indeed, all sound, are notable, pleasing, and unique features of "Radio City Revels."

A song writer [Mr. Oakie] and his piano playing, composer pal [Mr. Berle] go stale, broke, and are compelled to give lessons by mail. . . . Their only pupil is Lester [Mr. Burns], a hill billy. . . .

Lester is a musical dud while awake. BUT, asleep, he can compose words and music faster than he can snore loudly—which is mighty fast. . . . He comes to the big city to see his teachers. . . . Their discovery of his phenomenal ability provides reason for a mess of amusing events, participated in by the various cast characters. . . .

Kenny Baker's singing [somebody —and it might as well be me—should tell him to keep his left profile turned to the camera when caroling], Ann Miller's dancing, and comedy by Helen Broderick, Bob Burns, Milton Berle, Jack Oakie, et others, prove definite assets to the really entertaining film musical which "Radio City Revels" is.

See you soon.

Disney's 'Snow White' Sets World Record for Box Office Gross

New York, Feb. 9.—"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Walt Disney's feature length cartoon fairy tale film in technicolor, will bring a total box office gross of at least $500,000 to the Radio City Music hall when it closes its fifth week next week. The film has grossed more than $100,000 a week for four weeks and is going strong. This is largest gross for any film in any one theater in the history of the industry.

The Housewife

One of the cleverest things science has invented lately is homemade rain water. You can change ordinary "hard" water into water softer than raindrops simply by dissolving a new type of tiny crystal in it. One and a half pounds of these crystals cost less than half a dollar, so they are not expensive. And they are absolutely harmless.

In the soft water they create soap lathers more easily and soap curds will not cling to the sides of the pan or tub. By using this new invention dirt will be "floated" out of garments, and no invisible residue of soap will remain to break down the fibers, shortening the life of the fabric and making it look dingy.

Use the crystals once in the rinse water and all traces of soap will be removed. Then rinse in plain water. Of course, they're splendid for washing dishes, silverware, etc.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

An after-bath lotion that has been described as a "skin humidifier in a bottle" does wonders in replenishing the natural oils stolen by daily baths and too hot rooms. It makes the skin smooth, but not sticky.

We're delighted to see that at last the manufacturers are giving us women so many good body lotions. There's a definite need for them.

The newest one we've tried is a humdinger. It's a pink lotion, to be used quite generously after the bath, that makes the skin smooth instantly and that scents it with a charming, delicate fragrance. It does the job of oiling the skin with an efficiency that's sheer magic, but it isn't sticky or greasy. You can dress immediately without fear of either that uncomfortable gummy feeling or of staining your clothing.

If "winter skin" is one of your problems you'll like this newest addition to the body lotion array. It's particularly good for the skin of the legs and the arms, which usually are the first areas to go all goose-fleshy and dry when winter comes. And a woman whom we asked to try it reports that she dotes on it for her feet; it keeps the skin soft and feels refreshing.

One other virtue is that this isn't expensive. You can pat it in as extravagantly as you like; the price is low and the bottle large enough to tide you over a long time. It makes the skin feel marvelous, as though it had been invisibly moistened. All the taut, pulled feeling disappears. Your skin looks softer and certainly feels softer to the touch.

Some one has referred to this as a "skin humidifier in a bottle." It's a good, expressive description. It really does do wonders in the way of replenishing the natural oils stolen by the daily bath and the too dry rooms that are an American vice.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1938: By Frederick Dilley Glidden.]

SYNOPSIS.

Abe McCandless, who framed Poco St. Vrain and made him an outlaw, owns a gold mine on a mountain peak. Two insurance agents, sent to meet at the mine and bring down the gold, are murdered by two different bands of outlaws. Two-Way Hornbeck, leader of one band, persuades Poco to pose as one of the agents and get the gold. At the mountain camp Poco finds Espey Cardowan, killer gunman, posing as the other agent. They dare not give each other away to Shayne, the mine manager, and his lovely daughter, Kate. On their way down the mountain with the gold Cardowan crowds Poco off the cliff and leaves him for dead. Then Cardowan joins forces with Two-Way. They double-cross their own men and take refuge in an army fort, posing as two prospectors pursued by St. Vrain. They are given an army escort to Rincon. Meanwhile, Kate helps rescue Poco from the bottom of the cliff. He confesses his real identity. Poco promises to recover the gold to save her father from blame. In Rincon, Poco is arrested by Sheriff Hogan on McCandless' order. McCandless wants Poco killed. Hogan tries to get a stranger, Van, to do the deed. When Van refuses, Hogan threatens his life, but Poco saves him.

INSTALMENT XXII.

A JUST BEATING.

Hogan whirled, his gun waist high to confront the steady black barrel of the Colt in Poco St. Vrain's hands.

Hogan dropped the gun as if it were red-hot.

Poco shut the door behind him and leaned against it, regarding Hogan with cold, predatory eyes, his lip lifted in a sneer. Hogan backed off, his face going ashen.

Poco's gaze shuttled to Van, who was unbuckling his shellbelt with a kind of thoughtful unhaste, and he laid it on the table, along with his hat.

"Come over here," Van said gently to Hogan.

Hogan knew what was up. Van walked over to him in three long strides, grasped him at the V of his vest, and whirled him in a dizzy half circle which he completed by driving a thick, knuckle-studded fist into Hogan's face. Hogan fell on his back and skidded the rest of the way until his head was brought up against the wall.

Van said gently, "Do I have to kick you up or will you get up?"

Hogan knew misery when he saw it, and, like any man, he preferred to fight it. He rose and waited for Van, crouched a little, spitting blood, his guard up. Van walked across the room and when he reached Hogan, Poco never quite understood how it happened. It was as if Hogan had no arms, or no arms that could move. Without pausing in his stride, Van drove his thick arm through Hogan's guard into his face again, and Hogan's head snapped back against the wall. When Hogan's knees began to buckle, Van braced them with his own leg, grasped Hogan by the shirtfront, lifted him off the floor, turned around and stood him up clear of the wall. Then he slapped the sheriff's face until the eyes began to focus again.

Hogan tottered and Van grabbed him again, slapped him again.

"Put up your hands," Van said gently.

Hogan did. He fought with the maniacal fury of a cornered animal, while Van, not breathing hard, did not move out of his tracks. Van stood there, bent over a little, his thick chunky arms up. Every one of Hogan's wild swings, he chopped short and down with a solid ungiving ax-stroke, and each time he did it, he drove those same short and ponderous blows into Hogan's body. It was mechanical, merciless. Van whittled away, dealing out a full measure of pain, of broken ribs, of ripped skin, of splintered teeth with finished precision. Hogan was crying at first, wild with pain and fury and fear, his gaunt six feet of stringy muscles writhing with agony, but no man can stand it forever. Every time he slacked off in weariness, some knifing hurt would rouse him to madness again.

And then, as if the cruelty of this was too revolting to behold any longer, Van's thick fist looped up to Hogan's shelving chin and there was the sound of tearing gristle over bone and in flesh. Hogan, arms down, toppled over and lay on his back without moving.

"I guess I've got some Indian in me," Van said, and added softly, "But, damn! I hate a killer that's a coward, too."

Poco said, "I heard him."

Van was unmarked, except for a pair of raw knuckles. Hogan's face was a meaty, bloody pulp, the nose mashed in, the mouth shapeless, even the glazed eyes bleeding at the corners.

"Put him in the cell block," Poco said. "Then you better hightail it. I'll take the blame for this, but you better not get caught here."

Van looked up quickly. "You will not," he said flatly, firmly. "I don't know if you just walk through jail bars, but I do know you walked through those in time to save my life. Be damned if I'll let you do it again."

"I don't pay back a favor by accepting another," Van said, smiling a little. "Open the door."

Poco shrugged and opened the corridor door while Van picked Hogan up and took him into the cell Poco had just left. The door was open, unlocked, a matter of precaution Poco had seen to that afternoon when the keys were left in the lock by Hogan.

In the office again, Van strapped on his guns, turned down the light, raised the shade and unlocked the door. Poco walked through onto the sidewalk and stopped. He said idly over his shoulder to Van, "When they see me, there'll be a commotion here. You better slip out of town then."

Again Poco looked at him curiously. This was a strange loyalty, and he hardly deserved it. He said, "When I get through what I'm going to do, they'll have forgot Hogan. Now hightail it." He was thinking of Two-Way and Cardowan. They'd be in a saloon, drinking or gambling. Cardowan would be the one to watch. Two-Way would be afraid. He'd no more throw a gun on Poco than he would on a sheriff's posse, and Poco knew it.

"I'll side you," Van said quietly. Poco's gaze shuttled to him.

"I don't need help."

"You'll get it, just the same," Van said firmly. "You'll have to make a getaway. I'll cover it."

Poco laughed silently. "Listen," he said. "Do you know who I am?"

"Poco St. Vrain."

"All right. I don't know who you are. But——"

"Sam Van."

"All right, Sam Van. You've got a life ahead of you and it won't be on the dodge. When I walk into the Maricopa saloon, or the Ocotillo, I'm going to kill two men. Nobody will make a move until I get out of town. I can take care of myself. I'm used to that. Why should I toll you in on it? It's no business of yours. The killings won't help you. The——"

"Will they help you?" Van said quietly.

Poco paused, and looked at his companion a little more shrewdly. He said, "You couldn't be a preacher, could you?"

"I didn't mean that," Van said sturdily. "I mean, will these two killings help you? Have you got to do them?"

"Well, now," Poco drawled, "Somebody has. They're both rats. No, one's a rat and a back-shooter and the other's just a poison, blood-loving killer."

"What did they do to you?"

Poco knew he should be angry at this man, but the quiet and sturdy way of him, the doglike determination to help and his way of arriving so simply at his own kind of justice gave Poco pause. He found he wasn't angry, and that he wanted to justify what he was about to do. He said, "They've got something I want, that doesn't belong to them, that will bring a lot of misery and grief to innocent people if it isn't returned."

"Then take it. Let them go. Stealing isn't a thing for you to judge, nor me either. Take them to jail and then tell the law."

"I don't fight that way," Poco said coldly.

"Try it once."

"I can't. If I told the law, they'd have me too."

"Write it then. Hogan's down. You've got the cell keys. Throw them in, take the keys and write it on a card and mail it. You'll be out of town."

When Poco said nothing, Van went on, "Son, I'm maybe slow and a little cautious, but I never killed a man yet without I had a good reason. And I never killed a man yet for stealing, because stealing is a mighty human fault. They've got something you want, that you've got to return. All right, you'll get it. Let me handle this. I'll get whatever it is and I'll get it without killing them."

Poco said, "You stay here."

"No. I'm siding you."

Mae West Must Tell Court Why She Refuses to Testify in Suit

Today Superior Judge Emmett Wilson signed an order for her to appear in court Feb. 16, to show cause why she wouldn't.

It all resulted from an attempt by attorneys representing Mark Linder, writer, to obtain a deposition from the motion picture actress in connection with Linder's $1,000,000 suit against her and Paramount Pictures over her production, "She Done Him Wrong."

In his suit Linder asserts he should have had a half interest in the picture's profits.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick Improves After Operation.

Alister H. McCormick has come from his home in Santa Barbara to visit his mother, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, who is ill in the Presbyterian hospital. Mrs. McCormick is getting along satisfactorily after an operation on Tuesday. Her son plans to remain in Chicago for several weeks.

Another well known and popular Chicago woman who underwent an operation on Tuesday is Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, who is in the Passavant hospital. Her condition, too, is satisfactory, her many friends are glad to hear. Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Munson, who are vacationing in Mexico, plan to leave there Sunday for Chicago to be here while Mrs. Cummings is convalescing.

Mrs. William Burry's long stay in Passavant hospital, necessitated by a broken hip, will come to an end in about two or three more weeks. She broke her hip ten weeks ago.

Because of illness Miss Mary Wood canceled plans to go to Sun Valley with friends, and instead she will accompany her mother, Mrs. Robert E. Wood, to Houston, Tex., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Wood II. They are leaving today.

Chicago Drama League Hears Burns Mantle.

Both halls leading into the lounge of the Arts club and the tiny library from which the speaker entered the stage were needed, as well as the lounge itself, to accommodate the listeners when Burns Mantle talked yesterday morning under the auspices of the Chicago Drama league. "The Romance of the Theater" was his subject and, since the speaker has been reporting activities of the theater for the last forty years, he had many interesting and amusing things to tell his audience about playwrights and actors.

The board of directors of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society will hold the fifty-fourth annual meeting next Thursday at 12:30 o'clock at the Hotel Sherman. Chauncey McCormick, president, will preside and Leo M. Lyons, commissioner of relief for Chicago, will speak on "The Effect of Economic Conditions on Child Welfare Problems."

The reception will be from 3 to 5 o'clock in gallery G-5. The exhibit will run until March 24.

"Blown and Pressed American Glass" will be the subject of a lecture by E. J. Buckles to which the Harris schools have issued cards. It will be given next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the school.

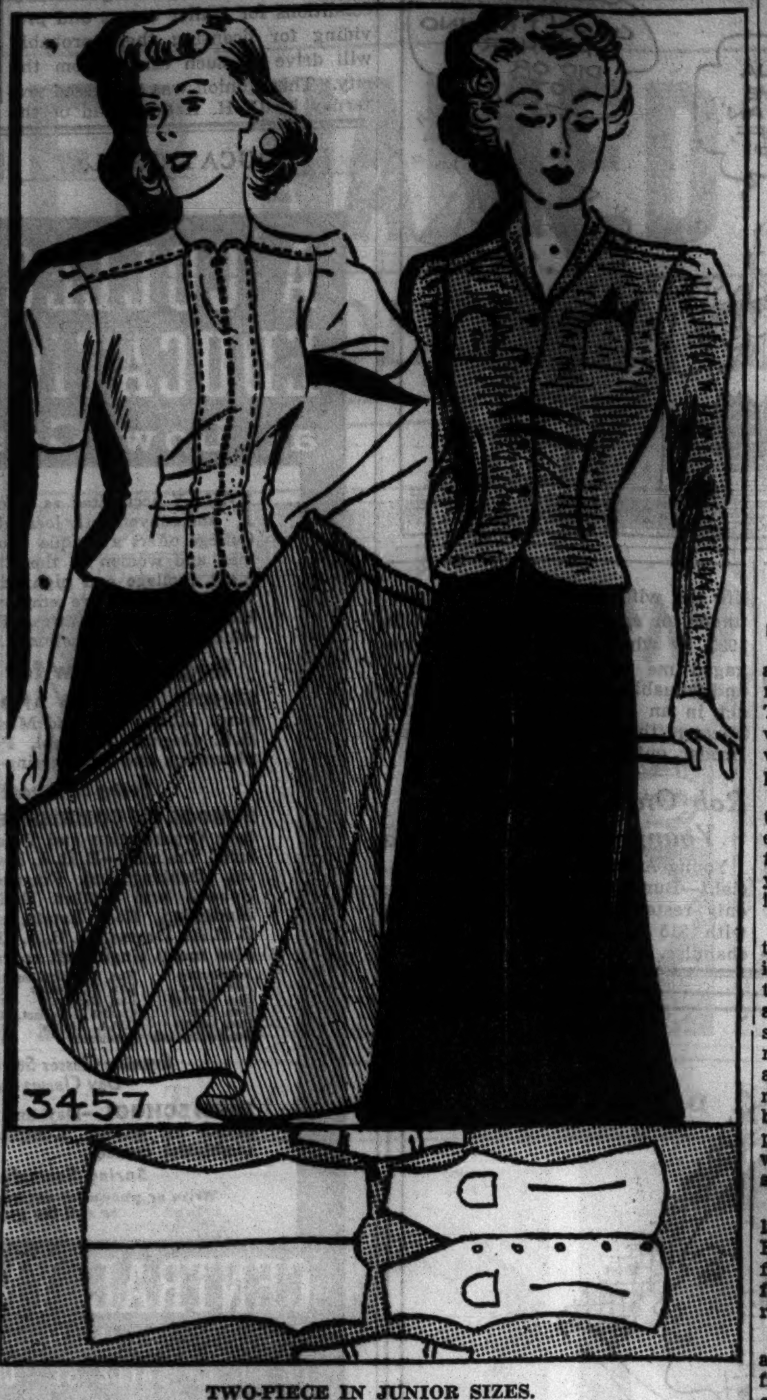
Ensemble Kind to Budget



TWO-PIECE IN JUNIOR SIZES.

If you're in school, college, or business you will appreciate the versatility of this one pattern and the kindness to the clothes budget which it represents. The design, No. 3457, includes two toppers and their companion piece, a flared skirt. Fullness is prescribed universally for skirts this spring, while jackets still cling to figure-hugging lines. You can't lose with this pattern.

Sketched at the upper left is a tight bodice blouse with novel scalloped neckline, shoulder yoke, squared short sleeves, snug waist, and slight peplum flare. Make it of any silk or soft woolen, in a bright shade to harmonize with a navy, black, or brown you may select for the simple, flared skirt. The jacket at the right has a soft rolled collar on a V neckline, the same excellent shoulder detail, but it has long sleeves, two perky pockets, buttons down the front. It also may be made of either silk or woolen.

These three garments, which are delightfully easy to make, provide you with at least two changes of costume, and more if you already have a stray skirt or sweater in your collection.

Style No. 3457 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 1⅜ yards of 39 inch material for the short sleeved blouse, with 2 yards of 39 inch material for the skirt.

The spices on our pantry shelves are a cosmopolitan crew representing many scattered parts of the world. Their flavors are pungent, due to the volatile oils which they possess, and which they lose quite rapidly if exposed to air or sunlight.

Buy your spices in airtight containers, and keep them tightly covered when not in use. Use them as flavorings in small quantities. If your assortment is fairly complete, it will include the following spices:

ALLSPICE: This comes from Central America, Jamaica, and India. It is the dried, unripe fruit of a small tropical tree of the clove family. The allspice berry is about the size of a small pea. In flavor it suggests a number of other spices, which fact accounts for the name. The true name of allspice is pimento, not to be confused with pimiento, the red pepper. Allspice may be purchased whole, for pickling, or powdered for seasoning baked foods.

BAY LEAVES: These are dried laurel leaves from California and Europe. They have a rather strong flavor and are used in pickling and for spicing certain soups, stews, and roasts.

CAYENNE PEPPER: Cayenne is an extremely hot red pepper, ground from the small pods of certain varieties of capsicum fruit. The Portuguese are supposed to have brought it first to America. Much of our supply comes from along the coast of Africa. Cayenne is more fiery in flavor than red pepper, ground from pods of less pungent hot peppers. It is used in minute amounts for seasoning.

CHILI POWDER: This is the ground pod of the Mexican chili pepper, used in chile con carne and other highly spiced dishes, mostly of Mexican origin.

CLOVES: Cloves are dried flower buds of the clove tree, an evergreen growing in the tropics. Their pungent, aromatic, volatile oil gives the characteristic flavor. Much of the supply comes from Zanzibar, an island off the east coast of Africa. Cloves come whole, for pickling, and ground, for spicing other foods.

CINNAMON: Cinnamon also is ground from a bud. Cassia buds and cinnamon buds are the same thing. Cinnamon comes from French Indo-China, and is a sweet, pungent spice.

CURRY POWDER: This is a seasoning composed of turmeric, black, and cayenne peppers, coriander seed, ginger, etc. Its composition differs with manufacturers. It is used for "curried" dishes, such as shrimp, rice, eggs.

GINGER: Ginger comes largely from Jamaica. It grows on vines and potatoes, and is a root spice. It is dried and ground, or may be candied or otherwise preserved for use in baking.

NUTMEG: This is the dried kernel of the seed of the nutmeg, a tropical evergreen tree. Mace is the red covering of the seed, which turns dark yellow when dried and ground. Choice mace and nutmeg come from the East Indies.

MARJORAM: Marjoram is an aromatic herb. The dried leaves and flowering tops are used for spicing soups and dressings. Savory, thyme, and mint are all members of the mint family, used for their pungent flavors and aromas.

MUSTARD: There are several species, only two of which are cultivated for their seeds in Europe and America. The ground commercial mustard is a blend of the two, brown and yellow seeds. Either may be purchased whole for pickling. Prepared mustard usually is a mixture of mustard, flour, turmeric, and vinegar, although the composition may vary.

PAPRIKA: Spain and Hungary send us paprika, ground from a sweet red pepper, and prized for color as well as flavor.

SAGE: The sage plant also is a member of the mint family. Ground sage is used chiefly for poultry seasoning. Commercial poultry seasoning is a blend of sage, savory, and thyme.

Many plant seeds are used as spices, including anise, celery, caraway, cardamom, cumin, dill, fennel, and poppy. Some of them aren't used much in this country. Celery seed and dill are favored for seasoning pickles. Anise, caraway, cardamom, and poppy seeds sometimes are used in baking cookies and rolls.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

I know no other game in which consistency leads to better results than it does in duplicate bridge. Players with a flair for the spectacular have little or no chance at this game. They had better confine their talents to rubber bridge, in which one enormous swing in a session can put them securely into the plus column. Duplicate requires steady plugging. No one hand, in fact, no three hands, can pile up such a lead that for the rest of the session sloppy bridge is permissible.

Lest it be thought that I am more enthusiastic about duplicate than I am about rubber bridge, I hasten to state that this is not a fact. Rubber bridge has its own special advantages, the greatest, in my opinion, being that it is more personal in its conflict. You do not play against the invisible enemy, "average," as you do in duplicate, but against flesh and blood opponents. Then, too, the part score situations in rubber bridge lead to fiercer battles than can be found at duplicate. I am merely saying that consistency is an indispensable attribute at match point play. Take the following hand, for example. There was nothing spectacular about North's bidding. He simply made the right bid at the right time. But it is decisions like these that bring home top scores.

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A K 10 8 4 3

WEST

♦ K Q 10
♣ K Q 5 3 2

SOUTH
♠ 9 6
♥ K Q 10 7

♣ A 9 8

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

It was North's second bid that earned the prize. Too many players, I fear, would fail to bid three no trump in North's position. As a matter of fact, in a large duplicate game of sixteen tables in a New York club only three North-South teams arrived at this final contract. At other tables North, after South's one no trump, usually chose to bid three spades. Some Souths dropped this bid, since they felt they had done all they could do by opening the hand and then bidding one no trump. Others went to four spades, still others bid three no trump. In these last cases, however, North spoiled everything by persisting to four spades, which could not be made. East, in each case, opened the diamond king and the defenders collected two diamond tricks, one heart and a club, even though North could run the spade suit without loss. At three no trump none of the declarers had trouble, regardless of West's opening lead. Two, indeed, made an extra trick when West chose to open a low heart.

It is strange that the virtue of a three no trump bid by North, rather than any other bid, should not have been apparent. South had bid North's singleton suit, hence there was no reason for North to fear lack of stoppers in that suit. North knew that South would not bid a no trump with only a singleton spade, and with even a low doubleton in the South hand there was every reason to expect five spade tricks at no trump. With six possible losers in diamonds and clubs North could not be at all sure of fulfilling a ten trick contract in spades. And even if he could, there was a decided chance that just as many tricks could be made at no trump, for a better match point score.

Lists Virtues Which Mothers Can Exercise

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

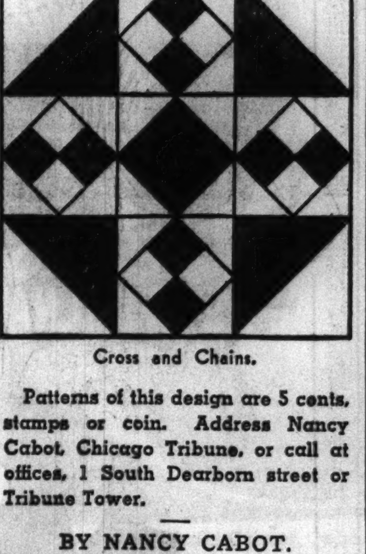
Putting aside for the moment your love for your very little son, your almost baby daughter; putting aside for the moment your desire to make that small one happy; just on the ground of efficiency in having your child learn the many things he needs to learn, it pays to be all those things we were advising you to be a day or so ago.

To exercise patience, kindness, gentleness, reasonableness, clearness, and consistency.

That's a lot of virtues, isn't it? And yet, if you're a successful mother, you are intuitively exercising them most of every day. Perhaps sometimes you force yourself to exercise them very consciously, as when you're over-tired, or more than usually rushed and busy. At those times you have to keep yourself in hand.

Haven't you ever seen big blue eyes fill with tears at a quick word when you're irritable; or brown eyes look puzzled when you're unreasonable and impatient; or a sweet young mouth quiver when, at the end of a trying and worried day, you reprove sharply an innocently annoying act? It makes you think twice before you do the same thing again. Of course we all slip, but the successful mother would undoubtedly find that, most of the time, she was exercising practically all of those virtues.

Quilt Has Been Favorite Since Before Civil War



Cross and Chains.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a delightful old pieced design which has been a ranking favorite with quilt makers since before the civil war. It is an elaborate, fundamental nine patch pattern which is exceptionally easy to set together. Red and white form the one color combination which is the old standby, but any other shade and white will produce an equally attractive coverlet. The entire quilt is composed of pieced blocks set together with three and one-half inch bands of white material between the blocks. A four inch border and a one-half inch bias binding finish the coverlet, the overall dimensions of which are 90x107 inches.

Scholars Begin 2 Year Task of Revising Bible

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

For the first time in thirty-seven years the Bible is to be officially revised for American readers. This was announced yesterday by Dr. Roy G. Ross, executive secretary of the International Council of Religious Education, in annual sessions at the Stevens hotel. Dr. Ross said the revision, now under way by a company of distinguished scholars, is the first since 1901 when the American Standard version was published.

The revision will require at least two years, Dr. Ross said.

The new revision was first projected in 1930 by the International council, which holds the copyright of the version, but was abandoned when funds dwindled in the depression. Dr. Ross said that this will constitute the third formal revision of the King James version of 1611, which is known as the authorized Protestant version for the English speaking world. There was an English revision in the 1880s and the American revision in 1901.

Dr. Ross explained that in 1929, Thomas Nelson and Sons, Bible printers, conveyed the copyright to the American standard Bible committee of the international council after the copyright had been renewed for 29 years. The main purpose of the copyright is to protect the purity of the text.

Much of the traditional opposition to revisions based on scholarly research and study, Dr. Ross said, has faded in recent years. This he said, is because of two main factors: the people are now more generally aware of gradual changes in any living language, and there is popular realization that archeologists are constantly making new discoveries which shed new light on old truths.

A standard version of the Bible bears the stamp of organized religious authority which recommends its use in services of public worship. The King James version and the subsequent English and American revisions of it are authorized for use in the 41 churches coöperating in the council. On the other hand, many private Bible translations are available, such as Prof. Edgar Goodspeed's and James Moffatt's. The main use of these is for private reading and study.

Three Chicago scholars have been given membership in the company of revisers. They are Dr. Frederick C. Grant, who recently resigned as president of Seabury Western Theological seminary, Evanston, to head the New Testament department of Union seminary, New York; Prof. Goodspeed, and Dr. William A. Irwin, both of the University of Chicago. The company is made up of two groups, one responsible for scholarship and the other for literary excellence.

The other revisers are Prof. Julius A. Brewer, Union seminary, New York; Dr. Walter R. Bowie, rector of Grace Episcopal church, New York; Dr. Henry J. Cadbury and Dr. Willard L. Sperry, Harvard university; Dr. George Dahl and Dr. Luther A. Weigle, Yale university; Dr. James Moffatt, Union seminary; Dr. John R. Sampey, Southern Baptist seminary, Louisville, Ky., and Dr. William L. Taylor, University of Toronto. Dr. Ross will be secretary of the company.

P.-T. A. Delays Meeting on Double Features Protest

The board of managers of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers opened a three day meeting yesterday in the Stevens hotel. A meeting of the joint committee on double features at film houses, originally planned for tomorrow morning in the Hotel La Salle, has been postponed. At a meeting last week with Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, P.-T. A. officials protested that the long programs were injurious to the health of children.

Hosiery Color Aids or Mars Leg Silhouette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

With skirts shorter you bring back into prominence one of your neatest assets, if your leg silhouette is attractive. We recommend leg reducing by exercise, and for permanent results we have to talk that way. But our attention recently was called to the ugly effects of stocking colors poorly chosen, in which we saw occasion for a little beauty sermon.

It is no news to any of us that we can make the leg look thicker or thinner according to the shade of hosiery worn, as well as the choice in weight. For everyday purposes the majority of us has to take the service weight unless we want to run up a whale of a stocking bill by the end of a year. None of us chooses the service weight for the fun of it. We all would adore the gossamer threads, for the finer the hosiery, the better for the leg silhouette, no doubt.

We do not agree with those very plump-legged women who choose the dark grayish shades on the theory that a dark shade will minimize size, they are such unattractive leg covering colors and, as they are worn, often are seen with a frock or suit color that is so out of harmony with the stocking color that the hosiery and, consequently, the over plump leg, attracts more attention. In such cases we think it would be better to be frankly stylish in stocking colors and take to exercises that will reduce the leg. But there are certain sun-tone colors that we think fairly disastrous to any but the perfectly proportioned underpinning, whereas sand beige shades do nice things to those legs that are worried about. The more pink or red cast you get into the hosiery, the more they exaggerate the leg size, in our opinion.

We can't name the shades that are nicest, because the stocking color names now are so varied and so complicated. We can merely suggest to women to be cranky about getting the color that does the best by their own individual "props."

BLACKHEADS? PIMPLES?
COARSE PORES? OILY SKIN?

But soon she remembers there's one she can trust To "bubble" out deep-hidden grit, germs, and dust.
It sends active oxygen over the skin To clear away dirt from nose, forehead, and chin
"Dioxogen Cream—that's the one," cries the girl, "That leaves the face clear, smooth, and fair as a pearl!"

WITH every fingertipful of this unique oxygen-filled cream you pat on to your face, you clean it two ways. No other cream can do this because no other cream releases that precious cleansing element of nature—active oxygen.

Its action on the skin is two-fold:

First, it loosens embedded blackheads and whiteheads.

Second, its bubbling action forces out to the surface the gritty particles which cause so many complexion blemishes.

Dioxogen Cream also softens and smooths the skin, clearing the complexion to a lovely flower-like fairness. Begin using it tonight!

132,750 ENROLL IN HIGH SCHOOLS, SET NEW RECORD

Fewer Pupils Enter, but More Stay.

Enrollment in Chicago's public high schools this semester is the largest in the history of the city, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson said yesterday.

Despite a decrease in the number of pupils entering the ninth grade, the total, 132,750, is 4,413 more than in February, 1937, he said. A year ago there were 15,664 pupils in the lower half of the ninth grade, the first semester, and now there are 15,100.

Work Adapted to Needs.

"In other words," explained Dr. Johnson, "we are inducing more students to remain in high school by adapting the work to meet the needs of the majority. The curriculum has been revised, requirements have been liberalized to give every one an opportunity to continue his work, and vocational courses have been instituted for those who desire them.

"Fewer students are entering high school because there are fewer children in our elementary schools. The birth rate which began declining after the war has had a marked effect on the enrollment in the lower grades."

Theoretically, it was said, the forefront of the declining birthrate cycle should manifest itself in the senior year of high school in 1939 and from that time forward. Unless the holding power of the high schools is effectively increased, the high school enrollment will decrease each succeeding year.

Enrollment in the high schools last September was 128,634. This was 297 more than in the preceding term, but 4,116 fewer than in the present term, records show. In February, 1928, enrollment was 78,671 and with the exception of the spring semesters in 1934 and last year it has increased steadily to the 1938 all-time high point.

Sharp Increase in Depression.

The sharpest increase in high school enrollment took place during the depression when there were few jobs available and the pupils remained at their books for lack of anything else to do, Supt. Johnson said. However, in the spring of 1934, as business improved, many students left school to get work. This accounted for a drop of about 1,500 for that semester. Enrollment increased by over 4,000 the next semester as many of these returned to the class room, he explained.

Ten years ago the elementary school enrollment was at its peak, 324,652. Despite a few minor upward trends at long intervals it has declined steadily since then. This semester's figures show 284,500 in classes from the first through the eighth grades.

HUPKA GETS 1-10 YEAR TERM FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Riley, tampering with an automobile, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Paul Wheeler, automobile larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Paul Gonzeles and Ralph Aleman, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Saul Gonzeles and Jose Rios, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Joseph Carver, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Charles Ickes, robbery, sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal act; Thomas Rex, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Francis A. Allegretti.

George C. Hupka, who was head of a brokerage firm at 4812 Cermak road, Cicero, was sentenced yesterday by Chief Justice Cornelius Harrington in Criminal court to one to ten years in the penitentiary on a charge of embezzlement.

The complainant was Mack Voderberg of 4925 West 23d street, Cicero, from whom Hupka obtained $1,390. Four other charges against Hupka were nol prossed by the state after he had pleaded guilty to the Voderberg charge.

Hupka filed a petition in bankruptcy in the federal court last summer, then disappeared from his home at 160 South Longcommon road, Riverside, after it was shown that his liabilities were $219,000 and his assets $6.05.

TESTS REVEAL SCHOOL BUSES ARE DEFECTIVE

Bad Brakes and Lights Most Frequent.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—A state police inspection of school buses, started three months ago and still continuing, has disclosed that approximately half of these vehicles carrying children lack much of the equipment essential to safety. Many of the buses were in a dangerous condition, lacking proper brakes or lights. At the insistence of police, school authorities are correcting these conditions.

"We found buses overcrowded, children forced to stand, cramping the driver and limiting his visibility," Chief Walter Williams of the state patrol said today. "Some of the buses were without good brakes. We found one with a dangerous kerosene stove and another with the rear door nailed shut. Some had cardboard replacing broken window glass.

"Every mechanical defect was reported to the school authorities. The patrolmen are repeating their inspections to see that corrections are made."

A bus of the Lake Forest public schools, according to the police report, lacked flags and flares for any emergency stops. It also lacked signals for indicating intention to turn. At Deerfield, which also is in Lake county, the police found a school bus with a capacity of 31 that was carrying 41 children. The Deerfield vehicle was without nonshatter glass, without proper signs, and without turn signals.

GEORGE ADE, 72, DOESN'T FEEL A DAY OVER 90

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—George Ade, the Hoosier humorist, quietly celebrated his 72d birthday today, saying he didn't "feel a day over 90."

"There is no need to attract attention by advertising my age," he said. "I may be a member of the three score and ten club, but I won't attend any meetings until they wheel me in."

Ade was seriously ill a year ago, but appeared to be in good health today. The doctors won't let him play golf any more, however, so his principal recreation is the movies.

FREED BY JUDGE AFTER NEED FOR CELL VANISHES

Because it looked as if he might get a job, Benjamin Hutchison, 63 years old, a photo engraver, didn't want to spend the rest of the winter in a federal cell, after all, yesterday.

Two weeks ago he pleaded guilty to trying to break into a postoffice. He said he was homeless and penniless and needed a clean place to eat and sleep for a few months. Judge Philip L. Sullivan gave him $10 to retrieve his baggage. The case was continued for investigation.

Yesterday Hutchison said he had arranged for a job, so Judge Sullivan sentenced him to one hour in the custody of the marshal and wished him luck.

ACTRESS IS SUED BY AGENT; SEEKS TO COLLECT $75,000

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—"For services in discovering Frances Farmer and starting her on the road to stardom in Hollywood, $75,000. . . ." This bill has been filed in Supreme court, Manhattan, by Shepard Traube, theatrical representative and producer, after efforts to collect by more amicable means had failed.

Traube sued Frances — in private life the wife of Lief Erikson, actor, under an agreement dated June 25, 1935, by which, he related, "she engaged me to procure introductions and valuable contracts for her and to act in an advisory capacity." Miss Farmer, through Attorney I. Robert Broder, entered a general denial.

Predicts License Law Will Clear City of Trailer Camps

The ordinance regulating sanitary conditions for trailer camps and providing for licensing them probably will drive all such camps from the city. This opinion was expressed yesterday by C. H. Keller, head of the city license department, who said owners of several unlicensed camps have been ordered to appear in the license court next Tuesday. "I don't expect they will show up," he said. "Most of the camps have gone out of business and the rest probably will." The ordinance was passed in December.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Golden Glove ambitions of seventy nine lads on Chicago's west side were knocked into the discard in the Madison A. C. gymnasium last night. They were vanquished during the first Chicago firing of the year in the 11th annual Golden Gloves tournament.

The fighting was typical of all Golden Gloves competition. Each of the defeated lads showed splendid gameness and considerable ability, but were not quite good enough to win a place on this year's west section team. The team gives definite promise of being one of the best ever sent into the Tournament of Champions, which opens in the Stadium on Feb. 28.

The War Goes on Tonight.

Eighty bouts, involving 160 boxers, make up another exciting program in the same arena, starting at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Two more nights of fighting will be required next week before the west side championships finally are decided.

The opening program had not been in motion long when it became evident that amateur boxing on the west side still is the melting pot of Chicago amateur glove swinging.

Ferdinand from Austria had squared away against Tony from Italy, Nick from Greece had battled Pierre from France, Tommy from Great Britain had tossed leather at Oscar from Sweden, all before the first hour of fighting was completed.

Everybody Has Good Time.

The partisan groups of rooters in the crowd were in an uproar from the time the fighting started in two rings until it ended shortly after 11 o'clock. There were amusing minutes for the spectators and embarrassing ones for some of the fighters.

Jerome Colitz, 147 pounder who works for the Central Iron and Metal company, was hit so hard in the first round of his bout with Bill Sharkey, 4454 West Gladys avenue, that his tights were ripped half off his athletic frame. Fresh tights were provided, but Jerome never recovered. He lost the decision.

Earl Thomas, from the Savoy Athletic club, slender as a beanstalk, towering 6 feet 3 inches and weighing only 145 pounds, thrilled the crowd when he scored a first round knockout. The beanstalk was beaten, however, by Jerry Lewis, 3426 West Grenshaw street, in his second bout.

Ernest Is Overconfident.

Cheers from Grandpa--and Jimmy Wins

Bantamweight Jimmy White, 2101 North Meade avenue, had his grandpa, George Sherman, who is 65, leading the cheers for him at the opening of the Golden Gloves west side sectional meet at the Madison A. C., last night. Grandpa fought in amateur bouts in Chicago back in 1892. His loud rooting inspired Jimmy to a victory over Ed Ringer of the C. Y. O.

The crowd was 15 per cent larger than at last year's west side sectional meet opening. Every seat was occupied soon after the boxers entered the ring.

* * *

A record group of 146 reported for last night's bouts. This number is 90 per cent of the west side candidates who qualified for the show, Harry Berz, clerk of scales and drawings, said.

* * *

James Lavasa of the Catholic Youth organization was the only rejection. He failed to pass his second examination because of a heart murmur.

* * *

Robert Link, Union League Boys' club at Emerson avenue and Wolcott street; Robert Anderson, Tilden Tech High school student; Peter Sperando, C. Y. O., and Gene Karner of Hollywood, Ill., came in overweight. All refused to take advantage of their privilege of being excused and advanced to the next weight class.

* * *

Melvin Lewis, sophomore at Medill High, was the envy of the other novice boys in the dressing room as he waited for his turn to fight all decked out in a resplendent robe, apparel usually worn by more experienced competitors. Inquiry revealed the robe is the property of his cousin, Eugene Tookes, C. Y. O. batamweight star.

* * *

Big Bill Tate, who whipped Harry Wills, contender for Jack Dempsey's title, in 1922, seconded Jesse Varber, featherweight from the south side, to victory over Jesse Duarte of Stanford Park.

* * *

One of the most skilful boxers on the program was seen in Eddie Flood, featherweight, of 1238 61st court in Cicero. The 19 year old Flood decisively whipped Robert Meehan of the C. Y. O. in three rounds to score his seventh straight victory since he entered competition four months ago.

* * *

The wildest contest of the evening involved Irwin Brewin, C. Y. O. 135 pounder, and Robert Snawder of the Cook-Busters A. C. Haymakers flew all over the ring, but none landed on a vital spot. Brewin was awarded the three round decision.

* * *

Coach Joe White of the Duncan Y. M. C. A. is proud that two of his five representatives won their first round matches. George Waterloo, featherweight, knocked out Connie Adams Jr. of the Madison A. C. and Warren Goodell, flyweight, stopped Stewart Hibbard of the C. Y. O.

MARQUETTE IS 45 TO 43 VICTOR OVER NOTRE DAME

Long Basket in Last 30 Seconds Wins.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—A long side shot by Paul Sokody with 30 seconds left to play enabled Marquette university's basketball team to beat Notre Dame, 45 to 43, before a capacity crowd of 6,300 tonight.

It was Marquette's tenth victory in 13 games and the third defeat for Notre Dame. It also halted Notre Dame's winning streak of seven in a row.

Deneen Leads Attack.

Sophomore Bob Deneen, reserve forward, led Marquette with 14 points. George Hesik made 12. Another reserve forward, Al Cofone, supplied the spark, however, which brought Marquette from behind in the second half. Johnny Moir, Notre Dame forward, was top scorer for the game with 17 points.

Notre Dame led, 26 to 23, after a fast first half in which Marquette at one time was behind, 12 to 4, and then went ahead, 21 to 19. The score was tied six times in the half and the Irish pulled away to their advantage baskets in the late minutes by Wukovits, Jordan and Sadowski.

Irish Lead Again.

Hesik was the spearhead of a Marquette attack that put the home team back in the lead, 33 to 28, early in the second half. Paul Nowak's basket with five minutes left put Notre Dame ahead again, 38 to 36. Thereafter the score was tied three times until Sokody's basket decided the game.

DE PAUL WINS, 34-31

Co-Captain Tom Clelland sank the basket that put De Paul ahead, 32 to 31, in those closing seconds and Stan Szukala made the outcome more certain by shooting two free throws. The score at the end of the first half was De Paul, 23; St. Viator, 18.

St. Viator Takes Lead.

The action didn't become especially spirited until the last five minutes, when John Burke, St. Viator guard, scored a field goal that gave his team its first lead of the game, 30 to 29. Dan Blazevich, the other St. Viator guard, then made it 31 to 29 on a free throw. Pat Howlett, De Paul forward, retaliated with one of his own to give De Paul 30 points.

St. Viator attempted to stall at this point, but Clelland intercepted a long pass and dribbled it to score two points and Szukala followed with his two free throws. The game ended a few seconds later.

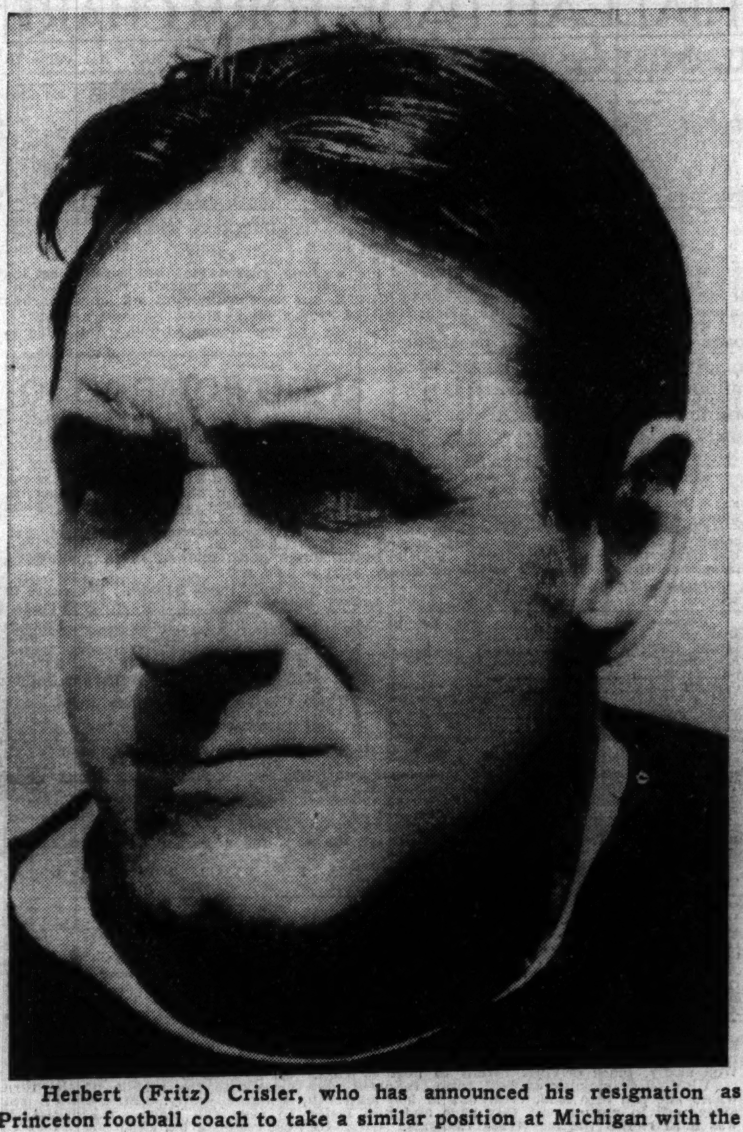
Michigan's New Coach



Herbert (Fritz) Crisler, who has announced his resignation as Princeton football coach to take a similar position at Michigan with the understanding that he is to become athletic director upon the eventual retirement of Fielding Yost.

JOB TO INCLUDE ADMINISTRATIVE ATHLETIC DUTY

Fritz Is Slated to Succeed Yost.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Herbert Orrin [Fritz] Crisler resigned as Princeton university's head football coach tonight to accept a post as coach and assistant director of athletics at Michigan.

The 38 year old midwesterner announced that he was returning to the Big Ten conference where he built his reputation as player and assistant coach at the University of Chicago and head coach at Minnesota.

"In addition to coach," he explained, "I'll be assistant director of athletics at first at Michigan, and later I will become director of athletics."

As coach, he succeeds Harry G. Kipke. Michigan's present athletic director is Fielding H. Yost. For weeks, Crisler's name has been linked with the Michigan coaching post, but it was reported he would not accept the berth unless the athletic directorship went with it.

Turns in Resignation.

Crisler, who raised Princeton's football fortunes from the doldrums in his six year régime from 1932 through last season, tendered his resignation at a dinner meeting of the university council on athletics.

In addition to coaching football, Crisler said, he will also give a four year course on the theory and practice of football.

"I am leaving for Michigan next week for a visit of a couple of days," he added, after announcing his resignation and acceptance of the Michigan offer.

As yet, Crisler has not decided on his staf of assistants at Michigan. There was the possibility that he might take some of his Princeton aids with him, although campus gossip rumored that Elton [Tad] Wieman, current head line coach under Crisler, might be named to succeed him in charge of the Tigers.

No Successor in Sight.

Princeton officials have not yet discussed Crisler's successor. Professor Burnham N. Dell, chairman of the council on athletics said "no action was taken regarding a successor."

In his statement tonight Crisler said that the new position, which will include "added duties in athletic administration," was "presented to me last Monday."

"This has been a most trying decision for me to make," he added, "in view of the kindly expressions of feeling on the part of the administration, faculty, alumni, and students of Princeton. "However, Michigan presents such a far-reaching opportunity that it was difficult to do anything but accept."

In accepting the resignation, the university council released Crisler from his Princeton contract, which still had two years to run. He came to Princeton in February, 1932, and in 1935 [exactly three years ago tomorrow], signed a new five year contract.

Princeton Is Surprised.

Prof. Burnham N. Dell, chairman of the Princeton council on athletics, announced that the council "has accepted the resignation with regret."

"No action was taken in regard to a successor to Mr. Crisler," the statement said.

News of Crisler's resignation took the Princeton campus by complete surprise. Most of the undergraduates had about forgotten the rumors of a few weeks ago, that such an action was expected, and believed that Crisler had decided to stay at Princeton.

Crisler's brief statement pointed out that he had "always been proud of my warm association with Princeton men and with their splendid loyalty to Princeton."

Crisler Expresses Regret.

"So, quite naturally," he went on, "I leave with considerable regret. However, I can see no obstacles to present and continued athletic growth on the foundations securely established by men of vision, who are there now, or who have preceded me.

"It has been my high honor to have been in the services of Princeton. I feel similarly honored in being invited to Michigan."

Both the resignation and Crisler's acceptance of the Michigan offer were made public at the university council's dinner meeting.

Before coming to Princeton Crisler's entire athletic career had been with the Big Ten conference. After graduating from Chicago in 1922 he became assistant coach to Amos Alonzo Stagg at his alma mater from 1925 to 1930 before taking over the coaching post as well as the athletic directorship at Minnesota in 1930 and 1931.

Develops Princeton Teams.

In the late '20s and early '30s the Princeton football fortunes fell very low. In 1931 the Tigers won only one of eight games. The same year Minnesota under Crisler won seven of ten games, losing only to Northwestern, Stanford, and Michigan.

BY ARCH WARD.

THE amazing growth and popularity of Golden Gloves nowhere has been more strikingly demonstrated than in Kansas City. . . . Three years ago the Kansas City Star sent a representative to this department to inquire about joining THE TRIBUNE'S annual amateur boxing tournament. . . . A few days later that newspaper announced its first annual meet. . . . There were seventy entrants. . . . This year the Kansas City Star's tournament entry totaled 3,500 and included talent from Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado. . . . Preliminary events, all under the auspices of newspapers, were conducted in Pueblo, Hutchinson, Topeka, Salina, St. Joseph, Fort Riley, Fort Leavenworth, Sedalia, Springfield, Joplin, Pittsburg [Kas.], Kansas City [Kas.], and Independence. . . . When you see Kansas City's battlers fighting it out in Chicago Stadium, Feb. 28, March 1 and 2, for a place on the Chicago team that later will meet New York's and Europe's champions, you should keep in mind that they had to work their way through a field of 3,500 to reach the opening round of the Tournament of Champions. . . . The interest in Golden Gloves in those centers has not been limited to the contestants. . . . In several cities, notably Sedalia, Joplin, Salina, Topeka, Hutchinson, and Pittsburg, the attendance broke all records for boxing, amateur or professional. . . . The remarkable expansion of Golden Gloves in Kansas City is, first of all, evidence of the appeal of the event, but it also is a tribute to the type of leadership the tournament has had in that area. . . . Clyde McBride and Ernest Mehl are the gentlemen in charge. . . .

Red Horner and Harvey Jackson are the only members of the Toronto Maple Leafs who were on the 1932 team which won the Stanley cup. . . . Stan Wooderson, British law student who ranks as one of the world's greatest milers, weighs only 122 pounds. . . . Glen Lee, Nebraska middleweight who recently gave Fred Apostoli a close fight in New York, is a direct descendant of Gen. Robert E. Lee. . . . His grandfather was a nephew of the civil war leader. . . . Dick Bray and George Higgins, western conference basketball officials, are radio announcers. . . . Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York once enjoyed a reputation as a baseball player at Williams college. . . .

CANADIENS NEXT, BUT HAWKS KEEP THEIR CHINS UP

Trudell Is Ready to Lend Assistance Tonight.

Games Tonight

Maroons at Toronto.
Chicago at Canadiens.
Rangers at Detroit.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks have played the Canadiens four times this season and have been unable to triumph, Montreal winning two and the other two games ending in ties. Their fifth game of the campaign is to be played here tomorrow night. The Hawks are trusting that they can dispose of the jinx.

Their arrival here late today wasn't as bleak as their double defeat by Boston might have presaged. Louis Trudell, out of the last six games with injuries, spread cheer with his announcement that he had regained his health and would be able to perform in the forward line tomorrow night.

Wiebe Still Out, However.

Defenseman Art Wiebe, however, won't perform against the Canadiens. He had the misfortune of colliding with Eddie Shore of Boston in Chicago Sunday night, a mishap that put a terrific strain on Wiebe's left shoulder. He requires further rest.

The outcome tomorrow has much significance for the Hawks. The possibility of their appearing in the cup playoffs is a very slim one right now, and a defeat tomorrow would make that prospect even more remote.

Play Toronto Saturday.

The Blackhawks also have a task Saturday night, playing the Maple Leafs in Toronto. Mush March, star wing, hampered most of the season with varying ailments, is expected to reënforce the impotent Chicago attack in this game.

SHAUGHNESSY'S SUIT FOR SALARY IS DISMISSED

New Orleans, La., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A suit in which Clark D. Shaughnessy, head football coach at the University of Chicago and former coach at Loyola university here, sought a $68,087 judgment from Blaise S. D'Antoni, New Orleans investment broker, was dismissed today. Shaughnessy contended the judgment was due him on a 10-year contract entered into Aug. 6, 1927, which provided that D'Antoni would designate what New Orleans institution Shaughnessy should serve and would pay his salary over the 10-year period.

The suit was dismissed on article 167 of the Louisiana civil code, which provides that no man can bind himself under contract for personal service for a period exceeding five years.

Shaughnessy alleged D'Antoni was to pay him $15,000 a year from Sept. 1, 1927, to June 30, 1932, and $20,000 a year from Sept. 1, 1932, to June 30, 1937, or a total of $175,000. The coach said that he received the specified payments until June 30, 1930, and that from then until he left Loyola he received $10,000 yearly. The petition said he accepted the Chicago coaching post in April, 1933, after D'Antoni refused to comply with the terms of the contract.

GALENTO QUITS; JIMMY ADAMICK TO FIGHT THOMAS

Galento beat the New York state athletic commission to the punch by withdrawing from the Thomas match on the score of an injury suffered in his recent knockout triumph over Charley Massera. The commission had threatened to call off the fight unless Galento stopped training on beer in his Orange, N. J., pub and began real work in a fight camp.

Crisler Takes Coaching Job at Michigan

ously reported to be between $8,000 and $12,000. In his first year, 1932, Princeton lost only two games—to Columbia and Michigan—and battled the traditional Yale rivals to a 7 to 7 tie. In his six year administration Princeton won thirty-five games, lost nine, and tied five. Two of Crisler's Princeton teams went undefeated, in 1933 and again in 1935, each eleven winning nine straight games.

But for the Big Three agreement the Tigers might have gone to the Rose Bowl game of 1934, in which Columbia nosed out Stanford. The Princeton team of the 1933 season was the only one to whip Columbia.

Some Big Years.

In 1933 Princeton regained the heights under Crisler, climaxing its undefeated campaign with a 27 to 2 victory over Yale. The following year the Tigers renewed their relations with Harvard and handed the Crimson a 19 to 0 beating, although losing by one touchdown to Yale.

MICHIGAN'S STATEMENT

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Dr. Alexander Grant Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, issued a statement tonight confirming the selection of Herbert O. [Fritz] Crisler, Princeton football coach, as head coach and also an administrator in the Wolverine athletic department.

President Ruthven's statement said: "At a special meeting held Monday afternoon, Feb. 7, on recommendation of the board in control of physical education, the board of regents by unanimous vote appointed Mr. H. O. Crisler head coach in football and assistant director of athletics at the University of Michigan. Mr. Crisler indicated his acceptance of the position."

President Ruthven declined to disclose the salary Crisler will receive at Michigan. He said, however, that Crisler would have duties in addition to those performed by Harry G. Kipke as head football coach and implied that the salary would be higher than the $7,500 Kipke received.

Cappon's Status in Doubt.

Appointment of Crisler as "assistant athletic director" aroused some speculation about the status of Franklyn C. Cappon. That is the title he has been considered as holding, but investigation disclosed that his official title was "assistant to the athletic director."

President Ruthven said that no action would be taken immediately on the selection of assistant coaches. A new line coach must be chosen to succeed Heartly [Hunk] Anderson, who resigned last month.

Yost made this comment on Crisler's selection:

"I am glad to learn that Crisler has accepted the position. He is the type of man we have been searching for, and his previous experience in the Big Ten qualifies him for the job.

"He has an outstanding personality and should be entirely acceptable to Michigan alumni everywhere.

"He merits their loyalty and cooperation. If we obtain that we'll soon be leading the football parade again."

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles Negro, knocked down Al Citrino of San Francisco fourteen times tonight and was awarded a technical knockout in the fourth round of their scheduled ten round nontitle bout.

STADIUM TURNS DOWN OFFER OF ARMSTRONG BOUT

Officials Refuse to Rent Arena on Feb. 25.

Arthur Wirtz, Chicago Stadium official, said last night that Mique Malloy would be refused permission to promote a ten round nontitle bout between Henry Armstrong and Everett Rightmire in the Stadium Feb. 25. He added that no other promoter would be given the date.

Promoter Harold Ryan has arranged four supporting matches. Frankie Agnes, west side lightweight, clashes with Harry Booker in a five round event. Bouts of four rounds each will bring together Willie Joyce and Gene Spencer, Eddie Helstrom and Sammy Terry, Billy [K. O.] Morgan and Jackie Davis.

Milt Aron has accepted a ten round rematch with Vittorio Venturi, Italian welterweight, in the New York Hippodrome next Wednesday. Shortly after the conflict was closed Benny Ray, representative of Aron, announced that Fibber McGee of radio fame has purchased 17½ per cent of the fighter's contract for $5,000. . . . Danny Spunt, manager of Harold Brown, yesterday was forced to refuse an offer of 10 per cent to meet Andre Jesserun on the Aron-Venturi card. . . . A contemplated 147 pound title engagement between Barney Ross and Challenger Ceferino Garcia in Los Angeles March 4 has been canceled. Ross is en route to Hot Springs, Ark., where he'll start training for two or three overweight bouts, the first planned for presentation in Des Moines, Ia., next month against Henry Schaft under the auspices of Pinkey George. . . . J. R. Fitzpatrick, member of the Illinois boxing commission, today will head for Miami, Fla., to confer with his coworkers, Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner George Getz, about matters concerning the board. . . .

◆

Jack Fargo, who is paired with Russ Wasser in the Fronton one week from tomorrow, has signed a five year management contract with three brothers—Ottie, Bob, and Al Eckert. . . . Promoter Billy Cepak plans to match Buddy Knox, Dayton, O., 195 pound scrapper, with the winner of the Max Marek-Chester Palutis headliner in Cicero Stadium Wednesday. The tentative date is March 16. . . . Formal opening ceremonies of the Manhattan gymnasium, 2418 West North avenue, will be held tonight under the direction of Manager Frank Spaak. . . . F. M.

He polished off John Crane of the American Giants A. C., who also showed much skill. Jones fought with the finish of a seasoned boxer, despite his presence in the novice class competition.

Two Jesses Slug It Out.

A slugging match between Jesse Varber of the Savoy Athletic club and Jesse Duarte of Stanford Park brought the crowd to its feet in a hurry. It didn't last long. Varber won late in the first round on a technical knockout after scoring with hard lefts and rights to the head and body.

The cannonading, the fastest and most exciting west side Golden Gloves fans have witnessed since Barney Ross made that sectional meet famous, continued until the final tap of the bell. Summaries:

NEW COMMITTEE TAKES CONTROL OF PITT SPORTS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Chancellor John G. Bowman announced tonight a sweeping change in control of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, shifting it from the old athletic council to an all-faculty committee.

At the same time a new code, tightening eligibility rules until they compare "with any in effect at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell or the Big Ten conference" will be adopted.

Dr. Bowman said the change was made at the suggestion of the old board and with the endorsement of Dr. John B. Sutherland, football coach, Harold C. Carlson, basketball coach and Track Coach Olson.

New Rules In Effect.

The chancellor said most of the new rules already are in effect. The new code formally is effective March 1. It embodies most of the plan inaugurated last July by Athletic Director James Hagan, which eliminated athletic scholarships and subsidies.

The old athletic council had several alumni as members. Included among those who relinquish their duties will be C. D. Wettach, chairman; William Penn Snyder Jr., Alan N. Scaife, R. R. Gaw, J. C. Trees, and C. W. Ridinger.

Name New Committee.

Three members of the council were named on the new committee, Dr. H. E. Friesell, Dr. W. S. McEllroy, and John Weber. The others are H. E. Dyche, professor of electrical engineering; Kendall S. Tesch, professor of chemistry; J. G. Quick, registrar, and R. E. Sherill, professor of geology.

DONNEL TO TELL YACHT EXPERTS ABOUT STORMS

Lake Michigan weather forecasting will be discussed by C. A. Donnel, meteorologist in charge of the Chicago office of the United States weather bureau, at the Lake Michigan Yachting association's lecture tonight in the Sherman hotel.

Methods of predicting winds and storm centers on the lake for local as well as long distance sailing races will be explained by Mr. Donnel. He also is to show government charts of the gale that caused many yachts of the Mackinac race fleet to find shelter in harbors last July. More than 200 are expected to attend.

HERZL JUNIOR DEFEATS LISLE QUINTET, 55-42

Congdon's 75 in Gale Leads $5,000 Open

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Heavy wind and rain today handicapped scoring efforts in the first round of the $5,000 San Francisco match play open golf tournament.

When the round was over and 183 storm beaten competitors had reported tales of balls blown seventy-five yards off line, Charles Congdon, young professional from Tacoma, Wash., led the field with a 75. His score was four strokes over par for the 36—37—71. Congdon posted a 38 and 37 for the nines.

Where? In Van Buren?

In view of the playing conditions, Congdon's card was considered outstanding. The wind reached a reported velocity of seventy-six miles per hour at the San Francisco airport. It wrecked the score board and blew down power lines and huge trees.

John Revolta, Evanston, Ill., who scored a 77, said one shot was blown about seventy-five yards off line. Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass., reported he drove dead into the wind off the tenth and the ball traveled less than 100 yards.

One stroke behind Congdon came the pre-tournament favorite, Lawson Little, winner a year ago. Little, out in 42, shot 34 on the back nine for a 76.

Three Tied at 77.

Three players posted 77's. Neil Christian, Yakima, Wash., had a 39—38; Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex., carded 38—39, and Revolta had 41—36.

Only fifteen of the starters broke 80. They included Romie Espinosa, San Francisco; Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, former national open champion; John Perelli, Tahoe, Cal., all with 78's. The 79 shooters were Mark Fry, Oakland; Harry Cooper, Chicopee, Mass.; John Bulla, Chico, Cal.; Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo.; Leo Mallory, Noroton, Conn., and Willie Hunter, Pacific Palisades, Cal.

The second round will be held tomorrow with the thirty-two low scorers qualifying for the match play rounds which start Friday.

At southern climes he loudly scoffs,

A thousand more or less he craves
The better batting eye he has,
  The harder does he bark.

His scrap book bulges with reports
  Alluding to his fame,
And telling how he may be forced
  To quit the grand old game.

In his grim reflected glory
  A worried fandom basks;
Unable quite to comprehend

—Russ Gingles of Moline.

Westminster Dog Show Lists 3,093 Entries

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The bluebloods of the dog world, 3,093 of them, take over Madison Square Garden tomorrow for the opening of the Westminster Kennel club's show.

Out of the three day show late Saturday night will come one dog with the title of "best in show." The honor last year went to the cocky little English bred wirehaired fox terrier, Flornell Spicypiece of Halleston, owned by Stanley J. Halle of Chappaqua, N. Y.

Flornell Spicypiece, which entered the 1937 show almost unheralded, will try again, but he faces no easy task. Few champions ever have repeated. Then, too, there have been a number of importations in recent months, some of them held back for the Westminster show.

Ninety Breeds Represented.

In addition a fine lot of homebreds is prepared to give the invaders a battle in the ninety breeds. Thirty of the dogs which topped their breeds last year figure to offer strong opposition. They include the Windholme kennels' greyhound Ch. White Rose of Boveway, best of the 1937 hounds.

To qualify for the right to face the judge of best in show, John G. Bates of Morristown, N. J., a dog must not only parade through its breed but top its variety group. The latter competition brings all breed champions together in six groups—sporting, hounds, working, terriers, toys, and nonsporting. Flornell Spicypiece and White Rose are the only group champions returning to the Garden ring.

Cockers Number 210.

Maintaining their popularity the cocker spaniels lead the show for the second straight year. With thirty-four English cockers included in the list 210 will parade into the ring tomorrow. The fox terriers and dachshunds rank second with 157 entries each.

Cubs Appoint Charles Weber Vice President

Charles A. [Boots] Weber, treasurer of the Chicago Cubs for the last five years, yesterday was made vice president of the club at a special meeting of the board of directors. Weber succeeds the late John O. Seys. His appointment did not come as a surprise, it having been anticipated a couple of weeks ago.

In addition to the elevation of Weber to the vice presidency, two other changes were announced. William Veeck Jr., son of the one time president of the Cubs, was made assistant secretary, and Frank Ellis was named a member of the executive committee.

The executive committee now consists of P. K. Wrigley, chairman; Mrs. Ada Wrigley, Paul V. Harber, and Weber and Ellis.

The Cubs yesterday received the signed contract of Clay Bryant, pitcher, but has had no further communication from its two leading malcontents, Outfielder Frank Demaree and Shortstop Bill Jurges.

Bozeman Beats Layton, 50-25; Then Loses, 50-47

Jay Bozeman of Chicago retained his lead over Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., by winning the fifth block of their 700 point three cushion billiard match at the 131 South Wabash Avenue Recreation yesterday afternoon. The score was 50 to 25 in 23 innings. Layton, however, triumphed in the evening set, 50 to 47, in 38 innings. Bozeman now leads, 294 to 223.

SCHURZ DEFEATS VON STEUBEN TO TIE FOR LEAD

Rallies to Win, 42-35, on Home Court.

Schurz and Von Steuben now are co-holders of the north division senior basketball lead in the Chicago Public High School league. Von Steuben was forced into the tie when it lost to Schurz, 42 to 35, on the Schurz court yesterday. Von Steuben and Schurz each have six victories and one defeat.

With Center Wezny leading the attack, Schurz was ahead at the end of the first half, 22 to 15. However, Von Steuben held a 30 to 28 advantage at the third period. In the final quarter Schurz rallied to score fourteen points. Wezny contributed eight field goals and four free throws.

The Von Steuben junior squad scored its third victory in seven games, defeating Schurz, 25 to 23. It was the fifth setback for Schurz. Clark, center, and Lasser, guard, starred for Von Steuben, the former scoring four baskets and three free throws, and Lasser three baskets and two free throws.

Morgan Park Military academy's heavyweight quintet defeated Lake Forest, 26 to 24, at Morgan Park gymnasium. The victory enabled Morgan Park to tie Lake Forest for the lead in the Midwest Prep conference, each team having won five games and lost one.

CCC Boys Shock Gorilla; They Don't Appreciate Art

Pendleton, Ore., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Joe Gorilla of Hollywood continued today to be completely nonplused by the utter lack of appreciation for theatrical art in the Squaw creek CCC camp. Gorilla is a wrestler. When the CCC boys misinterpreted his performance against Bobby Chick in a match last night they rushed to their hero's assistance and began twisting Gorilla around the ropes. Chick rushed across the ring and whacked the struggling Gorilla in the windpipe.

Wood-Stock
The Bourbon with a Smile
Wood-Stock Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey
Walter P. Powers

As mellow as the moonlight . . . Wood-Stock pleases the most critical. It's mighty, mighty satisfying, straight or mixed.

WHEN first you taste Wood-Stock, the Bourbon with a Smile, you naturally associate it with a high price. Its rich bouquet, its delicious satisfying flavor and beady full-body rightly put it in the quality class. Still the price of Wood-Stock is unusually moderate when you consider that you cannot buy a better whiskey.

Try Wood-Stock at your favorite bar or tavern. Take a bottle home with you. Serve it to your friends with pride. They will appreciate your good taste along with the good taste of this excellent Kentucky bourbon.

U. OF CHICAGO'S ROUND TABLE ON AIR FOR 7 YEARS

A Sunday Morning Habit for Million Listeners.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Seven years ago this week the University of Chicago Round Table was launched on WMAQ with the triple purpose of informing, interpreting, and stimulating an interest in public problems and affairs—a brave experiment. [Plenty of previous broadcasts by universities had flopped—and dismally.] Now the round table has become a Sunday morning habit with a million or more network listeners.

It has survived all but a scattered few radio programs of 1931, the Philharmonic Symphony series, Amos and Andy, Rudy Vallee's Varieties, the WLS Barn Dance, and a few other such hardy perennials. Last year the Woman's National Radio committee acclaimed it the best program in its field.

The round table has included at least two Presidents who admitted they followed it. It appeals, however, to persons in ordinary walks of life. We once knew a cook who swayed each Sunday between going to church and listening to the round table.

Possibly there is a clew to its success in recalling the subjects for discussion on its first broadcast and the one scheduled for next Sunday as it starts its eighth year. The first broadcast in 1931 was concerned with the Wickersham report and repeal of prohibition; next Sunday's with the need for opposition in government. Through the years the topics of informal debate have been concerned with just as vital public problems or affairs.

Thus the subject matter has always been of paramount concern. But probably the real secret to the popularity of the program lies in the manner of handling these problems.

Three speakers—well informed on the subject for discussion—each Sunday gather about the round table [it's actually a square bridge table] at the Quadrangle club on the Midway campus and informally talk over various aspects of the problem. Often one may oppose a subject, another favor it, the third advocate a middle of the road view. That was the case of the first broadcast; probably will be for next Sunday when Prof. T. V. Smith, Prof. Harry D. Gideonse, and Raymond Gram Swing, editor, author, and British Broadcasting company representative in America, are to be the participants.

The round table now is following a policy of often bringing in distinguished outsiders who may contribute an additional slant on a subject. [And it seems to us that it might be well occasionally to bring in a representative layman—business man, housewife, tradesman or farmer to represent listeners.]

The program gains much spontaneity and sprightliness through the fact that the discussions are extemporaneous. Even Bing Crosby and Bob Burns use a script in their Thursday evening exchanges, but the round table speakers prefer to rely on whatever resources they can command when they get on the air. They do in a general way go over the ground they expect to cover beforehand, but what they may finally say on the air no one—least of all themselves—knows beforehand.

Perhaps an added appeal is gained through the fact that there is no pontificating, no settlement of issues. The speakers content themselves with presenting as many faceted a view of a problem as they can see. Listeners may conclude for themselves.

The round table was organized by Allen Miller, now director of the University Broadcasting council, under whose auspices it is now presented, and Judith Waller, NBC educational director.

Miss Le Hand Gets Back Ring Roosevelts Gave Her

Boston, Mass., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Miss Marguerite Le Hand, personal secretary of President Roosevelt, today was again in possession of a ring set with two diamonds and two pearls, the Christmas gift of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, which was stolen here Dec. 27. The ring was taken from the automobile of her brother while she and other members of her family dined in a Boston restaurant. Police said they recovered the ring in a pawnshop.

RECOVER 8 BODIES FROM WRECKAGE OF FRENCH PLANE

MARSEILLES, France, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The bodies of eight victims were removed today from the wreckage of a trans-Mediterranean airliner which rammed the Marseilles breakwater while taking off and exploded in one of France's most serious civilian accidents. Six survivors were brought to a Marseilles hospital suffering from shock and burns.

The accident this morning occurred just as the airliner was taking off on its scheduled flight to Ajaccio, Corsica, on the Marseilles-Tunis Line. It hit the breakwater at about 60 miles an hour. It was considered likely fog and mist obscured the pilot's vision.

The dead were five passengers and three crew members, all French. Four other passengers and two of the crew escaped with injuries. The dead included Chief Pilot Pierre Burello, veteran at the controls. The four motored ship was the first lost by the Air France company in more than two years.

BUILDING TRADES LOCALS VOTING ON SHORTER DAY

The 110 American Federation of Labor affiliated locals in the Chicago Building Trades council are voting this month on a proposal to cut hours from eight a day to six in the hope such action will spread the available work, it became known yesterday.

Results of the votes will not be known until after March 1, according to Earl J. McMahon, secretary of the council. Some of the locals are voting directly on the question and others are placing the authority in the hands of executive committees. Thus far both sides of the question have received about equal support, McMahon said.

The only local now working a six hour day five day week schedule is the painters' union. The construction locals are hit hardest by the lack of building, while the maintenance trades are said to be employed about as usual. The council has a membership of about 125,000 in normal times.

U. S. STEEL UNION PACT EXTENDED; PRICES REDUCED

The United States Steel corporation yesterday extended indefinitly its working agreements with the Committee for Industrial Organization in which present rates of wages and the eight hour day are maintained. At the same time the price of cold rolled sheets—used in large amounts by the automobile industry—was reduced $4 a ton, the first break in the steel industry's price structure.

Despite the fact that the reduction in the price of sheets was announced during the conference between officials of U. S. Steel's operating subsidiaries and of the C. I. O., the present wage scale, which provides a basic $5 a day minimum, was continued. However, the agreement signed yesterday provided that after Feb. 28 either party, on 10 days' notice, may ask for an adjustment. If no agreement is then reached, the entire 1937 contract may be terminated on 20 days' notice.

Price Cut Unexpected.

The reduction in the price of steel sheets was unexpected at the moment, although for some weeks there have been reports in the financial district that reductions probably would be made. It was reported that the Republic Steel corporation, large independent steel company, was the first to announce the price change. Republic, however, denied this.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Benjamin F. Fairless (left), president of the United States Steel corporation shaking hands with Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel workers organizing committee yesterday, just after the agreement to extend the contract with the union.

During the morning the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest operating subsidiary of U. S. Steel, announced that it was reducing its price. Inland Steel company, a Chicago independent steel company, also reduced its price for sheet steel.

The $4 reduction was made through a flat cut of $2 a ton and elimination of an extra charge of $2 a ton made for oiling the sheet. The base price at Chicago formerly was $73.50 a ton for the cold rolled sheet, with $2 added for oiling. Thus, the reduced price at Chicago will be $71.50 a ton.

Auto Makers Large Users.

The sheet affected is used largely in the automobile industry for fenders, hoods, and bodies. An official of one large company said that about 600 pounds of steel of this type are used in the making of the average automobile and that the reduction in cost of building an automobile will be about 60 cents

It was explained that raising or lowering the price of steel a few dollars a ton means little in the cost of making an automobile. The cost of labor, and not the price of the raw material, is the most important factor in manufacturing.

There were persistent reports in the steel industry that other price reductions may follow. None of the major companies has put out a price schedule for the second quarter of this year, which starts April 1.

The reduction made yesterday became effective at midnight on steel not shipped. It will remain in effect until the close of business March 31.

Covers Only C. I. O. Members.

The 1937 agreement provided that it pertained only to members of the C. I. O. union employed in the corporation's steel manufacturing and coke plants. Under it the corporation recognized the union as the sole collective bargaining agency for those employés of the corporation who belonged to the union. The corporation agreed not to interfere with the rights of its workers to become members of the union.

On its side the C. I. O. agreed that it would not intimidate or coerce employés into membership and that it would not solicit membership on United States Steel corporation time or property.

Allot 11 of 52 Million Dam Cost to Power

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Federal Power commission announced today that $11,682,400 of the $52,188,800 cost of the Bonneville dam on the Columbia river in Oregon and Washington would be charged to power development and would be liquidated by sale of electricity throughout the Pacific northwest.

The allocation was made on the basis of the project as of June 30, 1938. It will form the basis for the much heralded low rates that the federal government hopes to use as a "power yard stick" in measuring the fair cost of electricity to the consumer.

May Be Completed In June.

The initial power development, which will have installed capacity of 46,400 kilowatts, or approximately one-fifth of the probable ultimate installation, is expected to be completed by next June 30, at a total estimated cost of $9,180,500.

The commission allocated to power this sum, plus $2,501,900 of the estimated cost, to June 30, 1938, of facilities having joint value to navigation and power development.

The commission arrived at the $2,501,800 figure on the basis that power development should fairly bear 32.5 per cent of the cost of the facilities having joint value for the production of electric energy and other purposes.

$5,517,600 for Navigation Use.

It was estimated that the cost of facilities for navigation purposes only will be $5,517,600 as of June 30, 1938, and no additional capital costs for facilities solely for navigation purposes are contemplated.

On the basis of the commission's present determination that power development bear 32.5 per cent of the cost of facilities having joint value for the production of electric energy and other purposes, $42,181,000, or approximately 57 per cent, of the total ultimate cost of the Bonneville project would be allocated to power development.

STEEL OUTPUT RATE REPORTED ABOUT STEADY

Efforts to ascertain how much new steel business has been held up pending completion of contract negotiations between the United States Steel corporation and the steel workers' organizing committee so far have been unsuccessful, it said.

Reflecting continued low melting rates, scrap prices have declined after holding steady for five weeks. The Iron Age composite price dipped 8 cents to $13.92 a ton. Heavy melting steel fell 25 cents and other grades 50 cents to $1 per ton in Chicago.

WARD'S SALES DROP IN JANUARY; 12 MONTH VOLUME AT NEW PEAK

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported that its sales last month were 3.27 per cent less than in January, 1937, although total sales for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31 set a new all time high for the company. At the same time, the federal reserve board corroborated individual company reports of generally smaller store sales last month by announcing that department store sales throughout the United States were down 4 per cent from January, 1937.

Sales of Montgomery Ward amounted to $21,840,243 last month, compared with $22,578,088 in January, 1937. Sales for the twelve months ended Jan. 31 were $432,539,796, or 14.75 per cent more than the $376,444,690 aggregate in the preceding twelve months.

Including crippled industrial districts of Michigan and northern Indiana as it does, the Chicago federal reserve district showed 9 per cent decrease from January, 1937, in department store sales. This was the largest decline in any of the reserve districts.

The only gains were those of 3 per cent for the St. Louis reserve district, 2 per cent in Atlanta, and 9 per cent in Dallas.

REPORT GARDNER TO HEAD STOCK MARKET DENIED

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Catagorical denial that any one had been selected for the post as a new paid president of the New York Stock exchange was made today by Charles R. Gay. Yesterday it was reported that O. Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, had been chosen for the post.

Gardner, an attorney and friend of President Roosevelt, declared in Washington that the presidency of the exchange had not been offered to him, that he is not and has not been at any time a candidate for the position. He declined to amplify the brief statement other than to say he had rc.c the reports in the press.

The Securities and Exchange commission today denied on behalf of each of its members that it had approved the selection of any person for the presidency of the exchange and added that neither the commission nor any member thereof has or ever has sponsored any candidate for that post.

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Floyd B. Odlum, president of Atlas corporation, received from the company aggregate remuneration of $100,380 in 1935 and $83,713 in the first 10 months of 1936, amended registration statements filed by the corporation with the Securities and Exchange commission revealed today.

Budd Asks 850 Rail Firms Be Reduced to 20

Reduction of the number of railroads from about 850 operating companies through consolidation into about twenty systems, revisions in the interstate commerce commission act to reestablish a "fair return" rule of rate making, and the establishment of a new independent labor tribunal are three measures which should restore railroad credit, Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington, yesterday told the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house.

Ralph Budd.

Budd declared that private investment in railroads is essential to their continued progress, but that investors cannot be expected to put their money into the railroads until they are assured of a fair return.

Envisions New Buying.

Once the financial credit of the roads was restored, he said, they could be expected to start buying at least 100,000 new freight cars and 2,000 new locomotives annually over a period of many years to take advantage of the new developments in railroading which have been brought out in the last few years.

Discussing consolidations, Budd said that the emergency act of 1933 provided for this, but that various provisions of the act were contradictory and worked to prevent any step in this direction. For example, he said, in any coördination or consolidation there must be no reduction in the number of employés.

"Extensive consolidations appeal to me as holding the most promise of substantial economies and operating advantages, as well as an opportunity to improve the service," Budd said.

Freight Structure Discussed.

With respect to a fair return, Budd recalled that under the transportation act of 1920 the interstate commerce commission responded to its provisions by revising rates upward, granting an increase of about 25 per cent in the average ton mile freight rate. Since then the rate structure has been cut into by many reductions granted to various groups. To have met the mandate of congress to maintain a fair rate of return, he said, there would have been several increases since 1921 which would have raised the general level.

With respect to labor, Budd said he believes that machinery set up for the handling of this subject has perpetuated obsolete rules for pay and working conditions.

U. S. COAL BOARD REJECTS PLEA TO SUSPEND PRICES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The national bituminous coal commission today refused to suspend its minimum soft coal prices, which have been attacked as exorbitant and discriminatory, pending the outcome of legal challenges of its prices.

Suspension of the prices was demanded by several cities, which are bringing the legal attacks, at the public hearings being conducted by the commission on its price fixing. The commission is making public data and methods it employed in fixing the minimum prices.

Will Hear Objections.

Charles S. Hosford Jr., commission chairman, said the body will entertain objections to any of the 30,000 odd prices it has set at the conclusion of the present hearings.

M. C. Ferguson, counsel for the commission, said the commission had complied with every section of the Guffey act in establishing minimum prices. Complainant cities are charging that the commission failed to conduct public hearings and set prices without giving those affected their day before the commission.

Today 199 exhibits, which purported to contain information on which the commission based prices, were introduced in evidence by J. O. Smith, chief of the commission's marketing division. They were largely summation of producers' cost reports and other operation data.

Exhibits Called Hearsay.

Many of the exhibits were challenged by attorneys for the complaining cities as containing hearsay. Throughout the day they reiterated the point that there was nothing in the record to show that the information had been used in arriving at prices.

Six soft coal districts, which have obtained favorable prices, attempted to come to the rescue of the commission in the controversy over publication of the data. The districts protested that sworn cost statements from operators in their areas, which were used in fixing prices, are confidential and cannot be disclosed.

SEVEN FIRMS FILE BRIEF

Attorney George T. Evans, counsel for one Indiana and six Illinois coal companies which are seeking relief by injunction from the price schedule fixed by the national bituminous coal commission, yesterday filed a brief before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago in support of his motion.

The coal companies seek to have the commission restrained from enforcing the price schedule as applied to locomotive fuel pending the outcome of an appeal before the court.

The plaintifs charge discrimination, in that one price is fixed for all grades of locomotive fuel. Competitors who handle the higher grades are getting all the business, it is charged. Attorneys for the commission have thirty-six hours in which to file an answer to Attorney Evans' brief.

1,749 Buyer Registrations Set Record for China Show

Registration of buyers at the china, pottery, glass, and gift show in the Merchandise Mart reached a total of 1,749 last night, establishing a record. The previous high was 1,707 last year, and mart officials expect registrations to reach 1,950 before the show ends Feb. 12. Since the exhibit opened Jan. 31, sales have been reported heavy. Buyers from 36 states, Canada, South America, and Australia have registered.

Brands Small Business Loan Plan Administration "Dodge"

Administration schemes to arrange for government loans to small business concerns represent a deliberate attempt to draw a red herring across the real issues that developed last week at the conference of "little business men" in Washington, D. C., according to Dan McGillicuddy, Aberdeen, Wash., lumberman and construction engineer. McGillicuddy, the delegate who traveled the longest distance of any member of the conference, stopped in Chicago yesterday on his way home.

Dan McGillicuddy.

Disclosure that plans were being made by the administration to arrange government loans was made in Washington yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Roper, who said they were the fruit of the conference. [Story on page 23, column 1.]

Seek to Discredit Parley.

"The attempt by the department of commerce to give the public the impression that we small business men were interested primarily in getting loans from the government was part of an obvious intention on the part of the administration to discredit the whole conference," McGillicuddy said. "The great majority of those who attended didn't want loans. They wanted to be let alone. They were far more interested in other issues, such as taxation and government interference with business.

"We never had a chance to present a sane and sensible program. The general conference was packed with government officials and 'stooges' and after we had split up into committees and prepared resolutions for presentation to the President our resolutions were completely changed.

"When I saw that it was impossible to do any constructive work at the conference because of the confusion I called at Secretary Roper's office and said that in view of my personal invitation from the secretary to come all the way to Washington some responsible official of the department might like to hear my information about the lumber and maritime situation in my home district. A secretary's secretary told me to go back home and write the secretary of commerce a letter. I found I couldn't even talk to a responsible official after I had spent $400 of my own money coming down at their request.

"Couldn't Get Copy."

"We delegates couldn't even get a copy of our own resolutions after we had adopted them. As soon as a page of our resolutions had been read over the microphone a government man grabbed it and whisked it out of the room. They told us we would get copies later. We never did.

"The room, however, was full of mimeographed handouts of reports and speeches put out by the government people. We were given four or five copies of everything.

"None of us ever solved the mystery of the disappearance of our own resolutions. A motion would be carried unanimously with all the delegates standing and cheering and nothing more would ever be heard of it. When the list of resolutions as presented to the White House was published in the newspaper none of us recognized them."

CONT. CAN NETS $3.06 A SHARE IN LAST YEAR

Sales 123 Millions; New High Mark.

The Continental Can company yesterday reported net earnings of $8,721,025 for 1937, after all charges and provisions for federal tax on undistributed income. The earnings were equal to $3.06 a share on the common stock after preferred dividend requirements. This compared with 1936 net earnings of $9,038,787, or $3.17 a common share.

President O. C. Huffman said that the company spent $6,910,316 last year for new plants and improvements. Upon completion of the present construction program, he said, the company will have 46 factories in the United States, 3 in Canada, and 1 in Cuba.

Sales Set New Record.

Net sales of the company in 1937 were $123,425,154, the largest in the company's history, Huffman said. Sales results for 1936 were not reported.

Huffman said that the company's profit margin had been reduced by increased wage rates, higher taxes, and increased cost of materials.

Gillette Safety Razor company announced 1937 profit of $4,500,159, equal to $1.50 a share on the common

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 9.—Stock market prices closed irregular today, but gains exceeded declines by a substantial margin. The list was generally strong early, but profit taking brought a reaction. Volume was 750,000 shares.

The cut in steel prices exerted pressure on the industrial section, which at one time showed gains reaching up to 3 points. News that United States Steel and the union had reached a wage settlement did not become available to Wall street until the last hour, when a mild selling flurry was in progress.

Closing prices in the steel group were fractionally lower, except in a few spots. United States Steel, in the most active trading of the day, closed unchanged. One or two of the independents closed fractions to one point higher. Bethlehem, Republic, and Youngstown each lost fractions.

Carrier shares gave their best performance in some time during the first hour, with leading shares advancing 1 to 2 points. However, the group slipped with the remainder of the list in the later trading and just managed to finish on the plus side.

Chrysler and General Motors lost all and a fraction more of earlier gains of one point or so.

Utility shares were not much changed from previous finals, although minus signs predominated. In the communication division American Telephone and Telegraph gave up 1⅛ points. Radio Corporation was actively higher on a good earnings statement for 1937.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The bond market closed fractions to 2 points or more higher today, with strength most widespread in the rail division.

Outstanding rail issues included Illinois Central 4⅜s at 34½, up 2½; Great Northern 4s at 98⅜, up 2¼; Southern Pacific 4½s at 55½, up 1½; Nickle Plate 4½s at 48¼, up 1, and Pennsylvania 4½s at 103, up 1. Fractions lower were Santa Fe 4s, Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s, and Erie 5s.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed irregular yesterday after moving within narrow ranges during a quiet session. Only 70 issues were traded, of which 23 advanced, 17 declined, and 30 closed unchanged. THE TRIBUNE averages of 20 stocks finished 0.06 higher at 9.56. Sales totaled 21,000 shares.

Chicago corporation common, most active issue, finished unchanged at 2, and Commonwealth Edison, also actively traded, was unchanged at 23½. Zenith Radio moved up ⅜ to 13½. Borg Warner slipped ⅛ to 23⅞.

The governing committee yesterday approved the listing of 182,330 shares of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, Clintonville, Wis., and 6,000 addition shares of the Lynch corporation, glass products company, of Anderson, Ind.

Quotations on Chicago bank stocks were little changed yesterday as trading remained quiet. First National bank stock declined $1 a share, and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company shares eased 50 cents. Northern Trust company stock, on which bid prices ranged from $530 to $533 Tuesday, was quoted at $533 yesterday. Dealers still disagreed on American National bank stock, some quoting it at $160 bid, while others carried a bid price of $165. Merchandise National bank stock was marked up $5 to $185 bid.

WHEAT CLIMBS, REACTS, CLOSES SHADE HIGHER

Early strength in securities and commodities markets and renewed dust storms in the southwest lifted the price of wheat futures about 1 cent a bushel at the top level yesterday. When the stock market reacted wheat followed and closed at net gains of only a fraction of a cent a bushel.

No rain was reported in the dry areas in the winter wheat belt and the forecast indicated much lower temperatures following readings as high as 74 in Kansas on Tuesday.

Export sales of about 500,000 bushels of American hard winter wheat were reported during the day, but the larger part of the United Kingdom demand was for Australian grain with purchases in the last few days estimated at 4,000,000 bushels.

Corn futures held within narrow price limits and closed practically unchanged compared with Tuesday. Speculative interest was small.

Outside interest in oats was light, and trading throughout the day was at 31⅝ cents a bushel for the May future. Rye futures closed unchanged to ⅜ cent higher.

Commodities

Commodity prices on the average developed greater steadiness yesterday. The Dow-Jones index of commodity futures rose 0.14 to 53.63. The composite price of thirty-five cash commodities, compiled by the Associated Press, recovered to 71.36 from a low for the year of 71.33 reached on the preceding day.

Despite the slight gain in the averages, however, there was some irregularity, with several weak spots.

Renewed liquidation in the sugar market sent the price on sugar for delivery in March [No. 4 contract] to a new low for the year of 0.99 cent a pound. Final prices on the No. 3 sugar contract were unchanged to 0.01 cent lower.

Cocoa prices developed an irregular trend. Closing prices on future contracts were 0.02 cent higher to 0.03 cent lower compared with the preceding day.

Hides were weak, closing prices showing losses of 0.08 to 0.16 cent lower. The March future closed at 8.41 cents a pound. Wool tops were 0.04 cent higher to 0.09 cent lower at the close.

The metal markets were comparatively steady. Copper for immediate delivery was quoted unchanged at 10 cents a pound. Copper for export was quoted at 9.80 cents.

ROPER PROMISES LOAN PLAN FOR SMALL BUSINESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper announced today that a study is being made of government loans for small business. With that he washed his hands and those of the administration of the tumultuous two day conference of little business last week which ended with the presentation to President Roosevelt of 23 recommendations for ending the depression.

Meanwhile Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] introduced in the senate a bill to provide RFC loans and insurance on bank loans to small business men. The bill does not specify the amount to be covered by the insurance.

Secretary Roper said he is making the study of loans for small business with RFC Chairman Jesse Jones. The RFC chairman's office at first professed ignorance about the study until it was said that Roper had asserted the office was coöperating with the department of commerce. On this information Jones' office said that undoubtedly such a study was under way.

No Promise, Roper Adds.

Secretary Roper said that he and Chairman Jones may have definite suggestions to make in a week or ten days. He added that there was no promise in his statement, however.

"I got the impression from the conference of small business men that their chief problem is capital financing," Roper said. "It is evident that the financial market is not implemented to serve adequately such smaller enterprises."

Newspaper men who covered the conference said they got the impression that the chief complaint of little business was against government interference with business and government fiscal policies. Mr. Roper ignored the observation.

Cites Similarity of Problems.

"An examination of the suggestions made at the conference and since show that the problems of big and small business are much alike," Roper said. "The two groups of business men should not be considered in a competitive and antagonistic sense, and the solution of their general problems will depend upon their coöperation rather than dissension and antagonism."

Roper was unable to point out any antagonism and dissension between big and little business. Administration officials have admitted that the administration belief that such antagonism existed led to the summoning of the conference by the White House.

The administration had hoped that small business men would voice unanimous support of its attack on big business. Instead the conference ended in an almost unanimous revolt of small business against administration policies.

Glosses Over Rewriting.

In discussing the recommendations of the conference Roper glossed over the fact that the recommendations were rewritten by a hand picked group, selected by his department, and although critical of the administration were not as strong as those adopted by acclamation at the convention. They were, however, far more pointed than any suggestions made at the President's conferences with big business.

Secretary Roper said he believed the conference will produce good results, but would not amplify his statement.

Mellon Bank Stock Rises $700 in Week to $5,800 Bid

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 9.—(AP)—While investors have been watching fluctuations of a few dollars a share in their stocks, the price of Pittsburgh's bluest blue chip, the Union Trust company, has quietly climbed up $700 a share within a week. Prospective buyers who were bidding $5,800 a share now are offering $6,500. The Union Trust was established by the late Andrew W. Mellon. It sold at a record high of $21,000 a share in 1929, and then fell to a low of $4,000 in 1932. Last year the bank's estimated earnings were $440 a share on its 15,000 outstanding shares of stock. It paid dividends of $206.

Consumer's Counsel for Coal.

Representing the coal consuming public in dealings with the national bituminous coal commission, which administers the Guffey-Vinson coal act, is the consumer's counsel. The consumer's counsel is appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the senate. His is an office separate from that of the commission in the department of the interior. The counsel must have no financial interest in coal, or in other forms of fuel and power. He is paid $10,000 annually and given traveling expenses.

The coal act states that the counsel shall appear in the interest of the public in any proceeding before the commission. He has the right to offer testimony and argument, to examine and cross-examine witnesses and parties to the proceedings, and to issue subpenas.

The law also says that the consumer's counsel may ask the coal commission for information or to conduct an investigation. When such requests are made, the law says, the commission "shall promptly furnish to the counsel the information or promptly conduct the investigation and place the results" at the disposal of the counsel. The present consumer's counsel is John Carson, a former newspaper man and at one time secretary to the late Senator Couzens of Michigan.

Rail Long Haul Repeal Bill Hearing Is Set for Feb. 23

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The senate interstate commerce committee today set Feb. 23 as the date for start of hearings on the Pettengill bill for repeal of the railroad long and short haul clause.

COTTON

Passage of the farm bill by the house yesterday was responsible for fairly general buying of cotton futures which lifted prices as much as .18 cent a pound to a new high on the current movement. Profit taking and selling based on reports that considerable opposition to the farm bill might be encountered in the senate caused prices to recede from their best for the day, but the close on the Chicago Board of Trade was at net gains of .05 to .13 cent. Other American markets gained .05 to .14 cent a pound.

The Liverpool and Bombay cotton markets showed relative strength, being affected by prospects that the American farm bill might become law soon. Fairly active buying of futures in New York also was attributed to foreign accounts.

Private estimates recently have indicated that a liberal reduction may be expected in the 1938 cotton acreage. A report issued yesterday placed the probable acreage at 28,198,000 acres, or 6,185,000 less than were planted in 1937.

Spot cotton closed .10 to .20 cent higher, with New Orleans 9.05 cents; New York, 8.85 cents, and Galveston and Houston at 8.75 cents a pound. Prices follow:

FIGHTS UTILITY ACT AS ROAD TO FEDERAL RULE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—An attorney for the Electric Bond and Share company told the Supreme court today he was challenging the constitutionality of the 1935 public utility holding company act "to protect our property from being taken over by a federal commission."

This asesrtion by John F. McLane, New York lawyer, concluded a six hour argument on validity of the legislation. A decision may be given as early as Feb. 28.

Cohen Defends Scope of Act.

Benjamin V. Cohen, one of President Roosevelt's advisers who aided in drafting the legislation, argued that there was "power in a democratic government to reach the holding company evil" and that the act was "an effort to solve one of our great national problems."

MacLane disputed a government contention that the only provisions of the act involved in the litigation were those requiring holding companies to register with the Securities and Exchange commission and submit financial statements.

Means Control, Says MacLane.

Referring to this requirement, which he said would result in control by the commission, MacLane added:

"We don't wish to make that symbol of submission."

He said the regulatory provisions and the registration requirement all were involved and the court should pass upon the constitutionality of the act as a whole.

"If it is not competent for congress to destroy holding companies," he contended, "then there is no rational basis for control provisions."

HEARST-BRISBANE FIRM MAKES USE OF MORATORIUM

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Taking advantage of the New York mortgage moratorium, Hearst-Brisbane Properties, real estate company owning properties in uptown New York, has failed to deposit the monthly principal instalments for the last three months on the $4,992,500 in first serial 6 per cent mortgage bonds now outstanding.

The moratorium prohibits foreclosure as long as taxes and interest are paid. The interest instalment due Feb. 1 has not been paid, but the bonds carry a provision giving a grace period of 30 days.

The securities are unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by William Randolph Hearst through indorsement.

CITRUS FRUIT LABOR PROTESTS PRORATING PLAN

Brownsville, Tex., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—More than three hundred laborers and some independent citrus fruit shippers today rode in a hundred mile automobile parade and put on a demonstration in every city of the lower Rio Grande valley, protesting against prorating of citrus fruit shipments.

Prorating went into effect less than two weeks ago under federal sponsorship. Since then four plants of independent shippers have closed, the shippers giving prorating as the reason. Shipments are estimated at about 600 carloads a week, against 1,000 before the program started.

Prorating was adopted to bolster prices, but some shippers opposed the program.

RAILROADS END ARGUMENTS FOR RATE INCREASE

Warn Boost Is Necessary to Meet 1938 Charges.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Railroads of the nation late today completed arguments before the interstate commerce commission for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. The commission gave no indication when it would announce a decision.

R. V. Fletcher.

Eastern railroads also completed their case in favor of an increase from 2 to 2.5 cents a mile for passenger coach fares.

R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, told the commission that unless the railroads were granted additional revenues they would fail by $135,500,000 to cover fixed charges this year.

Fletcher estimated that a 15 per cent freight increase would add $437,000,000 to the railroad's income, based on 1936 volume of trafic. Another $30,000,000 would be added by the half cent eastern passenger rate increase, he said.

In a brief filed by the railroads with the commission, the association contended that the only practical solution of the railroad situation is an immediate increase in rates and revenues. Such an increase is necessary, according to the brief, to offset higher costs of operation.

The brief asserted that one effect of the present lack of sufficient margin between revenues and expenses has been the postponement of necessary improvements in road and equipment.

The roads denied in the brief that the present impaired credit of the carriers can, for the roads as a whole,

Debt Ratios Decline.

"Since 1911 the net funded debt of the railroads has declined from 58.8 per cent to 44.5 per cent of the investment in road and equipment before depreciation, and from 59.8 per cent to 49.9 per cent of the investment in road and equipment after depreciation," the brief said.

Luther Walter, co-trustee of the Chicago Great Western railroad, spoke before the commission in favor of a plan for placing a major portion of the increased revenue, if the boost is granted, in a pool for the benefit of the weaker railroads.

Some observers believe that the commission will reach a decision on the rate increase before March 1.

HEARINGS ENDED ON OVER COUNTER REGULATION BILL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The senate banking committee is expected to vote next week on the Maloney bill, which provides for Securities and Exchange commission regulation of over-the-counter dealings in unlisted securities.

The proposal has provoked strenuous opposition from over-the-counter dealers, specialists in public securities, and some state and municipal officials.

Charles E. Weigold, a partner in the New York firm of Roosevelt & Weigold, Inc., told the committee at its final session today the proposed legislation, offered by Senator Maloney [D., Conn.], would give the SEC "virtual control" over municipal financing. Three others, including Charles McNear of Chicago, urged that municipal securities be excluded from the bill.

SALE OF $1,700,000 OF SCHOOL TAX WARANTS VOTED

The board of education yesterday approved the sale of $1,700,000 in 1938 building fund tax anticipation warants at interest of 2⅜ per cent. This is the second sale of warants this year at an interest rate lower than that of last year, which was 2½ per cent, said James B. McCahey, president of the board.

Last month the board sold $31,000,000 in educational fund and building fund warants at interest of 2¼ per cent.

"A few years ago we had to offer 6 per cent to get buyers," McCahey said. "Our ability to sell at these low rates reflects sound financial condition."

CHICAGO LLOYDS IN STATE'S HANDS FOR LIQUIDATION

Difficulties Attributed to Stock Slump.

Chicago Lloyds—a Chicago organization handling automobile liability insurance—yesterday was placed in the hands of the Illinois insurance department for liquidation in an order entered by Judge James F. Fardy of the Superior court. The order provides that policies now in force with the organization shall remain in effect until noon Feb. 15.

Judge Fardy entered the order on the petition of Ernest Palmer, director of insurance for Illinois. Frank J. Bartch, head of the liquidating bureau of the state insurance department, has been placed in charge of the liquidation of the organization, which started business in Chicago in 1925.

Expect Payment in Full.

State department officials said a preliminary examination indicates there are sufficient assets for payment in full of policy holders and creditors. They said the organization's difficulties were largely the result of the stock market crash last fall, which resulted in the surplus dropping from the $500,000 minimum required under the Illinois insurance code to about $300,000.

Robert E. Kenyon, president of Associated Underwriters, Inc., which has acted as attorney in fact for Chicago Lloyds, said that attempts to raise new underwriting capital to the amount required by the Illinois law had failed, and that therefore the board of directors of the company had voted to have the affairs of Chicago Lloyds liquidated.

The insurance business of Chicago Lloyds was handled by a group of individuals acting as underwriters for a portion of the risk involved. Each individual underwriter was required to post collateral covering the risk he assumed. Associated Underwriters, Inc., carried on the management and acted as attorney in fact for the underwriters.

Assets Listed at $1,507,700.

The petition for liquidation set forth that total assets were $1,507,700 and liabilities totaled $1,203,510.

The Alfred M. Best company rated the company as excellent, based on its position as of Dec. 31, 1936, but after the surplus began to decline following the stock market crash Best issued a special bulletin reviewing the company's position as of Oct. 1, 1937. The Illinois insurance department issued a report last spring which indicated that the company was in satisfactory financial position.

Chicago Lloyds was licensed to do business by the state of Illinois on June 18, 1934. Although it was licensed to write fire, lighting, windstorm, burglary, theft, and other types of insurance, its business largely was in automobile liability.

In addition to Kenyon, president, the other officers of Associated Underwriters, Inc., were Orville J. Taylor, vice president and general counsel, and Robert E. Kenyon Jr., secretary and treasurer.

Great Northern Railway.

Investors' Guide: I am interested in Great Northern stock. Will you send me a report on this railroad?—R. M.

Answer: The Great Northern Railway company operates an 8,095 mile railroad system extending westward from Duluth and St. Paul, Minn., to the Pacific coast. The road has trackage in the states of Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, and the Canadian provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia. Roughly, it parallels lines of the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific.

Together with the Northern Pacific railroad, Great Northern controls the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad through stock ownership. This gives Great Northern access into Chicago and other central western cities. By means of a recently completed extension southward to Bieber, Cal., connecting with the Western Pacific railroad, Great Northern has a route into the important San Francisco bay region.

Products of mines have consistently been the most important source of revenue for Great Northern. Much trafic has originated in the iron ore regions of Minnesota and to a lesser extent in the mining regions of Montana. The road's lines also serve a rich wheat country. Drouth conditions in recent years have reduced movements of grain, although there was an improvement in 1937. Other agricultural products and forest products also are hauled in large quantities.

The road's gross revenues in 1937 ran well ahead of 1936 until the last quarter when trafic was curtailed by the business recession. Net income for 1937 as a whole was larger than in 1936, although earnings in several 1937 months were smaller than in the corresponding months of 1936. Earnings in recent years:

EASTMAN KODAK VOTES DIVIDEND OF $1.50 A SHARE

Directors of the Eastman Kodak company yesterday declared a dividend of $1.50 a share for April 2, the same as was paid a year ago, but 50 cents less than that in the other three quarters of 1937. The company also paid an extra of 50 cents last December, lifting total dividends for 1937 to $8 a share.

"It is too early to forecast with any degree of accuracy what our volume of business or earnings will be for the year," said Frank W. Lovejoy, president. "While our business so far has not been affected by the current recession in general business to the extent experienced by some industries, there has been a decline in the sales of some of our products. In line with the conservative dividend policy of the company in the past, the directors believe it is advisable to pay the same dividend in April that was paid last year."

Bullock's, 50c	Feb 28	Feb 11

TODAY'S THOUGHT
There are as many failures in Beauty Culture as there are in any other business. Why? Poor training is invariably the answer.
